HAS LAST LAUGH

Gov. Ronald Reagan smiles as he signs a onetime $721 million tax rebate plan Thursday which he called the largest ever given by any state in the nation's history.

Nixon's top aides deny leaking news on Agnew

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) —President Nixon's top aides, in what appears to be shaping up as a battle within the executive family, emphatically deny the White House is smearing Vice President Spiro T. Agnew by means of news leaks on the Maryland bribery scandal.

Reports that the White House is secretly funneling anti-Agnew information to newsmen are "blatantly and absolutely false," the aides say.

Justice Department sources indicated Thursday that the White House, which has access to details of the inquiry, may be responsible for leaking the Agnew reports.

But Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler "categorically" denied that presidential aides were the source of the information.

Nixon, Gen. Alexander M. Haig, White House chief of staff, and Special Counsel J. Fred Buzhardt are being kept abreast of details of the investigation of allegations that Agnew accepted kickbacks from Maryland contractors.

Nixon told a news conference Wednesday that he had ordered Attorney General Elliott Richardson to find the source of the leaks and to summarily fire anyone involved. Afterward, the President called Agnew to relay his concern personally.

The President knew long in advance, before he discussed it with Agnew, that federal prosecutors were conducting the investigation, White House officials said. He has said that it "would be improper for me to comment on the charges" but condemned the "outrageous leak of information from either the grand jury, or the prosecutors or the Justice Department—or all three."

However, Richardson has noted in a letter to Agnew that the "outlines" of the investigation are known to a number of witnesses, individuals, lawyers, the White House staff, investigative personnel of the Internal Revenue Service as well as the Justice Department.

In another repercussion of Nixon's news conference, a White House spokesman refused to give evidence supporting Nixon's claim that widespread burglary was authorized for national security purposes by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations and well known.

"The President said it because it is correct," said Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren. "It's a fact, and I'm not going beyond that."

Nixon said burglaries occurred from 1960 to 1966 during the administrations of his two predecessors.

Presidential aides, meanwhile, said that Nixon is in an upbeat mood, feeling that he scored a success with his news conference.

They also reported he was stunned at the number of questions on Watergate, and hopes now that he can turn attention to other domestic problems.

Aides also were fanning out to reassure the public and the press that Nixon is fully capable of governing, despite inroads into his popularity because of Watergate.

Presidential Counselor Anne Armstrong said in Sacramento Thursday that Nixon is a man "in command of himself."

Governor signs tax rebate bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians will pay lower taxes on everything from beer to bikinis and enjoy a generous income tax break under what Gov. Ronald Reagan calls "the largest state tax rebate in the nation's history."

Reagan Thursday signed a bill providing $721 million in onetime tax cuts and denounced "would-be big spenders" in the legislature who delayed the measure's enactment.

"The people have come out the victors in this long struggle," Reagan proclaimed during a bill-signing ceremony in his office.

Beginning Oct. 1, the new law will lower the state's six cents sales tax (6 ½ cents in San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District counties) by one penny for a six month period.

The tax unnecessarily went up from five cents July 1 while the state had an $826 million budget surplus—because of a deadlock between Reagan and Democratic lawmakers.

The bill also provides a reduction of 20 to 35 per cent for income taxpayers on this year's tax bill.

The total amount of the tax benefits average out to about $34 for every man, woman and child in the state.

Reagan aides said a typical family of four earning $15,000 a year would receive a $60 income tax cut. The same family earning $25,000 would save $137. Couples earning below $8,000 would pay no income tax.

The bill (SB90) by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, overwhelmingly passed the legislature last week following months of squabbling over how to return the huge surplus to the people.

"This legislation provides the people of California with the largest state tax rebate in the nation's history," Reagan told newsmen.

It was the second tax rebate bill Reagan has signed since he became governor. The first came during the 1970 election year and granted a 10 per cent cut in income taxes costing $87 million.

Failure to reach an agreement on a bill in June resulted in what all agreed was the unnecessary one-cent sales tax increase.

Reagan used the bill-signing occasion to tout his tax ceiling initiative which will be on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Chino sisters flee kidnaper

CHINO — Police are seeking a man who kidnapped two little girls from this city Thursday night, and later left one of them in Ontario after the other fled his car.

Both girls were unharmed in the incident, police said, which began at 6 p.m. when they were picked up in the vicinity of 13100 Sixth St. by a man in an emerald green, 1967 Ford Fairlane station wagon bearing a large dent in the left rear fender.

Officers said one girl, 6, got out of the car at the intersection of Central and Riverside avenues when the driver pulled up at a stop sign. Her sister, 4, remained in the car.

She was found by two teen-agers around 8 p.m. at Grove and Walnut streets in south Ontario. They took her to the Chino police department.

A witness to the kidnap described the driver and car, noting the man may have a moustache and goatee. Authorities are asking anyone with information about the car or persons resembling the suspect to call Chino police.

Police declined to identify the girls.

Police almost sure about ID of slain man

POMONA — Police today said they are "99 per cent sure" that an El Monte man often involved in fights is the apparent murder victim whose charred body was found in a burned pickup truck here early last Monday morning.

But they aren't releasing his name until identification has been positive. That will be accomplished when the coroner's office is able to compare dental charts of the man they believe the victim with the victim's dental work.

Investigators said they believe the man was unmarried, about 52. He served with the Army during World War II and it is his dental charts they are suggesting that the coroner obtain from the military for comparison.

Police were led to El Monte by information given them by the owner of the truck in which the victim was found. The name of the suspected victim came as the result of those interviews, plus the fact that several items found at the scene of the fire, including a belt buckle, belonged to the El Monte man.

Police reported being told that the man was "a knockabout who couldn't pass up a fight." What he was doing in Pomona, they have been unable to learn so far.

Investigators said they are working on several theories about the slaying, but were not ready to discuss them yet.

The victim was killed by a blow on the head, a coroner's autopsy revealed Tuesday. He was already dead when the pickup truck was doused with gasoline and set afire in a field near Brackett Field.

Gunman threatens to kill himself and four hostages

STOCKHOLM (UPI) —A gunman, barricaded in a downtown Stockholm bank with four hostages and accompanied by a criminal involved in the murder of a policeman, threatened today to blow up himself and the hostages "as a last resort," police reported.

The gunman, identified as bankrobber Kay Robert Hansson, 22, and believed to have been deported from the United States, was still holding out more than 28 hours after the drama began. He was keeping police at bay with a submachine gun.

Hansson has demanded safe conduct with the hostages but police have refused to let the hostages go with him.

Clark Olofsson, 26, an inmate friend of Hansson, was brought to the bank Thursday from a prison in central Sweden where he was serving a 10-year sentence as an accomplice in a police killing in 1966. Hansson demanded Olofsson's release and explained he needed Olofsson as a driver of a getaway car.

Olofsson said in a telephone interview from the bank that Hansson would blow up the bank should the police try to overpower him.

"He has dynamite sticks adapted for a blast and lots of ammunition which he will use as a last resort," Olofsson said.

Olofsson quoted Hansson as saying: "I don't give a damn what happens."

"I know him and I know he will never give up," Olofsson said.

Olofsson said police told Hansson he was free to leave if he released his hostages, but that Hansson refused.

"Hansson was then offered to leave with two of the hostages and myself, but again refused," Olofsson said.

"My job is to negotiate with the robber and to prevent a massacre," he said.

"I don't want anyone to get hurt. The police have not got a chance. The man will never give up. The best thing to do would have been to let him leave and then deal with him somewhere in the country," Olofsson said.

Thursday night, government sources said Premier Olof Palme, Justice Minister Lennart Geijer and Communications Minister Sven Norling were negotiating with Hansson, who earlier in the day demanded and received $750,000 in ransom paid by the Bank of Sweden.

Police sources said Hansson lived in the United States several years before being expelled for unexplained reasons earlier this year. Geijer said Hansson was "becoming more and more desperate and unbalanced."

Ervin says Nixon's reply 'inadequate'

SHELBY, N.C. (UPI) — Senate Watergate committee chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said Thursday President Nixon has failed to provide the nation with an adequate answer to questions raised by Watergate.

"The President's statements so far have consisted of rhetoric and denials," Ervin told a news conference. "They have not been helpful to the investigation."

Rejecting Nixon's call for an end to the hearings, the senior North Carolina senator said he could think of "no more important business" than searching for the truth behind the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

Death penalty return seen in panel's vote

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The return of capital punishment in California seemed certain today after a successful legislative power play by death penalty advocates.

A death penalty "vehicle" was approved by the liberal-dominated Assembly Criminal Justice Committee Thursday after members had blocked such legislation for three months.

Both sides in the politically touchy issue said the action probably would unlock San Quentin's gas chamber, closed since the California Supreme Court ruled capital punishment unconstitutional in March, 1972.

In a dramatic showdown, the committee on a 6-1 vote approved an amended bill it agreed would be drastically changed on the Assembly floor.

The amendments, drafted by Democrats after long private meetings with Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, provided life imprisonment without possibility of parole for capital crimes.

But the author of the bill (SB450) Sen. George Deukmajian, R-Long Beach, said he would attempt to amend the bill on the Assembly floor to reinstate capital punishment. And death penalty opponents agreed he undoubtedly would succeed.

"The critical vote was in this committee," Deukmejian told newsmen, "Now that the bill has been sent to the floor, I anticipate getting the votes for the death penalty."

Deukmejian,who hopes to run for attorney general next year, added "This was a healthy bill when it came to the committee. A few vital organs were taken off in the operating room. But I believe we can get it repaired when we get to the Assembly floor.

The victory for death penalty advocates was in coaxing the committee to release any bill at all—amended or not. The committee could have sat on all capital crimes-related measures and kept them from reaching the floor.

"If we didn't give them a 'vehicle,' they were going to get a 'vehicle,'" commented liberal committee member Ken Meade, D-Oakland. "There was no way to win."

Unpaid electric bill leads to death of 2 tots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Two children died Thursday in a fire caused by a candle used to light their home. The local electric company had turned off power to the house because of an unpaid $33.40 bill.

Shannon Young, 3, and his sister, Heidi, 2, children of Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Young, died in suburban Hilliard after a babysitter had lighted several candles in a first-floor living room.

The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. said it turned off electric service to the home Wednesday because of a three-month delinquent electric bill.

Robert Sisinger, manager of public affairs for the firm, said several notices had been sent to the couple and a collection agent went to the home Wednesday before the power cutoff.

"She (the collection agent) also went down to see the husband who works at a Pure Oil station and he said he didn't have the money," Sisinger said. The electricity then was ordered cut.

The babysitter, Debra Froidezeaus, 13, jumped from a second story bedroom window, near where the childrens' bodies were found. Officials said the teen-ager apparently thought the children would also jump.

China silent; Britons happy with Kissinger

The nomination of Henry A. Kissinger as secretary of state today drew applause in Britain, Arab anger and no comment from Peking.

And many commentators, while acknowledging Kissinger's role as chief architect in America's triumphs abroad, expressed reservations about the international effects of Watergate.

In China, where Kissinger engineered a thaw in relations and set up the historic Peking summit meeting last year between President Nixon and Chinese leaders, the Kissinger announcement was reported without comment in a terse dispatch on the government-run New China News Agency.

There was no word either from the Kremlin, despite two meetings between Nixon and Soviet leaders in the last two years and the recent warming of relations.

Favor Kissinger

British press reaction was overwhelmingly in favor of Kissinger, with comments such as "a fine appointment" and "not a moment too soon."

The editor of the Beirut newspaper An Nahar said in a front page editorial that "Kissinger's appointment is an Israeli victory over the Arabs not in America only but also in the (Middle East) region as well."

He noted that Kissinger was a Jew and said, "Kissinger's rise to the throne of diplomacy and defense is attributed to the Zionist movement which has persuaded Nixon to appoint him as adviser and then forced the American president to appoint him secretary of state."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Ebban wired Kissinger, "I am confident that you will make contributions to the promotion of peace and that the relations between our two countries will continue to develop in the traditional spirit of mutual friendship and respect."

"Crown career"

The French newspaper Le Monde said the nomination "crowns a prodigious career," but noted:

"This promotion does not necessarily signify that Mr. Kissinger will have many occasions to add to his glory. Although he has not been tainted by the recent scandals, the Nixon team which has received such blows in the course of the last months will have a hard time trying to re-establish its international credit.

The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter commented, ". . . . everything could be pretty well in the world of Henry Kissinger if he had not entered on the new job while the boss is stuck in Watergate. That case even baffles the cleverness and inventiveness of Kissinger."

In Tokyo, the newspaper Mainichi said Kissinger's nomination "will have a far reaching effect on the future of Japanese-American relations."

It said the appointment "signifies President Nixon's determination of promoting a new diplomatic offensive to minimize the Watergate scandal's adverse effect on U.S. prestige and the President himself, and re-establish the United States as a world leader."

Richardson orders 'systematic inquiry' into news leaks on Agnew

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson has ordered a "systematic inquiry" into news leaks about the Maryland corruption probe involving Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. Justice Department sources said the leaks may be coming from the White House.

Richardson made public a letter he sent Thursday to Agnew, which told the vice president Richardson had ordered one of his assistants, Glen E. Pommerening, to make a thorough investigation of the leaks. The attorney general also said he had asked the FBI to furnish personnel "as needed" for the probe.

Use all sources

The attorney general said he had directed Pommerening to "undertake a systematic inquiry using any and all departmental sources as he sees fit."

Sources in the Justice Department said perhaps the leaks were coming from the White House or perhaps from law enforcement officials. The sources said only about a half dozen people in the Justice Department knew about the status of the Agnew investigation and that a poll of these persons failed to uncover a source.

President Nixon's aides at San Clemente, Calif., denied the leaks were coming from the White House. "Reports that the White House might be involved are totally false," a spokesman said.

Agnew has expressed anger over the leaks. He called a news conference early in the week after Time Magazine reported, quoting Justice Department sources, that Agnew appeared certain to be indicted as a result of the investigation into an alleged Maryland kickback scheme. Nixon also deplored the leaks at his Wednesday news conference in San Clemente.

Richardson promised Agnew that should any of the leaks be traced to Justice Department personnel "departmental regulations providing administrative sanction including dismissal will apply." He added, however, that there may be "no fully effective means of stopping the cynical rumors" because "a considerable number of people in and out of government are aware of some details of the investigation."

The attorney general also told Agnew that he would be given an opportunity to meet with the investigators, who are headed by U.S. Attorney George Beall in Baltimore.

Meat's off the hoof, back on shelves of food chains

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Major food chains in Southern California came to a reluctant and costly decision Thursday that put meat back on the shelves as early as today in some stores.

The decision to engage in custom slaughter has reopened five slaughterhouses in the Vernon area and put between 650 and 700 out-of-work butchers back on the job.

Butchers Union Local 563 executive J.J. Rodriguez said he expected many more of the 1,300 members still jobless to be rehired next week as plants open to fill demands of the food chains.

While the slaughterers and the consumers will benefit from the decision, the retail grocers are singing the blues.

"The chain stores have made this decision on their own," Raymond Rosenthal, vice president of the King Meat Packing Co. said.

"They are paying exorbitant prices for livestock and losing thousands just to keep their customers. It's against every economic principle you ever heard of."

'Big cheeses' don't like her spread, but she sues for job

WOODLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A widow fired from her cafeteria job for allegedly spreading mayonnaise wrongly and sauerkraut too slowly has filed suit to force the University of California to rehire her.

Mrs. Doris Judd, 59, a UC Davis food services employe for nearly eight years, charged in her Superior Court suit that she was "the victim of contrived charges."

Her attorney, Loren McMaster of the California State Employes' Association, filed the suit Thursday after losing an appeal of her dismissal to UC President Charles J. Hitch.

Judge Richard Patton ordered university officials to appear Sept. 27 to show cause why the court should not order the woman reinstated.

Mrs. Judd, a widow and the mother of five married children, was fired Feb. 9 for failing to spread mayonnaise all the way to the edge of the bread in making sandwiches, taking an average of 1.3 minutes each to put sauerkraut on 50 hot dogs and wrap them, and mixing too much egg salad during one day.

In her suit, Mrs. Judd contended the university failed to grant her a hearing to her dismissal, thus violating her right to due process.

University officials have refused to comment on the case.

McMaster has said Mrs. Judd's problems began when she apparently offended "some big cheeses" when their breakfast was not provided fast enough.

Mrs. Judd has labeled the charges against her "ridiculous. They were so minor it really made me mad."

2 workers hurt by letter bomb

LONDON (UPI) —A letter bomb exploded at the London Stock Exchange today slightly injuring two workers in the sixth straight day of terrorist blasts.

Authorities said a 25-year-old secretary and her supervisor were taken to a London hospital, but were expected to be treated and released.

An exchange spokesman said the secretary "was going through the mail in one of the offices and one of the letters exploded in her face."

It was the ninth letter bomb received in London since Sunday. Police have also discovered 15 incendiary devices in city department stores and a two-pound bomb in a major subway station.

4 talk to airman in barricade

EDWARD AFB, Calif. (UPI) —Four persons have talked to Airman Earl Williams by telephone in an effort to persuade him to give up a five-day vigil in a barricaded barracks room.

Williams, 19, of St. Louis, locked himself inside the barracks with a gun Monday, fired several shots that day and the next and has refused to leave.

Europe leaders 'cold shoulder' Nixon visit talk

LONDON (UPI) —European leaders want President Nixon to put off his planned Europe visit until next year, diplomatic officials said today.

The Europeans are in disarray and are not ready for Nixon and crucial talks that are intended to shape the future of the transatlantic relationship, they said.

A premature start of vital negotiations on a new Atlantic Charter type agreement could do more harm than good, the diplomatic sources said. Another argument is that a few months delay might help to smooth over some of the damage done to the presidential image in Europe by the Watergate affair.

The enhanced role of presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, who has been nominated to be secretary of state, is expected by European diplomats to help put the new transatlantic relationship on a constructive basis.

Reports from Washington earlier this week suggested that Nixon may visit Europe by the end of October. Kissinger was expected to come earlier for preparatory soundings. He announced Thursday that Nixon had called off a trip to Latin American, partly because of Watergate, but planned to make his European trip as planned.

Reports of a Nixon October visit met with a notably cool reception in European capitals. There was embarrassed official silence, but diplomatic officials left little doubt that the presidential visit would offer better prospects if it were put off at least until sometime next year.

FBI use of burglaries since 1930 reported

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The FBI has been carrying out burglaries since the 1930's, as President Nixon contends, according to a report by a southland newspaper.

The newspaper said, however, quoting three former FBI officials, that the agents involved did not have authorization for the burglaries from high levels of previous administrations, as Nixon said.

Burglaries by government agents in the past were on the FBI's own initiative and were always limited operations against foreign intelligence targets and alleged domestic subversives, the former FBI men said.

"I have never heard of anything like burglarizing a doctor's office or of committing a burglary to get information about someone who had a criminal trial pending," the newspaper quoted one of its sources as saying. The source was identified as "a former FBI official of 25 years experience."

The newspaper identified one of its informants as William W. Turner of San Francisco, but it said the other two did not want their identities revealed.

The newspaper identified two men it said were FBI "black bag (burglary)" experts, according to others within the FBI.

Agent George Burley of Washington, D.C., is the FBI's "No. 1 burglar," according to Turner, and another is Chris Scaturo, "a veteran New York FBI agent nearing retirement ... a top technician who has received several meritor awards" from the FBI for his burglary prowess.

The newspaper said another of its informants said that "Turner ought to know what he's talking about—he's an old black bag man."

Turner confirmed, the newspaper said, that during his years in the FBI, between 1951 and 1961, "burglary was a common investigative technique. I went on a number of these kind of operations."

Scaturo refused to comment on the matter, and Burley could not be reached.

The term "black bag job" comes from the bag in which agents carry burglar's tools.

The bag jobs began in the 1930's and were discontinued in 1966 "following an investigation by a Senate committee, but the practice was resumed during the Nixon administration," the newspaper said.

Teen-agers face indictments in 3 more murders

HOUSTON (UPI) —A grand jury returned three more murder indictments Thursday against two teen-agers accused of taking part in the nation's worst mass murder of the 20th century. A county official said the jury has not completed its investigation into the deaths of 27 boys.

The indictments were returned against Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David Owen Brooks, 18, who are charged with assisting Dean Arnold Corll, 33, in the sex-torture slayings of 27 boys. Henley said he shot and killed Corll, ending the three-year string of murders.

The grand jury indicted Brooks for the deaths of James Eugene Glass, 14, Ruben W. Watson, 17, and Johnny Delome, 16, all of Houston. The grand jury also indicted Henley in connection with Delome's death.

The indictments said Glass was killed New Year's Day of 1961, Watson was slain Aug. 20, 1972, and Delome was murdered May 15, 1972.

Watson, Glass and Delome are among 13 bodies identified. Fourteen others recovered from three burial grounds in Texas have not been identified.

The grand jury earlier indicted Henley on three counts of murder and Brooks on one.

A spokesman for the county district attorney said the grand jury has not finished its investigation into the case and will probably consider more evidence next week.

Henley and Brooks said they procured boys for Corll who sexually abused, tortured and killed them.

Rudolph Valentino fans comforted

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Those who still turn out to mourn Rudolph Valentino, the great lover of the silent screen, were comforted Thursday by an astrologer who assured them he would have been a big star until recent days if he had lived.

Several hundred persons turned out for the memorial service at Valentino's mausoleum Thursday, the 47th anniversary of his death. Many of the same persons, including now-elderly women, have been turning out each year for decades.

Astrologer Anthony Norvell said he had prepared an astrological chart which plotted the course of Valentino's life if he had lived. It showed that Valentino would have survived the coming of talking pictures, which doomed so many silent screen stars with poor voices, and would have been a major star well into the 1960s, he said.

'You held us up too long'

Even Atlas is covered as women begin move

NEW YORK (UPI) —The National Organization for Women (NOW), in its battle against male chauvinism, drapes the statue of Atlas at Rockefeller Center today with a banner proclaiming "Atlas, you held us up too long."

The draping of the statue of Atlas supporting the globe was NOW's latest action in a week of planned protests before Aug. 26, the 53rd anniversary of the Women's Suffrage Amendment to the Constitution.

Thursday, the Women's Lib group raised a "women power" banner over the public gallery of the American Stock Exchange to protest the "male domination of Wall Street. It had no effect on trading.

The organization plans to climax its week of protest demonstrations Sunday with a "women's liberation" march on Fifth Avenue.

Vanguard Records won a special "Keep Her in Her Place" award from NOW today for recording the song: "Get Your Biscuits in the Oven and Your Buns in Bed."

NOW cited five other incidents of what it considered conspicuous male chauvinism, for a total of seven Keep Her in Her Place awards, but the women's lib group also gave "Positive Image of Women" awards.

The prizes—for positive and negative treatment of women by the media—were announced Thursday for presentation today by NOW in an effort to "raise the consciousness of the communications industry."

Other Keep Her In Her Place awards:

—To the ad agency which created the Winchester cigarette ad depicting a man smoking beneath he headline "No woman ever says no to Winchester."

—To NBC television's Dean Martin show which NOW says "presents a very males-eye view of women as trivial, decoration, and sex objects."

—To the film "Last Tango in Paris" for its "blunt sexual abuse and dehumanization of the female character."

—To WINS, an all-news radio station in New York for "constantly using male-oriented language such as 'the average man,' 'man in the street' 'newsman,' 'working man' and 'businessman'," and for "trivializing women by putting more emphasis on fun or novelty items relating to women."

—To the book "The Manipulated Man" by Esther Vilar for "portraying man as the oppressed and woman the oppressor."

The group gave "Horrible Mention" citations to Playboy Magazine and the movie "Up the Sandbox." NOW said the film "has the rebellious female character abandoning her dreams and settling for a role as a baby breeder."

Rogers to rejoin his law business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers is preparing to rejoin the New York law firm he left in 1969 when he became a member of President Nixon's cabinet.

Nixon announced Rogers' resignation Wednesday and appointed Dr. Henry A. Kissinger to succeed him.

Rogers, aides said, would go to New York this weekend to confer with his former law partners. He will rejoin the firm of Royall, Koegel and Wells after his Sept. 3 departure from the State Department.

Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Rush will serve as acting secretary pending Senate confirmation of Kissinger.

Interior secretary 'gone fishing'

KING SALMON, Alaska (UPI) —Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton arrived in this Bristol Bay community north of the Aleutians Thursday night for a day of fishing and relaxation.

Aides said Morton would probably fly to Fairbanks, Alaska, Saturday and then on to San Clemente, Calif., where he will report to President Nixon on his week-long tour of Alaska.

The Cabinet official has spent his time talking with the leaders of Alaska's 75,000 Indians, Eskimos and Aleuts about the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1972, the trans-Alaska oil pipeline and land use.

Over listening devices

Anxiety 'absurd,' sheriff declares

POMONA — Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess Thursday termed "absurd" the anxiety expressed by some county employes here over the installation of two-way emergency listening devices in the county clerk's office of the East District Superior Courts Building.

In a statement, Pitchess said, "The sheriff's department has a standing order that the system will not be activated except in response to an alarm or when conducting tests."

Several courtrooms throughout the state have listening devices in which a light flashes behind the judge's bench when officers listen in. The devices were installed after an escape attempt in San Rafael three years ago in in which a judge was one of several persons killed outside the Marin County Courthouse.

But the system in the county clerk's office here does not have a light and several employes have expressed concern they are being overheard without warning. Their employe union, Local 660, has filed a memorandum with the county clerk seeking modification or removal of the system.

Pitchess' statement said the system was extended to the clerk's office because the office handles large sums of money collected from fines. Later Thursday, County Administrative Officer Arthur G. Will said he thought the existing system would be reviewed. But both he and Pitchess felt the warning system was needed for security reasons.

The sytem in courtrooms allows a bailiff or court clerk to flick a switch in case of trouble, activating a buzzer in the sheriff's office in the building. Sheriff's deputies then can listen in and send assistance if needed.

Pitchess said that there is no light indicating the listening device in the clerk's office is being used simply because the actuation of a visible signal might jeopardize the safety of the clerical personnel or the public in the event there was an armed robbery in progress.

The sheriff concluded his statement bysaying "to label this two-way communication system a bugging device is ridiculous and individuals who are making an issue of this would appear to be doing so in keeping with the self-serving motives which they may hope to relate to the national concern for electronic monitoring devices."

Murder counts against 2 men are dropped

FONTANA — Two men, charged in the murder of an Upland man last week, have been freed from custody after the district attorney's office refused to issue murder complaints against the pair.

Robert R. Mendenhall, 19, and William J. Slater, 22, both of Fontana, were released from county jail when the Deputy Dist. Atty. Kenneth Pike concluded there was insufficient evidence to support the complaints.

Fontana detectives arrested the men Sunday after an investigation of the death of Jerome R. Lewis, 29, of 1285 W. 25th St., Upland. Lewis died from a small-caliber bullet wound in the back near the upper right shoulder.

He was first thought to be a traffic accident victim, since he was found in the parking lot of a bar here last Friday morning after his car had collided with a parked auto. Preliminary examination of his body missed the bullet wound, but it was found in later, more detailed examination.

SAN DIMAS — A 10-year-old girl whose horse was killed when they were hit by a truck here was reported in fair condition today at Glendora Community Hospital.

The victim, Connie T. Martin, 1831 Grasscreek Drive, suffered facial and chest injuries in the accident at Base Line Road west of Wehner Avenue Wednesday.

The accident occurred when the horse Connie was riding bolted into the path of a truck when the animal was hit with a stick by another girl, sheriff's deputies said. They said the girls had been taking turns riding the horse.

The impact of the collision killed the animal outright, deputies said.

The truck driver, Ricky R. Sudduth, 21, of 307 W. Base Line Road San Dimas, said he was eastbound on Base Line at about 35 miles an hour when the horse ran into his path.

Old oak tree, Baldy cabin catch fire

MT. BALDY — Fire seriously damaged a 300-to-400-year-old oak tree and burnt through a cabin roof here early today.

The blaze, which was quickly contained by local firemen, spread from an incinerator behind the Buckhorn Restaurant where maintenance men from the restaurant had been burning trash earlier in the evening.

Firmen were notified of the fire about 2:35 a.m., and they said it had been burning for "quite a while" before they arrived.

The blaze caused an estimated $400 damage to the cabin roof, but did no other damage to the structure.

Although the tree was not destroyed in the blaze, firemen said it would probably have to be removed.

Units from the Forest Service and the Los Angeles County Fire Department assited in extinguishing the fire.

Glassful of medicine a 48-hour gonorrhea cure

WASHINGTON (UPI) A glassful of pleasant-tasting medicine is being marketed as a 48-hour cure for gonorrhea, America's most common infectious disease except for the cold.

The new liquid drug, a combination of ampicillin and probenecid, was found 90 per cent effective last year by the Public Health Service (PHS), but so far only one company, Bristol Laboratories of Syracuse, N.Y., has received Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approval to sell the prescription drink.

Harold Snyder, president of the competing Biocraft Laboratories of Elmwood Park, N.J., has complained that the FDA is dawdling in letting his company sell the drug, which is tastier, less painful and quicker acting than the previous cure of swallowing huge doses of penicillin pills or taking a long series of penicillin shots.

Snyder has asked Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to investigate the FDA's delay in approving his company's product. An FDA spokesman said Biocraft submitted its request six months after Bristol and that there has not been enough time to consider the application yet.

Robinson said persons allergic to penicillin should not use the drug, although he said allergic patients can avoid the penicillin side effects by drinking a lot of water and juices.

The PHS has estimated at least 3 million Americans have gonorrhea, making it the most common infectious disease except for the common cold, and the federal government is expected to be the largest buyer.

FDA official William T. Robinson described the cure: "Just fill up the bottle with water and the powder at the bottom will dissolve. Drink it and you'll be well within 48 hours."

Bristol is marketing the drug under the name "Polycillin TRB" sold for $4.25 a bottle

Should hold more

Graham: Nixon at best during press confabs

LONDON (UPI) —Evangelist Billy Graham said that President Nixon should hold more news conferences. He said he doubts Nixon or anyone knows or ever will know the whole truth about the Watergate affair.

"But I believe it will have a great cleansing effect on the United States," he said.

Graham made the comments at a news conference called to announce "Spree 73" —a Bible training event he will lead here soon.

Graham at first said he would not answer questions about Watergate or other political matters. But when one British reporter asked, "Do you think Nixon has come unstuck?" Graham retorted, "No, I don't think he has come unstuck. One certainly did not get that impression from his press conference."

Graham said he saw part of it on British television after his arrival in London Wednesday evening.

"He should hold more press conferences," Graham said. "He is at his best in that kind of give and take. He comes alive then. He has been a debater all his life and he shows at his best on such occasions."

Graham added, "I don't know whether anyone knows the total truth about Watergate, including the President or (Sen.) Sam Ervin or anyone, and I don't know whether they ever will know it. Watergate has come to cover all that is wrong in America. I don't know that anyone will ever know the total picture. But I do believe it will have a cleansing effect on the United States."

Admiral flays hostile attitude to military

HONOLULU (UPI) — The commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific has called for the "hostile" attitude toward the military to be changed to support.

Adm. Noel Gaylor told the 55th National Convention of the American Legion that the Indochina war had led many to forget why the U.S. entered the conflict, "took on the burden of free world defense and the many who gave their lives to that ideal."

The most important factor in the quality of military life, he said, "is how it is regarded by the country."

"That attitude that we see too much of, of hostility toward the military, and toward military men and women, has got to be changed to support," he said. "The attitude of indifference has got to be changed to concern. The cheap shot that some people take against the military has got to be made costly."

The public has to realize, Gayler said, that "without dedicated people there is no quality, without quality there is no capability, and without capability there is no security."

Actress Jane Fonda, a critic of American prisoners of war returned from Indochina prison camps, came under fire at the convention.

An amendment which singled out the actress as one "giving aid, comfort and support to the enemies of the United States" was voted down after debate.

A delegate pleaded "not to dignify her with undue publicity" and a resolution condemning "persons" who made verbal attacks on POWs was passed instead.

Site well qualified for a state capital

CHICAGO (UPI) — When South Dakotans chose Pierre for their capital city in 1889, they couldn't have selected a more experienced site.

Pierre, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, had for 400 years prior to 1800 been the capital of the Arikara Indian nation.

Couple rides train free Under 100-year-old law

LAUREL, Mont. (UPI) — Charles Vyskocil and his wife, who are riding the rails from Nebraska to Washington State, arrived in Montana in time for dinner at the Owl Cafe Wednesday.

Vyskocil ordered liver and onions and enjoyed every bite of it. His wife dined on baked chicken. Since they started their journey Tuesday they have been eating mostly K-rations.

The Vyskocils are traveling from Lincoln, Neb., to Auburn, Wash. — 1,838 miles — in a railroad boxcar under a 100-yearold law permitting a man to ride free as long as he is transporting livestock. The Vyskocils have eight horses.

"So far it's been a ball," Vyskocil told a reporter at the restaurant.

After their meal, they jumped back on the Burlington Northern Railroad car as the train pulled out for points west.

Mrs. Vyskocil paid an extra $10 for the privilege of riding with her husband on the threeday trip. Their three children, Loree, 14, Barry, 13, and 6-year-old Gina Marie, are following the freight in a passenger car.

Vyskocil, a disabled World War II veteran recovering from open heart surgery, said he was relocating his family partly for his children.

"We believe if the children have a taste of what their forefathers went through, they will look at things with a little more reverence and respect," his wife said.

Her husband said his parents made the same trip in 1912 when they moved from Nebraska to Montana to homestead.

"We've spent most of our journey thinking about their experiences, then wondering what they went through and how we compare with them," he said at the restaurant.

At Auburn, Vyskocil will be near a heart research program in which he has been cooperating.

The old law under which the family is traveling dealt with emigrant traffic policy and was aimed originally at attracting settlers to the West.

In all, the Vyskocils will pay $914 to transport their horses and belongings to Washington State. The railroad cooperated with the couple by installing extra springs under their boxcar.

The doctor comments

Reader has spells that affect memory

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am one of your readers, but I didn't think I would be writing to you for help. For the past four years I have been having spells off and on with my thinking and talking. I can be sitting around by myself and I'll have spells that are weird, and then they will go away. I can't tell anyone how I feel because they happen so quickly I can't remember myself. I'm having trouble with my memory.

I can be talking to someone and I will have one of these spells come over me, and I can't remember what I'm talking about. I know they think something is wrong with me, but I just can't say the words a lot of times that I want to say. I can't say the words a lot of times that I want to say. I can't get them out of my mouth. I know that I must act strange. I'm not on any drugs and I am no drinker. Could you help me? Do you think there is anything wrong with me?

I wish you could give me some advice on what kind of a doctor I should go to. Could cigarettes and coffee hurt me in any way? I do smoke a pack of cigarettes a day and drink a great deal of coffee—about two pots a day.

Dear Reader— You didn't tell me how old you are or a number of other facts that are important. I would guess from your letter that you may indeed have some changes that are causing trouble with your memory. Then, there is always the possibility that you have some abnormal function of the nerve pathways in the brain that's related to speech. There are several ways this can happen.

I'm sure you know that an individual who has a stroke that hits one are of the brain can find it impossible to speak at all. The speech area is a relatively small spot on the surface of the brain. It is connected to many other inputs, however, that influence speech. Finally, the nervous system has to work properly even to enable the tongue, lips and speech organs to function adequately.

You've asked me what kind of a doctor to see, and about the best advice I can give you is to see if you can be referred to a neurology specialist. These are individuals who are trained specifically in localizing which areas of the brain are not functioning properly, if that should be the case. By testing how you speak, how you move your tongue, what your various reflex responses are, and sometimes more complicated tests, they can have a pretty good idea of whether your nervous system is functioning properly or not.

Much of the nervous system functions just like electrical circuits and part of their job is literally in finding the short in the circuit or the break in the circuit. Then, of course, one has to find out the cause of any change in the circuit, should there be one.

I am inclined to think that cigarettes and coffee are not particularly beneficial to anyone's health, but they are probably not the primary cause of your difficulty. I am pretty sure you could get some help, and would like to encourage you to see a neurologist if at all possible.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's new booklet on hemorrhoids, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Hemorrhoids" booklet.

Making donkey out of singer?

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (UPI) — A singer of popular Brazilian music went to the police seeking to file criminal charges against a local transport boss who named his donkey after him.

Guido Agostinho dos Reis said he named one of his donkeys Toni Damito "after I heard him sing over the radio."

Damito said the incident has caused him to become the object of ridicule of the community. He said one anoymous admirer sent him five pounds of hay.

Substantial tax breaks told for rich campaign donors

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The list of persons who contributed money to the Republican and Democratic presidential campaigns last year includes wealthy businessmen, past and present government officials and dozens of show business celebrities.

Vice Present Spiro T. Agnew even chipped in $1,000 to his own cause.

The General Accounting Office report on campaign contributions between April 7 and Dec. 31 of last year listed in alphabetical order thousands of donors and how much they gave to President Nixon's re-election campaign as well as the Democratic ticket headed by Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota and more than a dozen other hopefuls who contested the major party nominees for president and vice president.

Spread around

The report, released Thursday showed that wealthy contributors took advantage of an Internal Revenue Service ruling permitting them to escape federal gift taxes by dividing their donations into amounts of $3,000 or less and spreading them among various fundraising committees

Involved were about 2,570 political committees that had registered with the GAO as raising money in a national candidate's behalf.

The largest McGovern backer, financially speaking, was Xerox Corp. executive Max Palevsky of Los Angeles. Palevsky and his wife gave $683,261 in contributions and loans, more than 3 per cent of McGovern's total donations after April 7.

Playboy Magazine publisher Hugh Hefner gave the McGovern campaign $45,000 and took advantage of the tax break by donating it in $2,500 sums to 18 separate committees.

Celebrity McGovern supporters included actor Paul Newman and his actress wife Joanne Woodward, $10,000; trumpeter Herb Alpert, $2,500; musician Henry Mancini and his wife, $500; actor Dana Andrews, $900; former ambassador W. Averill Harriman, $3,134; and Anna Roosevelt Halstead, daughter of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and her husband, $750.

Nixon donors

Among the biggest Nixon contributions after April 7 were Roy J. Carver of Muscatine, Iowa, who gave $267,633.57 in 124 contributions, and the F. L. Cappaerts of Vicksburg, Miss., $210,000 in 69 contributions.

Although Chicago insurance magnate W. Clement Stone has said he gave $2 million to the 1972 Nixon campaign, his post-April 7 contributions totalled only $73,052.

Agnew gave the Nixon campaign $1,000 as did actress Susan Hayward, dancer Fred Astaire and presidential assistant Bryce C. Harlow.

Larger contributors included Chicago Bears owner George Halas, $10,000; hotel magnate Conrad Hilton and his son, Barron, $15,008; Gene Autry, $20,000; comedian Jack Benny and his wife, $2,000; Mrs. Vincent Astor, $13,000; former Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, $3,000; and former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, $5,000.

Attorney for Getty admits kidnap story may be hoax

ROME (UPI) —The attorney for the family of oil billionaire J. Paul Getty's grandson, missing since he was reported kidnaped six weeks ago, conceded for the first time Thursday the whole thing may be a hoax.

Lawyer Giovanni Iacovoni said the boy's mother, Mrs. Gail Getty, still believes her son has been abducted.

But Iacovoni said in a telephone interview, "we also are considering many other hypotheses. He may have kidnaped himself to get money from his grandfather or it may be a joke or it may be for the publicity."

Refused to pay

J. Paul Getty Sr., the eccentric billionaire believed to be the richest man in the world, has refused to pay any ransom for his grandson and namesake, J. Paul Getty III. He said it would subject his 14 other grandchildren to the danger of kidnaping.

The 16-year-old Getty, a ninth grade dropout, belonged to Rome's hippie set. He dabbled in painting and recently became involved in underground movies and modeling. Nude pctures taken of him taken by a photographer friend appeared in the magazine "Playmen" soon after his alleged kidnaping.

The red-haired, freckle-faced boy was last seen in the early morning of July 10 in Piazza Navona. Two days later his mother received the first of a series of communications by telephone and in writing by persons claiming to have kidnaped him. She also received a letter from her son begging her to meet the kidnapers' demands.

Silent 'kidnaper'

But the self-described kidnapers have been silent since Mrs. Getty informed them she could not pay $17 million ransom. They rejected a smaller offer she made and did not respond to the lawyer's announcement a week ago that he had "new urgent communications" for them.

Mrs. Getty, who has maintained her son had too much respect for his family to subject them to a kidnaping hoax, was in London Thursday, reportedly conferring with her divorced first husband, J. Paul Getty Jr.

"The only thing we know," Iacovoni said, "is that we received a letter from him (J. Paul Getty III) telling us he was kidnaped and we received a letter asking us to pay 10 billion lire ($17 million) ransom," Iacovoni said.

"We are obliged to think it is a serious thing but I would be glad if we were mistaken."

Slim opener, slam a cinch

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South's decision to open one diamond instead of one club does not meet with our full approval or full disapproval. There is a lot to be said in favor of bidding a strong five-card suit before a weak six-carder when they are next to one another in rank.

As for South's later action all we can say is that he bid his hand like there was no tomorrow.

He also was lucky enough to have bid it to a cinch slam. Playing in clubs he would have to lose a trump trick in addition to the heart trick taken by West at trick one.

Playing in diamonds he simply ruffed the second heart; led a club to dummy's king; a second club back to his ace and a third club to be ruffed by dummy's king of trumps.

Then he led dummy's six of trumps and had his first problem. Should he play East for four trumps to the 10 and finesse his nine or should be rise with a high trump.

The correct percentage play was to rise and he did. Not that it mattered. Either play was going to work for him and his rather silly slam was guaranteed success from the start.

Packaging takes lots of resources

CHICAGO (UPI) — The world's packaging industry itself has become a huge package. Calculations, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, indicate that 8 per cent of the world's steel and 10 per cent of its wood are used in packaging, in addition to more than 50 per cent of the total paper production of all nations.

Packaging also demands 50 per cent of the world's tin plate and more than 70 per cent of all glass production, excluding sheet glass. In plastics, about 25 per cent of all polyethylene produced now is used for packaging.

Kissinger a disciple of Metternich

By United Press International

If Austrian Crown Prince Klemens Metternich were alive today, he doubtless would be proud of Henry A. Kissinger, one his most faithful disciples.

Kissinger based his doctoral thesis at Harvard on Metternich, one of history's most famous diplomats because of his efforts to unite Europe peacefully after the Napoleonic Wars. He adopted some of the Austrian's methods at the Congress of Vienna in 1815 to negotiate a settlement of the Indochina War.

Moreover, when he succeeds William P. Rogers as secretary of state next month, if confirmed by the Senate, Kissinger is sure to remain true to Metternich's goal of peace through balance of power.

President Nixon, in announcing the new assignment for Kissinger, turned to the man who arranged presidential trips to China and the Soviet Union last year and who is credited with designing the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

Powerful man

As Nixon's top adviser for national security, Kissinger has been one of the most powerful men in the world. The former Harvard professor is a bachelor and his various dates with movie stars, television reporters and specialties have made almost as many headlines as his world trips. At 50, he is also a devoted father to two sons from a previous marriage.

One former associate has described him as "selfish, cunning, calculating, power-mad and publicity obsessed." Others say Kissinger is hard-working, loyal and intelligent.

His secret trips have become famous. A "stomach ailment" in Pakistan covered a visit to Peking which set the stage for Nixon's historic visit to China. He is said to have visited Hanoi in a top-secret mission for President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966.

Kissinger is known to believe his style of negotiating helped break the deadlock in Vietnam talks. There was, he said, too much concern with tactics and not "enough feeling for nuance and intangibles."

At the bargaining table, Kissinger reportedly tried to channel the talks to purely military questions such as the cease-fire and troop withdrawals, avoiding the emotional issue of the internal structure of South Vietnam. He left it to commissions to resolve internal Vietnamese problems.

Follows footsteps

He seemed to be following Metternich's footsteps at the 1815 Congress of Vienna, where questions like religion were left to committees and the diplomats discussed practical and military issues.

Born May 27, 1923, in Furth, near Nuremburg, Germany, Kissinger was the son of a Jewish professor who was harassed by the Nazis. The family fled to New York in 1938 when he was 15. He still has a slight German accent and occasionally mixes his nouns and verbs—then smiles about it.

The accent is said to be one reason he shies away from making statements in public. "The problem with interviewing me is that the essential sweetness doesn't come through," he said recently.

He has freely given briefings and was popular with reporters, despite revelations by columnist Jack Anderson that some of his off-the-record discussions were "trial baloons" during conflict between India and Pakistan.

Some of his friends and staff members found that he had submitted their names as the subject of wiretaps, although he has been otherwise free of taint in the Watergate scandal.

He works 12 to 20 hours a day in his White House office near the President's. His National Security Council staff of 110 is twice as large as his predecessor's and some opponents have accused him of trying to usurp the powers held by Rogers.

Diplomats say he even tried to take Rogers' place in negotiations with some protocol-conscious countries — and was backed by the President.

Severely ill teen-age girl having fling?

KOKOMO, Ind. (UPI) —The doctor of a severely ill teen-age girl who ran off with her boyfriend to get married, says the girl will get progressively weaker because of a blood disease and probably will seek medical help.

What's more, if Cheryl Marie McDonald, 17, who fled with her boyfriend Kevin Dodd, 16, of Kokomo on Monday, is even bruised, a fatal hemorrhage could result.

Her father Raymond N. McDonald, said Wednesday she "was tired of all the talk about her illness," and apparently resolved to have a fling at life despite the danger. The girl suffers from idiopathic hypoplastic anemia, a disease of the blood.

McDonald said his daughter and her boyfriend left in a car he had given her to console her when she had to cancel plans to go to Europe with her high school French club.

"We even canceled our own vacation plans when the doctors said she shouldn't travel. Now she's traveling on her own," McDonald said.

Dr. James E. Schroeder of Indianapolis, a hematologist who was treating the girl, said her disease was a bone marrow failure. He said the counts of vital elements in her blood were down significantly below normal, but not falling rapidly. However, he said eventually she will need a transfusion to remain alive.

"The likelihood is that she'll get progressively weaker, and I would guess that would result in her seeking medical attention," Schroeder said.

He said she probably will be able to seek medical help, provided she doesn't suffer an accidental hemorrhage.

McDonald said before the pair fled they had sought permission from Dodd's parents to get married, but the parents "got quite upset" and refused to okay a wedding.

Cheryl was scholastically outstanding at Taylor High School and would be a senior next year, her father said.

He said, "She's been sick all her life"

Solons seek hospital closing OK

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation prohibiting the Reagan administration from closing state hospitals for the mentally ill or retarded without the lawmakers' approval has advanced in the Senate.

The three measures, one by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, and two by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, cleared the Health and Welfare Committee Wednesday and were sent to the Finance Committee.

Burton said the administration's proposal to close the facilities during the next 10 years had a "terrifying effect on many citizens throughout the state."

The administration has since dropped its plan but opposed Burton's measure (AB855), which was approved 7-0, and Vasconcellos' bills (AB447-448), which were endorsed by the committee on 9-0 votes.

Andrew G. Robertson, deputy director of the Department of Health, said the 11 state hospitals would remain open at least through 1974-75.

He said the bills were "unnecessary" since his department was preparing a report on plans to gradually phase out the hospitals as local care becomes available. He said the report would be completed about Sept. 15.

Burton's legislation requires an administration report on proposed closures to be made with the budget by April of each year in addition to legislative approval.

Vasconcellos' proposals would set up a different review procedure for proposed closures but also requires legislative approval to shut down facilities.

Schabarum likes train commuter if cost is right

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Supervisor Peter F. Schabarum has given conditional approval to a proposal that would tie the San Bernardino area to Los Angeles via daily commuter trains that would stop at Pomona.

The First District supervisor said his full approval depended on how much it would cost and who would pay for it.

Schabarum sidestepped a direct question on the commuter train proposal at a breakfast of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce Thursday saying that the proposal needed further study.

But he amplified his reply after the meeting when he explained that he could see good possibility in the proposal, first offered last month by San Bernardino County Supervisor Ruben Ayala, if the financial ends could be worked out.

Under that proposal a commuter train using existing tracks would be established between Colton and downtown Los Angeles, with stops at Pomona and Monterey Park. Minibuses would take commuters from the railway stations to other locations in the downtown area.

The commuter train proposal was one of four possible solutions Schabarum offered to solve the mounting traffic problem of the metropolitain Los Angeles area. He said he was making his own suggestions because he was "disappointed" in the $6½ billion plan now advocated by the Southern California Rapid Transit District.

"The cost is almost double the proposed cost in 1968," he declared. "But the way the rapid transit wants to move the people is very much the same."

He said the RTD is hoping to get two-thirds of the money from the federal government, and the rest from a new tax levy on sales within the district.

"This will give the RTD a blank check to do whatever it pleases," he told his audience. "And there is no assurance that the federal government will provide the $4½ billion which the RTD is depending on."

Schabarum said it was "not important today why a leg of the RTD proposal doesn't come to Pomona. (It would stop at El Monte). What is important is whether the proposal is viable—whether it will move the people."

The supervisor said he and his staff have been asking the RTD for details of the plan which is coming up as a ballot measure next June, but so far have been unsuccessful.

"Some say that all that is necessary to solve the congestion," he said, "is to require at least two people in every car."

Then he outlined remedies which he felt could be more easily controlled. These included a more uniform traffic program, a ramp metering system using computers that would regulate traffic entering freeways, the use of existing buses and minibuses as well as a "dial-a-bus" service, and the possible use of commuter trains.

"These suggestions are more realistic," he declared. "They are not as romantic and eye catching as rapid transit or the silver bullet moving on rails, but they would lure people out of their automobiles."

Schabarum touched lightly on the future plans by the county for health services, explaining that the county is now working out a master plan.

"We are trying to determine just what is the county's responsibility in providing health services: what is the clientele, where should the services be located, what do we now have, and how should we go about making up the difference between what we have and what we should have," he said.

According to Schabarum, there is some need for a county owned hospital in the Pomona Valley, "but it has not been proven advisable to get involved in the ownership of such facilities. In a more practical sense, we'd rather contract for the necessary services."

Schabarum did not discuss any developments on Bonelli Park or the Mountain Meadows Golf Course, because he ran out of time.

AMERICAN KNOW-HOW

Grace Heim, owner of the 7-11 Food Store at 622 S. Dudley St., Pomona, and Milo Lacy, professor of agricultural business management at Cal Poly, discuss an American-style food display with a group of Japanese retail managers, who toured the store as part of a retailing seminar sponsored by the department of agricultural business management at Cal Poly and the Japan Self-Service Association. Ninety Japanese businessmen took part in the week-long seminar.

Pomonan who killed wife now at CIM

CHINO — Richard Irving McCoy, 40-year-old Pomona man who pleaded guilty to killing his ex-wife during a row March 7, is being processed through the Reception and Guidance Center of the California Institution for Men here after being sentenced to prison for the slaying.

It will require about two weeks of processing through the maximum security unit here before McCoy is transferred to another state prison for confinement. He faces a term of from 1 to 15 years.

McCoy shot Mrs. Marva McCoy to death in her home at 955 N. Gordon St., Pomona, while she was throwing his possessions out, investigators said. The couple's two young children witnessed the shooting. They since have been placed in a foster home but reports were that a sister of the victim, who lives in Alaska, has been attempting to gain custody of them.

McCoy, originally charged with murdering his ex-wife, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter. He was sentenced to prison Aug. 1 by Pomona Superior Court Judge Glenn M. Pfau.

The couple had been divorced but McCoy sometimes stayed at the Gordon Street address, police said.

Thief on bike uses cane crook to snatch purse

POMONA — A bicycle-mounted thief used the crook of a cane Thursday evening to snatch a purse away from a woman on the Pomona Mall.

Police said Ruth Mona Moen of Pomona told them she was sitting on a bench outside Buffums department store about 6 p.m., the purse buried on her lap beneath parcels and a notepad on which she was composing a letter. She heard a noise, looked up and saw the purse-snatcher pedaling away, her handbag dangling from the end of a stick.

Labor Day to mark end of career for labor worker

POMONA — Thirty years' service to the working public will end appropriately on the Labor Day weekend for Clark Alvin Robison as he retires from his position as the employers service representative in the San Bernardino Job Bank office here for the state Human Resources Department.

On the Saturday before the holiday honoring all working Americans, Robison, a resident of Upland, concludes the career he began in 1934 as a social case worker for the California State Relief Administration. He transferred to the state Department of Employment in 1936, where he has remained except for periods of military service.

Robison was honored last week by his superiors and colleagues at a testimonial dinner in Upland. Officials from the Job Bank, Pomona and Covina HRD offices attended ceremonies in which he received a certificate of service from Dwight Geduldig, director of HRD, and a digital clock-radio from co-workers.

A veteran of World War II and the Korean War, he retired in 1967 as a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force reserves. Among the positions held with the state during his 30 years of service are:

—Unemployment insurance manger, Glendale.

—Veterans' employment representative in Los Angeles after WW II.

—Technical services supervisor, East Los Angeles field office.

—Placement officer and application inteviewer in various offices.

Pomona businessmen know Robison well for his work in their behalf with the Job Bank during the past two years.

Following his retirement, Robison plans to continue living at his residence at 1534 N. Euclid Ave., Upland. He says extensive travel is high on his list of plans, which he summarizes as "just fishing." Robison and his wife Thelma have seven children, 26 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren scattered throughout the United States.

Buffums signs new computer data contract

POMONA — Buffums has signed a 42-month contract with the McDonnell-Douglas Automation Co. which will handle all the company's data processing, except data entry.

Buffums operates nine department and specialty stores here and in other cities in Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties and has four additional stores either in the construction or planning stages in the same counties.

The contract, which is to begin Nov. 1, will have a value of about $725,000. McDonnell-Douglas will be responsible for all Buffums data-processing needs including accounts payable, receivables, sales analyses, payroll, inventory control and statistics.

Buffums' previous data-processing relationship was with Union America Computer Corp. A reorganization of that company made necessary its giving up of all nonbanking business.

McDonnell Douglas operates five major computer centers with 86 computers valued at $135 million nad last year had more than 1,300 clients throughout the county.

RICHARD GILLESPIE

K of C names new leader

POMONA — Richard Gillespie will head Knights of Columbus Council 877 as grand knight for the coming year.

Gillespie of Pomona served as deputy grand knight last year. Before he transferred to Council 877 he served as grand knight of the La Puente Council.

Cliff Truse of Montclair has been elected deputy grand knight.

Other new officers are Dan Savala, chancellor; Angelo Romeo, treasurer; Richard Hoch, recorder; and Frank Madrid, warden.

Elected guards are John Cullen, Paul Jeffers and Frank Mead. Ralph Smith was elected a trustee and joins Otto Brost and Roman Pfiffner in that position.

Gillespie succeeds Robert J. Sullivan as grand knight.

Under Sullivan's leadership, the council donated more than $1,800 to various Pomona charities, including Little League, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, last year.

Ontario 500 soapbox derby competition is scheduled

POMONA — Between 25 and 30 contestants begin competing for the Ontario 500 Festival Association's soapbox-type derby crown at Cal Poly Saturday morning.

Only 10 of the drivers and their cars will be eliminated from the competition, which concludes Sept. 1 in Ontario with the final runoffs.

Activities for Saturday's eliminations are scheduled to get under way at 8 a.m. with the mandatory inspection of the motorless cars. Competition will begin immediately afterward.

The sleek cars will be launched on specially designed ramps for their short runs.

Among the entrants is the "Spirit of Poly," a blue, three-wheeled racer which has won the Grand Prix at Cal Poly the past three years.

The race is co-sponsored by Student Chapter 86, Society of Manufacturing Engineers, Cal Poly and the Ontario Recreation and Parks Division.

PSH research chief going to conference

POMONA — Dr. Ricard C. Eyman, chief of research at Pacific State Hospital, will participate in a panel on community rehabilitation of the mentally retarded at the 81st annual convention of the American Psychological Association Monday in Montreal.

Dr. Eyman will discuss the development of self-help skills for the retarded in the community versus institutional training.

Montoya bill to aid kidney victims gains panel support

Legislation by Joseph B. Montoya, D-50th Dist., that would require the state to pay treatment costs for all Californians receiving kidney machine therapy won approval in the Senate Health Committee this week.

"The purpose of this bill is to permit persons on dialysis to obtain state assistance without pauperizing them by exhausting their personal holdings and income," Montoya said.

In order to qualify for state-assisted treatment many of California's 2,000 dialysis patients were forced to give up their jobs, he said.

"Existing regulations discriminate against the individual who is capable of working. Not only is there little incentive to work, but there is also little incentive to shift from the extremely costly hospital dialysis center to less expensive home-based care," Montoya said.

Montoya's bill would provide free treatment to patients with a "net worth" of less than $5,000 annually. Patients exceeding that amount would pay 1 per cent of the cost for each $5,000 of their net worth. The bill now goes before the Senate Finance Committee.

Pet snake goes on hunger strike and owners worry

Four months ago my brother and I bought a boa constrictor (South American, not Central). It is about 32 inches long and is very tame. But it has not eaten since we bought it four months ago.

The dealer does not know what to do and neither do we. I know that a three-foot boa can go up to six months without food. We have tried several methods including using warm dead mice as well as live.

We don't want to have to let the snake go if it gets worse because it is so tame. Should we just wait until the snake eats or should we do something else? The cage that it is living in is a 20-gallon aquarium with sterilized sand in it. It has a branch, a water container and is kept about 80 degrees Fahrenheit.

Perhaps you can get in touch with a snake specialist to help me solve my problem. — D.D., La Verne.

We found a snake specialist in your own home town, Dr. Robert Neher, professor of biology at La Verne College.

He says your boa may be sick or it may be temperamental. If it is the latter, the reason might be that it needs to shed.

If the snake is sick, it should have antibiotics prescribed by a veterinarian and finding one who specializes in snakes is difficult. You say that one you talked with didn't even want to touch your pet.

Neher thinks wild animals are better left in their natural habitat. Often those purchased as pets wind up with the Humane Society.

Conditions for caring for tropical animals are pretty rigid, he says, and if a person already has such a pet he should give it good treatment. He comments that it sounds as if you are doing a good job. He is willing to work with you to try to help your boa.

In March my husband received a phone call from an insurance company asking permission to send a representative to our home to explain a great policy.

We made an appointment with them. They sold us the GREAT policy for $20.25 per month. We were told we were covered as of that time, $15,000 on my husband, $14,576 on me, $2,000 on each child, accidental death double, on fare-paying vehicle triple indemnity, cash value at 65 years $7,500, etc.

On April 15 we received a "thank you for your application letter." The company promised our policy in a few weeks.

In May the company phoned requesting a physical (which we had been told wouldn't be required). On May 7, my husband took the physical.

In June I began to phone about the policy. First they told me our agent was no longer with them because of personal problems and the policy was going to be mailed that week. Then they couldn't find anything but would call San Francisco, the home office.

They then told me to phone Kaiser Health Foundation and get them to send our "pass medical." (My husband had an accident a couple of years ago and was in Kaiser Hospital for three days). At Kaiser, they said they had sent the report a week or more back.

When I phoned the firm again, I was told that if I didn't like it to cancel out. I phoned San Francisco, told someone how rude the man here was and was assured that action would be taken.

We received a letter on June 22 stating our policy would be issued in about 10 days. Then a man phoned and said we would get another kind of policy. He said he didn't have to tell us why but he would bring it out the next day. We've never heard from them again.

We don't want a refund or another policy. We want our original policy plan. — Mrs. R. S., Pomona.

We wrote to the San Francisco office. A woman phoned from that office to say the sales manager in charge of Southern California was investigating your complaint.

We immediately called you. The investigation must have been speedy because you said the policy had just been delivered.

Opinion

President's war power is unclear

Next to the head-on clash between Congress and President Nixon over the Watergate tapes, the question of "war powers" is the most crucial constitutional dilemma facing the nation at the present time.

The Constitution is clear about who may declare war. That is up to the Congress of the United States. But who may "make war"? The president, as commander in chief? Or is that, too, the prerogative of the legislative branch?

According to Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the staunchest advocate on his side of the controversy, the answer is the president. Historical precedent tends to back him up.

By his compilation, U.S. military forces have been engaged in hostilities abroad — without a declaration of war — at least 199 times. Almost half of these military actions lasted more than a month and some 103 of them took place outside this hemisphere.

Moreover, recalls Goldwater, the Constitutional Convention of 1787 rejected a clause giving Congress the power "to make war" and substituted for it only the power "to declare war." From brief records of the debate, he says, it is quite clear that the framers at least had a purpose of "leaving to the Executive the power to repel sudden attacks."

There is agreement on the latter point from the other side. But says Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman D-N.Y., "after careful study of the Constitution, I have concluded that the President lacks the power to begin or carry on a war without congressional approval for even one day, except in an emergency to repel an attack on this country. Nor should he have that power."

Rep. Holtzman, who led an unsuccessful attempt to have the Supreme Court halt U.S. bombing in Cambodia before the congressionally ordered cut-off date of Aug. 15, voted against the House version of a war powers bill. This bill would terminate hostilities in 120 days unless the president received specific congressional approval.

A Senate bill, sponsored by Sen. Jacob Javits, D-N.Y., passed in 1972 and again in 1973, would set a deadline of 30 days.

Numerous critics of both bills argue that rather than curbing presidential power in this area and hopefully preventing repetitions of the Vietnam and Cambodian experiences, simply attempting to "codify" the situations in which a president could plunge the country into a war would actually encourage more presidential military adventures.

To one observer, behind all the rhetoric seems to be an attempt to rewrite history by absolving Congress of any blame for Vietnam. But it is difficult to find any point in the long and sorry history of Vietnam where either bill would have made any difference. The Senate did, in effect, sanction this country's involvement with the Tonkin Gulf Resolution in 1964 by a vote of 88-2.

The entire question may be academic in view of President Nixon's threatened veto of whatever compromise bill Congress finally passes. Yet in the wake of the Watergate-inspired reaction against the growth of presidential power, there is an outside chance that a veto could be overridden.

This may be another case where constitutional vagueness is the least of all conceivable evils.

Again, except in the event of an actual or impending attack against the United States (which no one argues about) no president should have the power to make war without answering to Congress and the nation—not in 120 days, not in 30 days, but instantly.

The little, costly errors

San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Alioto recently asked public and press to be patient with BART, the Bay Area's partially completed rapid transit system, saying that the delays that have plagued it are not unlike those that have resulted in the recall of automobiles and defects in many commercial products, including typographical errors in newspapers.

The San Francisco Examiner agreed.

Faulty workmanship, it pointed out, "adds billions to the cost of doing business in the United States. It is reflected in the prices we pay for goods and services. It is reflected the taxes we pay at the city, state and federal level."

Management usually gets the blame for defects, and it "does indeed make its share of highly visible mistakes. But we're talking about those day-to-day mistakes that mess up products and infuriate consumers." Like typos. And stalled rapid transit trains.

In most cases, however, the error is a fairly simple one by a careless or casual worker hidden "far down the chain of command . . . invisible in a sea of faces on the production line." It could be any of us, because our vast technological progress has not yet produced the infallible, the errorless human being.

As the Examiner makes clear, the vast majority of employes do their work in a conscientious and competent manner. And in an earlier, simpler time, the human error factor usually did little harm. But in our highly complex technological society one of those errors can cause a lot of havoc.

It would be splendid if science could perfect some automatic corrector for our mistakes — at work or in out social relationships—but fallibility seems to be a permanent part of the human makeup. Until the millenium, then, we'll all just have to try a little harder.

Narcs can't compete with smugglers

WASHINGTON — The government's war against drug smuggling, trumpeted as one of the major domestic successes of the Nixon Administration, is losing the battle to fleets of small private planes and fast boats.

Classified documents from the Customs Bureau made available to us demonstrate the extent of the government's failure. They flatly state that the narcotics agents cannot compete with the ingenuity of the smugglers.

The dope runners have organized the most important small boat operation since the evacuation of Dunkirk and the government's fragmented narcotics forces are unable to cope with them.

"We must undertake a program to provide Customs control of small boat traffic entering the United States," one of the documents asserts. "Smuggling of narcotic drugs by small boats is a serious problem. At present, we have no means of effecting interdiction of drugs entering the United States by this means."

Private planes

The high flying dope peddlers operate with equal freedom, hauling their cargo of white powder from Mexico and Canada with virtually no opposition.

"Smuggling by means of private aircraft has grown in a situation where control of this commerce, for technical reasons, was not possible," the documents said.

In short, the situation is so out of hand that Mafia and free-lance traffickers have virtual carte blanche to haul their wares across the United States borders.

Federal antinarcotics officials have made elaborate plans to increase their efficiency in the air and on the water, but budget conscious bureaucrats have cut out this capability. For this fiscal year alone, the Office of Management and Budget has sliced the Customs budget for these plans from $11.4 million to $3.3 million.

Can't buy equipment

This penny-wise policy is preventing narcotics agents from acquiring sophisticated tools, including aircraft with special tracking equipment, boats fast enough to catch smugglers' craft and sensors to seek out the dope runners.

The drug fighters are using some electronic sensors borrowed from the military, but find them virtually worthless.

"To date, sensors available for boat surveillance have been rudimentary in nature," one Customs report states. "This situation exists because of the lack of developmental funding and technical capability that has existed for years within the Customs Agency Service."

The heavily publicized seizures of millions of dollars worth of narcotics are largely the work of old-fashioned customs and narcotics agents at ports or elsewhere, based on leads from painstakingly nurtured informants. Arrests of smugglers through random checks of small planes or boats have been few and infrequent.

Badly fragmented

Presently, the air-sea fight against drugs is badly fragmented between Customs at the Treasury Department and the new Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) at the Justice Department. A memorandum describing a meeting last month between Customs' air intrusion coordinators and George Brosan, a top Customs enforcement official, makes clear that neither agency knows what the other is doing.

There are about 50 planes of various kinds available at any one time to the two agencies for air and boat surveillance. But without cooperation between them through use of informers who signal the departure of a shipment from some lonely harbor or airport, the planes are useless. They cannot "picket-line" the entire border.

DEA, which may wind up with the whole program eventually, is too busy reorganizing to take on any new duties, particularly ones as complicated as the "Air Intrusion" operation.

The overall mess is best summed up by Brosan:

"Both the Drug Enforcement Administration and the Immigration and Naturalization Service have token programs. Neither can compare with the present Customs effort, and possibly some thought ought to be given to combining the three programs."

CIA PIG-STICKER: The men who work for the Central Intelligence Agency are traditionally regarded as close-mouthed characters who spend their waking hours tracking spies and tapping telephones.

Angus MacLean Thuermer, the agency's "public information officer," defies tradition. He is one of the nation's foremost "pig stickers" and he doesn't mind talking about it.

He became addicted to the exotic sport of "pig sticking" — which, in his words, is "a nicely underplayed British term for hunting wild boar on horseback with a spear" — while serving with the Foreign Service in India.

Last year, Thuermer went back to India for another hog hunt. When he returned to the states, he broke CIA tradition and published his memoirs of the hunt in an obsure weekly newspaper called the "Piedmont Virginian."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Boycotts can work both ways

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Consumer boycotts take two forms. In one, the consumer is the boycotter, as happened last spring when carnivorous supermarket customers rebelled against high meat prices.

In the other type, the consumer becomes the boycottee. As is happening now under Phase IV of the government's knockout blow against inflation.

Cattlemen, for example, are boycotting consumers by holding cows off the market to protest beef price controls.

And during the Labor Day weekend, according to the American Automobile Association, thousands of service station operators plan to boycott consumers by closing their doors in protest over gasoline price controls.

Furthermore, a survey by the National Federation of Independent Business shows that many gas stations are reducing their services even when they are open for business.

Such common amenities as washing windshields, checking radiators and airing up tires are rapidly being dispensed with. Fair enough.

We consumers have accepted these many civilities over the years with hardly so much as a "thank you." Now that gasoline dealers are in a profit squeeze because of price controls, it behooves us all to return the courtesy.

I'm not suggesting a motorist should get out of the car and wash the service station window every time he stops for gas.

But you can invite your gasoline dealer to stop and use your bathroom any time he's in your neighborhood. And there are numerous other ways you can show your appreciation for all that he has done for you.

Whenever I am having my tank filled, I make it a point to hand the attendant a few dozen Green Stamps.

If I purchase 10 gallons or more, I give him a free water glass imprinted with the likeness of Bobby Riggs clad in a loin cloth and dragging Billie Jean King across a tennis court by her hair.

When I use my credit card, I give him a certificate entitling him to buy a set of bone-handle steak knives at a big discount.

(The latter gift may seem an empty gesture in view of the aforementioned consumer boycott by cattlemen. But it's the spirit that counts.)

Finally, I give him a bonus card in an exciting game called "Lucky Bug." Each card contains the testimony of one of the Watergate witnesses. Anyone who can make two cards match wins a $5,000 papershredding machine.

As in the games that oil companies used to sponsor, the odds are 10,000 to 1.

Avoid scandalous gossip

Mr. Sawislak of the U.P.I. reports in your August 15th issue:

"It has been said that if Watergate had . . . been on the Thames instead of the Potomac, the prime minister . . . would be out." Just who would make such a silly report is not stated.

Whether the citizenry there would be as badly bugged by bugging is highly questionable. We do know it is accepted as a matter of course on the continent. In fact our own taboos are very recent. In any event it has not yet been established that the president was involved.

However, the chief deterrent to our extreme actions would be British law. The media would not be permitted to so vigorously beat the kettledrums.

The May 26th issue of the London Economist has just reported their government's findings of a committee chaired by Lord Justice Salruon to further restrict tribunals of inquiry and to prevent "rumour mongering."

We would do well if we were to "enshrine in legislation" such findings and avoid what Lord Justice Salruon refers to as scandalous gossip.—Ray O. Swanson, Pomona.

Some things never change!

First on the list come the crocodiles. They are the last existing members of the dinosaur group and have remained unchanged for 140 million years.

Then there are the politicians. For the last 3,000 years politicians have been rationalizing in the same old way: "The entire amount of these proposed salary increases for your dedicated government officials," they say, "will cost each taxpayer but a few cents each year."

Also, how about the overweight housewives whose excuse down through the centuries for being that way has been: My husband likes me this way?

And though I am leaving myself wide open to charges of racism, I still believe Kipling was right when he said: "East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet." — When a Japanese leader makes a blunder he commits harakari. In this country the smart leader lays the blame on the other fellow.

INSIDE REPORT

Nixon crowd tonic denied by security

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

NEW ORLEANS — Portraying not the self-confidence of a President convinced of his own rectitude, Richard M. Nixon launched a counterattack here on his legion of political enemies that even in the pro-Nixon bastion of the Veterans of Foreign Wars fell short of the mark with a sometimes painful thud.

"You noticed," a delegate to the VFW national convention lectured us later, "that no one here booed the President. That's why he comes to places like this, because he knows he will get a polite reception."

"Polite" was the right word: a thoroughly decent, unenthusiastic response to an uninspired speech that some of the President's own advisers felt did nothing to ease his agony with enemies or consolidate the loyalty of friends.

Yet, as an attempt to rally the waning Nixon constituency the speech here was an important one that placed Mr. Nixon squarely on the political offensive for the first time in months.

Applause is political tonic

The President's first strictly post-Watergate political foray to restore the activist presidency that gave him a near record landslide election nearly ten months ago was tarnished by an unfortunate incident even before it was launched. Thus, Mr. Nixon, for whom applause of huge crowds is singularly important as a political tonic, was denied those crowds here by a security scare. The Secret Service not only cancelled what looked like a promising motorcade through crowded sections of the city but also disbanded a mass of voters at the Rivergate Auditorium where he spoke.

Lacking that exhilarating crowd tonic, Mr. Nixon arrived on the stage at the Rivergate visibly nervous, unprofessional and trying too hard. He was escorted to his seat on the stage and took it quietly, with a shy wave to the packed throng of veterans. But suddenly, as though realizing an omission, he rushed to the podium, raising his arms three times in the familiar V for victory gesture. The move was that of a campaigner seeking applause and running for office, and the speech which followed it was likewise a speech of a candidate, not that of a secure possessor of the world's mightiest office.

To get on solid pre-Watergate grounds, charging that Democratic administrations had plunged the country into bloody war and he had gotten it out, Mr. Nixon attempted to recreate the political atmosphere of 1968 and 1969. The veterans here found the transition difficult to follow. As a result, Mr. Nixon was forced again and again to milk his crowd for applause.

He claimed that "thousands" of Americans were being killed every month in the war when he became President but that, because of his boldness in using American bombers and mine layers, he compelled the enemy to negotiate a fair settlement and now the war was over. It sounded like the 1972 campaign, and the applause seemed only an echo from last fall.

So Mr. Nixon milked harder. If he had to face a fresh decision now, he said, he would bomb the Cambodian border regions all over again just as he did in 1969. Again, the applause rolled over him, partly because his sympathetic audience knew he was asking for it. But there was no ovation.

Bombing is speech theme

Moreover, this attempt to create a political atmosphere in which Richard Nixon in fact acted strongly and wisely more than four years ago was spectacularly out of context with his present predicament. The Cambodian bombing has not become a truly major political issue, despite efforts of the antiwar bloc in Congress to make it one. Yet, it was the central theme of Mr. Nixon's speech.

The reason seems obvious. The Watergate-shrunk base of the new Nixon majority must be dramatically expanded if the President ever again is to wield real authority. To do that, he must start with natural allies like the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other special-interest groups with limited numbers.

Judging from his effort here, the mission the President launched to expand his base may prove impossible. As one VFW delegate summed it up, his speech "fits everything we stand for in the VFW, but I am still waiting to get the whole truth on Watergate."

Therein may lie the hidden trap of the President's developing counterattack.

Concerned about school safety, not stopping plan

Montoya defends airport bill against critics

WALNUT — Assemblyman Joseph Montoya says opposition is "highly exaggerated" to his bill requiring airport developers to pay for relocating schools from near future airport runways.

As the bill currently reads, it would require airport developers to pay all relocation costs for any school facilities within one-fourth mile of new airport runways.

Mrs. Christine Gilbert, chairwoman of Citizens Against the Airport, and Phil Anderson, Rowland school board president, want "runway" changed to "airport boundary" and the one-fourth mile distance converted to two miles.

"We are not concerned with stopping the airport, there are both advantages and disadvantages to it. What we're concerned about is the safety of children in the construction of the airport near a school," the 50th District assemblymen said in a telephone interview.

"We drafted a bill that we thought would take care of the situation and the safety of the children because we're not opposed to the building of the airport."

Both Mrs. Gilbert and Anderson said last week that the airport bill is too weak as it currently reads. Dr. Charles Ambellen, director of school planning on the state Board of Education, is reportedly also pushing for changes in the bill.

"We haven't heard any opposition from any groups or homeowners. We've only heard from Mrs. Gilbert. She is interested in stopping the airport completely and we don't have the power to do that. To say that we are unwilling to do something about it, about the school, is contradicted by the efforts we've made," Montoya said.

Mrs. Gilbert said Thursday that she represents a group that includes several hundred Walnut Valley residents. At its last meeting in May 200 persons attended, she said.

"The group asked me to pursue this bill in their best interest. These people have written letters and voiced their concern. Now they're just waiting for a public hearing because we can't do anything else right now," Mrs. Gilbert said.

The City of Industry airport site, which lies in a small flat valley surrounded by Walnut, West Covina and Diamond Bar residential areas, is about 1,000 feet from Walnut Elementary School. Long-range school district plans call for converting the facility into administrative offices, however.

Montoya's bill makes no provisions for proposed school sites or for long-range district plans for current school facilities. The Glenwick Elementary School site is also within one-fourth mile of the proposed general aviation facility.

The bill would require Industry to pay for new school buildings, a new site and all relocation costs, which Supt. David Brown estimted would cost $1.5 million.

Nominations open for R.H. school panel

ROWLAND HEIGHTS — Nominations are being accepted for a member of the Rowland unified School District's personnel commission to fill the unexpired, three-year term of Tom Dodge who has resigned.

Applicants will be interviewed by members of the Rowland Chapter of the California School Employes Association who will recommend a candidate to the school board for final approval.

The commission acts as an impartial third party serving the interests of the taxpayer, the district and the classified or nonteaching employes of the district.

Commission members receive no pay. They are charged under the state Education Code with providing rules and regulations for the administration of the district's classified personnel program.

They are responsible for recruiting and testing job applicants and determining minimum job qualifications, conducting salary studies and recommending salaries to the school board. They also must conduct hearings when an employe appeals any disciplinary action taken by the school board.

To qualify to serve on the commission, an applicant must be a registered voter, live within the district, be a known adherent to the merit system of employment, must not be on the school board nor be an employe of the district.

The commission meets monthly. All meetings are open to the public.

Walnut has to hurry on refuse pact

WALNUT — Rubbish is on the City Council's collective mind these days-rubbish that councilmen would like to see picked up under an exclusive city franchise.

About a month ago the council adopted an ordinance which permits the granting of a franchise, but unless the council grants the contract in the near future, it could cost the city far too much.

Presently the state Legislature is reviewing a bill which would make sure competitors forced out of an area by a new franchise get reimbursed for their resulting loss of business. Since the bill has not yet been passed, Walnut can beat the costly provision by granting the refuse franchise soon. Then, there would be no competitors harmed when and if the proposed law is entered in the statute books.

At this week's council meeting, City Atty. Samuel Siegel explained there are several steps to be taken before the contract can be arranged. Top consideration is listing the terms of the contract—how often trash should be picked up, how the service will be paid for, business and commercial requirements, and so forth.

Then, the council must determine how scavenger companies can compete for the franchise, whether by invitation, through general advertisement, or some other means.

A subcommittee composed of Mayor Richard Laughter and councilman William Cotter is consulting with Siegel on the question. They expect to return with some proposals at the council's first meeting in September.

Projects noted by the council included the club's help in building the West Walnut Pocket Park; presenting bicycle drag races and safety clinics, obtaining, painting and placing new trash receptacles in the city's parks; and painting the city hall.

The club has changed its meeting dates to the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month, at Mike's Barber Shop and Sea Grotto, 146 N. Pierre Road. Open to the public, the sessions start at 7:45 p.m.

Any men between 21 and 35 interested in joining the Walnut Jaycees should contact Vic Sewell at (213) 965-3806.

Asian ritual marks start of tract job

WALNUT — Ground was broken here this week for a 146-home subdivision during elaborate Japanese ground purification ceremonies conducted by the Rev. Taiichi Tsuyuki of the Konko Church.

The 1,500-year-old ceremony was conducted in four symbolic steps, including purification rites, prayers, an offering to the altar and the turning over of soil.

Local civic leaders and the La Solana Corp., developers, participated in the offering to the make-shift altar, set up in the open La Puente Road field. Tsuyuki invited them to present tree branches at the altar's base, symbolizing a "fresh mind, pure heart and brotherhood," he said.

La Solana President Masao Masai and others in the Newport Beach corporation are members of the Konko Church. The Japanese church has been active in the United States since 1936, he said.

The housing project will get under way within the next three weeks. It includes $30,000 to $46,000 homes on 8,500 to 1,050 square foot lots.

The project has been in the planning stages for over a year. It was originally intended as a residential planned development of condominums and large open areas but was blocked by citizen refereendum. La Solana then developed the current conventional housing plans.

VVC educators said their one-year respiratory therapy program is low-cost, high-quality training that leads to career opportunities as respiratory therapy technicians, a position in high demand in hospitals, clinics and medical centers.

Presently the Respiratory Therapy Department at VVC is in the process of applying for accreditation by the Joint Committee for Inhalation Therapy Education, made up of members of the American Medical Association and the American Association of Respiratory Therapy.

"The City of Walnut calls upon all citizens to observe this special period in honor of organized labor by patronizing the products and services of union labor identified by these time-honored emblems," the proclamation states.

One more plan to be reviewed

Decision delayed on Walnut impact expenditures

WALNUT — Councilmen here have delayed action on a proposal from engineering consultant Noel Christensen to create a reference environmental impact report for all city areas.

The proposed report, which the Lampman and Associates official said he would do free of charge, would reduce the cost of preparing environmental reports and simplify the information gathering process, Christensen said.

"Once the report is done and adopted by the council it will stand as the backbone for all future reports," Christensen said. It would include general reference information currently required in impact reports and would be expanded according to the characteristics of the development under study.

Councilmen postponed acceptance of the report until a similar Los Angeles County process can be reviewed. Councilman William Cotten said he wants "to try the county process on for size, to see how it works."

County Planning Consultant George Shindo and City Manager Andy Lazzaretto said, however, that the county environmental impact report service had been reviewed and was too expensive.

"What Lampman does for nothing the county will charge you for. An estimation of the EIR costs from the county aren't available because so many agencies are involved. The city would have to pick up the tab for any county department that participates in EIR preparation," Shindo said.

City officials met recently with Ray Ristic of the county engineering department to explore the possibility of utilizing his EIR service, Lazzaretto said. "If you implement the county service you have to use all of the county guidelines for adopting and working on impact reports," he said.

The law requires the city to prepare impact reports and then charge developers for their costs.

Christensen's proposal followed council criticism of high-cost impact reports currently required of most Walnut construction projects. Walnut pays Lampman a $600 a month retainer fee plus fees for individual projects it completes. Environmental impact reports for three recent city projects cost Walnut $3,600 above the $600 retainer.

"We're not in the business of selling impact reports to developers for the city," Christensen said. "The problem is that in protecting the city and ourselves in preparing the reports we have to follow all the state guidelines."

WILLIAM SCHALLERT

Schallert to clown in festival

HOLLYWOOD — Actor William Schallert, best known to television audiences as the father in the long-running Patty Duke series, will play the part of Touchstone, the clown, in the Los Angeles Free Shakespeare Festival production of "As You Like It."

The comedy will be open at the Pilgrimage Theater at 8:30 p.m. Sept.3.

Schallert, a native of Los Angeles, has been interested in live theater all his life. He made a study of repertory theater in Great Britain on a Fulbright Fellowship, and was one of the founders of the Circle Theater in Los Angeles.

Others in "as You Like It" are Penny Fuller, Joan Van Ark, Kristoffer Tabori and Roscoe Lee Brown. Alfred Ryder directs.

Marathon concert set at the Bowl

HOLLYWOOD — The Los Angeles Philharmonic will present "Mainly Mozart Marathon" at the Hollywood Bowl from 6 p.m. to midnight Wednesday. Tickets are $1.50 and no reservations are offered.

Lukas Foss will conduct the Philharmonic in such works as Haydn's Symphony No. 102 in B flat, Moxart's German Dances, K. 605, Gluck's "Dance of the Furies" and "Dance of the Blessed Spirits," and C.P.E. Bach's Sinfonia in F, W. 183, No 3. He will also play the piano with guest star violinist Pinchas Zukerman, for a performance of a Mozart Violin and Piano Sonata. Zukerman also will play the solo part in Mozart's Concerto in D. K. 218.

Excerpts from Mozart's "Idomeneo," are to be sung by sopranos Susan Belling and Jeannine Wagner, and tenor Roger Patterson. Miss Belling will also sing the concet aria "Ch'io mi scordi di te," K. 505.

Also programmed are concertos by such composers as Haydn, Winter and Albrechtsberger, and chamber works by Mozart, Haydn and Stamitz featuring members of the Philharmonic.

Jazz society plans picnic

POMONA — The Society for the Preservation of Dixieland Jazz will hold its annual picnic-concert on the picnic grounds of the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds starting at 2 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited.

The afternoon-long jam session will include performances by Dixieland musicians from all over Southern California. Refreshments will be on sale.

SPDJ, which has been meeting at Griswold's Pavilion in Claremont, will move back to the West Covina Elks Lodge, 841 W. Merced Ave., for its regular meetings starting Sept. 23. The move was made necessary because Griswold's is being remodeled. The club met at the West Covina Elks Lodge for 10 years before moving to Claremont.

SPDJ's busy summer has included a boat trip concert to Catalina Island, a ball game concert at Anaheim Stadium, and a birthday party for jazz trumpeter Teddy Buckner.

The society will give concerts at the fairgrounds Sept. 16 and 30, the first and last Sundays of the fair.

Soprano to solo with band

LOS ANGELES — Soprano Josephine Lombardo will sing operatic arias and selections from Broadway musicals in a concert of the Philharmonic Band in MacArthur Park at 2 p.m. Sept. 2. Admission is free

This is one of the many free concerts presented to the public by the Bureau of Music of the Muncipal Arts Department, in cooperation with Musicians Union, Local 47, and the Music Performance Trust Funds of the Recording Industries.

The band is conducted by Louis Palange. He played in radio program orchestras before joining the U.S. Navy, where he was put in charge of music for documentary films. He later was transferred to Washington. D.C., where he was in charge of music in all documentary ilms for 4½ years.

After the war, conducting for big radio and television shows was combined with leading a symphony orchestra in Los Angeles. The orchestral and band conducting increased until now he has seven musical units under his direction, for which he programs everything from symphonies to pop tunes.

Rattles & straws

The return of vaudeville

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Watching a baseball game on television presupposes a television set that works, a chair that does not have a dog lying in it, and a telephone and wife that do not sound off when the bases are loaded. It's not all that easy.

There's something very mysterious about the average husband-sports fan and his attempts to communicate with the world of professional athletics. I'm not saying it's a conspiracy . . . I'm not SAYING it.

During the pre-game show, or "warmup," only slightly more interesting than watching test patterns, the house is empty and still. Not a door creaks, not a step is heard. You might be in Grant's Tomb. While the TV camera wanders idly across the fans in the ballpark stumbling their way through our National Anthem, your home holds the sacred silence of Westminister Cathedral.

The first pitch, however, is like the curtain going up on a Broadway musical. In quick succession the phone rings, the dog barks to go out and the back door bangs open and someone's wife demands angrily "if it's too much to ask you to leave your—ballgame for a minute to help me in with the groceries!" Somebody thumps on the front door, a bearded teenager posing as your son throws a football at you, and the dog wets on the carpet. Murcer files deep to left.

If it's a crucial game, the living room of the suburban sports lover is a nine-inning circus. He might as well put on pancake makeup and a clown suit—he's not going to see any of the game.

All the evidence of this national conspiracy is, I grant, circumstantial. But why did little Lucy come to stand between you and the TV to show you her costume for the school play just as Robinson hit into that brilliant double play? You knock the kid sideways to see it on instant replay, and she is replaced by a large shaggy dog slavering joyfully in your lap with a slimy softball in his mouth.

Was it really accidental that the kids selling Girl Scout cookies came thumping on the door just as Pinson went to the centerfield fence for that spectacular back-handed grab? Was it just a coincidence that "the man about the water heater" showed up at the exact moment that Nettles lofted a two-run homer into the seats?

Those two-and-a-half hours of game time seemed to have been foreordained for a drop-in by Charlie and Betty Struthers, who have not dropped in since the World Series; for a visit by the Avon lady; for a telephone call from the office.

The minister and his wife stopped in ("We were just passing by"—and you wonder whey they didn't) as Torborg belted one to left—"White's going back—back—back—"

Curiouser and curiouser. Bases loaded, score tied in the bottom of the 11th inning—and Alomar blazes down the path in an attempt to steal home. And the television set suddenly goes dead as Junior flunks another science project in the cellar.

Watching a baseball game on television is what makes sports fans read about the game in the newspaper the next day.

ALL CHOKED UP — Hilda Allen as Mrs. Gillis gets rough treatment from Thom Roman as Howard in a scene from the Pacific Group Theater production of "The Man." The Mel Dinelli suspense drama will have its final performances at Valley Community Theater, 132 E. Third St., Pomona, at 8:30 tonight and Saturday. Richard Dow directs.

This will fix your clock

Does mention of a schoolhouse clock bring back a touch of nostalgia? It should, because if you were a clock-watcher in those days like most of us, you always looked forward to the hands hitting the Roman numerals that marked the recess hours, lunch and quitting time.

Nostalgia for the past is all the rage now and you can relive those "dear old golden rule days" by building the timepiece. It's pictured here with Agneta Eckemyr of Disney Studio's "The Island At The Top Of The World."

This easily-built clock is an exact replica of the original old schoolhouse model. There are no complicated miters. The octagon is cut from a single piece of pine. The moldings used on the pendulum box are readily available from your lumber dealer. Construction time is only about 6 hours, when you use our easy-to-follow, full-size pattern with step-by-step pictures and instructions.

The clock operates with a cordless pendulum movement, powered by standard batteries (available everywhere). You can stain and varnish the clock to match the finish typical of yesteryear. You may prefer to antique it. The whole thing's a fun project.

To obtain the full-size Schoolhouse Clock Pattern number 530, send $1.50 (add 25c per pattern for airmail delivery) by cash, check or money order to:

Home & Garden

Gardener's checklist

Set out annuals now for late summer and fall bloom. Marigolds, zinnias, asters, periwinkle and dwarf dahlias are a free-flowering fivesome to use to provide garden color.

Vegetables that are harvested early, before they mature and get tough on the plant, make the tastiest meals.

Chrysanthemums, by now, should have been cut back for the final time. Provide plenty of moisture and feed every three or four weeks until the flower buds show color.

Invited to a friend's home for a barbecue? Surprise your hostess by presenting her with living greenery. A piggyback plant to serve as a hanging basket, a bird's nest fern in a small wicker basket-like container, will show your appreciation and will delight her.

A midsummer feeding for the lawn is in order. If crabgrass is taking over, or a traditional weed problem exists in your lawn, have your nurseryman recommend control procedures

Autumn's best time to plant lawn grasses

By far the best time of year to seed cool-season lawn grasses — the Kentucky blue grasses, fine fescues, bent grasses, and pernnial rye grasses—is autumn. Good weather, a promising season ahead, and a more relaxed job schedule, then, combine to make autumn ideal for both new lawn seedings or for bolstering thin turfs. All of these grasses thrive on the bright, crisp weather that usually prevails during autumn. The soil should be dry enough to cultivate nicely, making a good seedbed.

Cultivating the soil before seeding helps the new lawn to a good start. Mix fertilizer amply into the soilbed, at the rate recommended on the bag (typically 10 to 20 pounds-1,000 square feet). Acid soils may need liming. A mechanical spreader distributes seed neatly. It will be useful later for maintenance fertilization and speading of pesticides. A surface mulch to prevent drying rounds out the new seeding. Only time (and enough watering to keep the soilbed moist) then stands between you and a cheerful carpet of green.

If soil cultivation is not feasible, perhaps your tired turf can be renovated merely by scuffing its surface ahead of overseeding. Powered turf thinners or scarifiers make rather light of this task. They can be rented in many urban areas. In some states knockdown chemicals are procurable. Best are types that leave no toxic residues in the soil. Killing unwanted vegetation before seeding ups the odds on survival of new sprouts. Just as with a new lawn, renovation requires regular watering

Proper cultivation is most important step in new lawn

Best for starting a new lawn, whether by seeding or sodding, is a cultivated soil bed. Plowed or rotary tilled soil should be free from competing vegetation (rake for the compost pile any old sod chunks that surface). Cultivation should extend at least two or three inches deep,with fertilizer mixed in during the operation (use rates recommended on the bag, usually about 10 pounds to each thousand square feet).

Level the surface, and if there is doubt about loose soil pockets water the lawn to settle the ground. Rake level, crumbling the surface again for good acceptance of seed. Soil left slightly lumpy rather than pulverized provides cracks into which seed can settle; and it better resists slaking, encouraging insoak rather than runoff.

Sow seed of good quality. A few cents saved on seed is no bargain if it means headaches later; even a minor percentage of weeds or other unwanted components can cause problems. Very few seed mixtures today are weedy, but some contain small amounts of agricultural seed, and inexpensive blends may be deliberately compounded with short-lived or coarser grasses. The label indicates if a mixture is composed 100 per cent of superior grasses such as bluegrass, fine fescue, bentgrass and perennial rye grass.

Of course there are always some dormant weed seeds in the soil, which become activated by cultivation. Autumn lawn seeding has the advantage of soon dooming the most prevalent weeds, those needing warm weather. Any cool-weather weeds can be cleaned up later with a weed killer if they are not squeezed out by the grass.

Soil bed preparation should be just as careful for sodding as for seeding. Sod laid to hard, uncultivated soil has little chance of striking root and lasting any length of time. And just as you wouldn't plant weedy seed, specify cultivated rather than old field sod, available in blends of Merion and many other of the attractive new varieties.

Sod would not hold together well if it were not for Kentucky bluegrass. Bluegrass spreads by underground stems called rhizomes which weave into a network of living strands. Many pounds of pull are required to tear a square of sod in half.

Tests at the University of Michigan have shown that as little as 10 per cent of a good sod-forming variety such as Merion Kentucky bluegrass, will serve to hold sod together (the remainder may be fescue, perennial ryegrass or something else). Ordinarily, however, at least 70 per cent of the seeding mixture is bluegrass.

PRETTY TIMELY — Agneta Eckemyr is pretty all the time, but this build-it-yourself school clock arrives just in time for the nostalgia craze. So, clock-watchers, fuel your memories!

THEOSOPHY

The Mind After Death

When a person dies all the forces of the body and mind rush through the brain, and by a series of pictures the whole life just ended is imprinted indelibly on the inner man (the reincarnating EGO) not only in a general outline, but down to the smallest detail of even the most minute and fleeting impression. When this solemn work is over, the astral body detaches itself from the physical body and the mind is in a subjective state. The "OCEAN OF THEOSOPHY" pages 99 - 116 (available at Public Library) will give a detailed explanation. A free discussion is held every Sat., 8 p.m. at 507 TEXAS ST., POMONA. Nuptial vows said by couple in Chino

A candlelight ceremony at the First Christian Reformed Church in Chino united in marriage Miss Corrine Marie VanderSchaaf and Kenneth Koolhaas.

The Rev. Louis Dykstra officiated at the evening rite.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John VanderSchaaf of Ontario chose a chantilly lace gown trimmed in beads with a cathedral train for her wedding. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Bill Dotinga of San Bernardino served as matron of honor for her sister. Mrs. Jim Heida of Corona, another sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Candlelighters were Janice Koolhaas, sister of the groom, and Bev VanderSchaaf, sister of the bride. Joni VanderSchaaf, sister of the bride, held the guest book.

Billy Dotinga, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Fred Ritsema of Grand Rapids, Mich., served as best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Koolhaas of Chino. Ushers were Dennis Koolhaas, brother of the groom, and John VanderScaff, brother of the bride.

A reception dinner at Griswold's Inn was attended by 350 guests.

After a week-long honeymoon in the Hawaiian Islands, the newly-wed couple is making its home in Corona.

Mrs. Koolhaas graduated from Cal Poly and is now teaching at Valley Christian High School in Bellflower. Her husband graduated from Calvin College, Grand Rapids, Mich., and works at his father's dairy.

'Kicking the habit'

Smokers make excuses

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some people can quit smoking "cold turkey," some turn to various clinics to kick the habit, and some even try hypnosis.

Then there are the smokers who make lovely excuses for going right on using the weed.

A Mayo Clinic specialist has compiled a list of excuses from his patients on why they go on puffing. Dr. Leon Shirlaw's list is in the current newsletter from the Health Insurance Institute.

There is the reasoning given by one patient, "It is the only way I can clear my chest in the morning." Another says, "It steadies my nerves."

The physician lists these others:

"My father was a nonsmoker. Look what it did to him!"

"If I stopped I'd put on weight."

"You only live once." Or, "You only die once."

"It makes it possible for my wife to live with me."

"My son collects cigarette cards."

"It makes life with my wife bearable."

Dr. Shirlaw smokes too, but insists for a "genuine reason." He explains, "I smoke because it makes me cough. And coughing is the only genuine exercise I get these days."

The statistics are nothing to sneeze about.

The season is upon us when one out of every 15 Americans suffers allergic symptoms and hay fever instead of the weather often is the opening for a conversation.

There are a lot of misconceptions about familar allergies and to correct some of them, the Long Island Jewish-Hillside Medical Center at New Hyde Park, N.Y., has put together a quiz.

The center, which originated the pollen count, uses the Durham Counting Chamber, a device that traps airborne pollen grains on a miscroscopic slide.

Its reports are fed daily to news media in the greater New York area. Other medical centers in other parts of the country now are doing the same for their areas.

Now for the quiz.

If a person has "rose fever" he or she is allergic to roses, goldenrod, or grasses? Answer: grasses.

If a person has "hay fever" he or she is allergic to goldenrod, ragweed or hay? Answer: ragweed.

Most pollen is dispersed from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m., or from midnight to 6 a.m? Answer: from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The best place for a hay fever suffered on a day with high pollen count is in his own neighborhood, at the beach or in the mountains? Answer: at the beach.

A friend of mine is in with an idea for families with little ones around. It's an identification bracelet...protection in case the child wanders off.

In her case, her son going on 2 and not able yet to communicate name, address and telephone number has two identification bracelets. One is for summer, giving the necessary information for their beach residence. The other is for winter, with the information for their town address.

SHADED DRIVER

Jerry Grant gets some shade provided by pit crew between runs at OMS. Grant was one of a number of drivers to top 190 mph Thursday. He hit 190.645 mph in his Olsonite Eagle.

Bobby may have fastest car again

By CURT WEBSTER
P-B Staff Writer

ONTARIO — Bobby Unser appears, once again, to have brought the fastest machine in the field with him to Ontario Motor Speedway.

Unser, who set the official track record of 201.965 m.p.h. in qualifying for last year's California 500, turned in the fastest lap of the week's practice for the '73 500 Thursday afternoon.

Unser piloted his Dan Gurney-designed Olsonite Eagle around the oval to post a speed of 196.014 in a late afternoon practice run.

Unser's ride was almost three miles an hour faster than the second best speed of the day, 193.681 set by Peter Revson's Gulf McLaren.

Should Unser put the car on the track today, he stands a good chance of shattering the 200 mile barrier even before Saturday's qualifying runs get under way, a feat unprecedented in Ontario history.

Lee Kunzman, meanwhile, continued to give warning that he may do something spectacular Saturday as he posted the third fastest lap of the day, a 193.208.

Kunzman, 29, is competing in only his second full season on the United States Auto Club (USAC) Championship season.

Lloyd Ruby didn't better his 195.865 showing of Wednesday, which stands as the second best speed of the week so far.

While Unser was capturing the limelight, a trio of his solidest competiton made its first appearance of the track.

Al Unser, Joe Leonard, and Mario Andretti of the Vel's-Parnelli "Super Team" took their reworked Parnellis out in the morning session.

Mechanics in the team's Torrance garage have been rebuilding the distinctively shaped machine's body design over the past week.

The Grant King-built Kingfish suspension was installed on each car. To accomodate the change, four inches had to be shaved off the distance from the back of the driver to the engine, and then had to be added to the nose of the machines.

Leonard posted the best speed of the three, a 188.261. Unser ran a 186.366, and Andretti a 183.839.

All in all, 12 drivers broke 190 m.p.h. Thursday, including Mark Donohue and Indianapolis 500 winner Gordon Johncock. Donohue's Sunoco Eagle achieved a top speed of 191.330, while Johncock's STP Eagle ran a 191.192.

Only one crash marred the fourth day of practice. Lee Brayton's Coyote hit the wall coming out of Turn One a total of three times and wound up in the infield, just below the head of the backstretch.

Brayton, miraculously, wasn't injured, but his car received extensive damage. The right front wheel was torn from the body of the car compeltely.

Graham McRae drove his STP Eagle out of the pits Thursday afternoon while battling a case of chicken pox. The illness had been diagnosed at Loma Linda Hospital and kept McRae off the track Wednesday.

McRae's Eagle stalled, however, on the backstretch and he required a tow to get back into the pits.

L.A. holds three-game advantage

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers have a three-game lead over second-place Cincinnati in the National League West today as they open a three-game series against Philadelphia.

The Dodgers beat the New York Mets in another squeeker —5-4-Thursday night after the Reds lost their third straight to the Chicago Cubs.

Claude Osteen had his troubles but settled down after the fifth inning and turned back 13 batters in a row as he got his 15th win against six losses. This was the fourth win this season over the Mets for Osteen.

"It was a night I'll probably remember for a long time," said Osteen. "It was an unusual night because I've had such good rhythym lately. But I went out there in the first inning and I knew things were going wrong. I didn't have it in the early innings."

Willie Crawford caught a line drive off the bat of Jerry Grote in the sixth inning to start a double play and Osteen became effective after that.

"I got my balance back," he said. "From then on, I was throwing okay. I wasn't as fine as I am normally, though. I was all over the plate for the first five innings. I got good support behind me."

Osteen had 18 scoreless innings against the Mets going into the game.

The game was tied at 4-4 after five innings. In the sixth, Joe Ferguson rapped his third double to bring in Willie Davis with the tie-breaker. Davis singled off reliever Buzz Capra, 2-6, to set up the score. Ferguson's other doubles were in the fourth and fifth innings and he scored both times.

Crawford drove him home in the fourth inning with a double that tied the score. The Mets got one run in the first inning and their second in the fourth. Willie Mays drove in the first run with a single and pitcher Jon Matlack singled in the second.

The Mets got the 4-4 tie in the fifth with two runs on a walk, singles by Mays and John Milner and a sacrifice fly by Cleon Jones. The Dodgers had taken a 4-2 lead in the top of fifth on Davis' two-run homer, Ferguson's second double and Bill Russell's single.

Tommy John, 11-7, faces the Phils' towering Wayne Twitchell, 12-5, tonight.

Rams look for first win in Miami

By United Press International

It's taken nearly a month but Coach Don Shula of the world champion Miami Dolphins finally will get his Super Bowl backfield together.

Mercury Morris will join quarterback Bob Griese, out last week with an elbow infection, in the Miami backfield tonight when the Dolphins play host to the Los Angeles Rams. Csonka has been out with a calf injury and Morris has a bad hip

The Dolphins' offense, best in the National Football League last season when they churned out an unprecedented 17 consecutive victories, has been struggling during pre-season play. Miami has been unable to put more than two touchdowns on the board in any of its four games and was held to only three field goals last week in a 9-9 tie with Chicago.

The Rams, under new coach Chuck Knox, also have been having their problems. They have yet to win in three preseason games, losing two and tying one. Los Angeles, with veteran John Hadl at the controls tonight, has scored only 31 points in its three games.

"We're not feeling any pressure," says Shula. "We realize that every team coming in wants to beat us. Our goal is individual and team improvement. We haven't met the Rams since 1971 and they've undergone a lot of changes since them, the addition of Hadl being one of the most recent and most important.

"We thought Hadl did a good job against us last year when he was with San Diego and I'm sure he'll be a good leader for the Rams. I've known Chuck Knox for a long time and I'm sure he has the makings of a successful coach."

Cincinnati is at Detroit in the only other game scheduled tonight while in Saturday action, Atlanta plays Cleveland at Knoxville, Tenn., Oakland meets Minnesota at Berkeley, Calif., Baltimore is at Washington, New England at New Orleans, Philadelphia at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis.

On Sunday, Pittsburgh plays the Giants in New York, Green Bay is at Kansas City, Chicago at Buffalo and Denver at San Francisco.

Paul Brown has won only three times at Detroit in his long coaching career and two of those have been preseason games. Ken Anderson is expected to return as Bengal quarterback after missing last week's game and No. 1 draft pick Isaac Curtis, a speedy wide receiver from San Diego State, is expected to make his debut for Cincinnati.

Detroit quarterback Greg Landry comes off a strong performance last week in the Lions' first pre-season loss.

In Thursday night's "Battle of Texas", Dan Pastorini threw three touchdown passes, including a 24-yarder to Fred Willis with just 72 seconds left, to lead the Houston Oilers to a 27-24 upset of the Dallas Cowboys.

The victory was Houston's first after three straight preseason losses and a 1-13 record last year.

"We showed them we can come through in the clutch," said Pastorini, who also threw 26 yards to Billy Parks and 15 to Dave Parks for TDs. "We showed ourselves we aren't losers and we showed the fans that we aren't losers. With the new players we have now and the good attitude we have, we will be winners—I know it."

In news from the camps Thursday, running back John Riggins, who reported five weeks late and sporting a Mohican haircut, said he will sit down with Weeb Ewbank, the New York Jets' coach and general manager, to discuss contract terms this weekend. Riggins was the Jets' MVP last season.

Defensive lineman Jack Gregory of the Giants will probably miss Sunday's game against the Steelers. Gregory was called back to his home in Mississippi Thursday because of illness to his new-born son.

The Steelers will be without two offensive starters, tackle Jon Kolb and guard Bruce Van Dyke, and several others players, including star running back Franco Harris, are doubtful.

Atlanta traded running back Willie Belton to Buffalo for defensive end Louis Ross and New Orleans Coach J.D. Roberts said he'll start Bobby Scott at quarterback against New England in place of the injured Archie Manning.

Yanks battle Russ cagers

U.S. seeks a measure of satisfaction over hosts

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States, its spirits brightened by a five gold medal sweep in swimming, can gain a measure of satisfaction in its futile chase of the Soviet Union at the World University Games today when the two powerful nations meet head-to-head in the honor-bound finals of the basketball competition.

The U.S., whose battle-fatigued cagers had to struggle to a narrow 66-60 victory over Brazil after Wednesday's chair-throwing brawl with Cuba, can atone for the Americans' overall disappointing showing in the Games with one quick KO of the Russians. The Soviets earned the right to the final by beating Canada, 89-74.

Regardless of the basketball outcome—or even of the David Johnson-led five gold medals the Americans took in swimming Thursday—the host Russians' insurmountable gold medal total has now reached 56 while the U.S. is a distant but solid second with 13.

Obviously shaken from the bloody knockdown melee with the Cubans only 24 hours earlier, the American cagers experienced frequent ragged streaks against the Brazilians before finally putting the game away with some "freeze" tactics in the last few minutes.

"We're gonna have to do a lot better if we're gonna win this thing," said Quinn Buckner, an Indiana guard who scored his lowest point total (10) of the U.S. all-winning seven games here.

"But I know a lot of guys didn't get too much sleep last night," Buckner said.

For a while, it looked as though the Americans were going to blow the Brazilians off the floor when they rolled up an early 19-3 lead. Brazil kept coming back, however, and surprisingly matched the taller Americans in rebounds in the second half.

"We just got sloppy after that big lead," said David Thompson of North Carolina State, who again led the U.S. with 17 points.

If the U.S. basketball victory was in doubt, the performance of the resurgent American swimmers was not. Headed by Johnson, a teammate of Cathy Carr's under New Mexico Coach John Mechem, the U.S. swimmers grabbed every gold medal in sight.

Johnson, of San Diego, Calif., who won the 200-meter backstroke on Wednesday, came back 24 hours later to cop the 100-meter event in 59.9 after trailing at the turn. Johnson thus joined teammate Allen Poucher of Jacksonville, Fla., as the only U.S. athletes to hold two individual gold medals.

Jack Tingley of Lousville, Ky., then added the men's 400-meter freestyle to the American gold, winning in a new games record of 4:02.9.

That brought on the U.S. women, and they did not disappoint. Ann Simmon of Long Beach, Calif., and Jill Strong of Tucson, Ariz., led a 1-2 American sweep of the 400-meter freestyle and Irene Arden of Vancouver, Wash., followed that with 1:06.1 come-from-behind win in the 100-meter butterfly. Miss Simmons' winning 400-meter time was a university games record of 4:28.8.

The final American swim gold medal went to the men's 400-meter relay team of Mark Elliott of Oklahoma City, Okla., Paul Tietz of Bartlesville, Okla., Dean Anderson of North Highlands, Calif., and Ken Knox of Glen Ridge, N.Y. They outswam the Soviet Union with a time of 3:28.6, second fastest ever in the world.

The two Russian gold medals came in freestyle wrestling and water polo.

The Cuban basketball team, which offered what U.S. coach Ed Badger called "a very apologetic" response to the technical committee for Wednesday's courtside fireworks, was much more subdued in defeating Czechoslovakia 64-58. However, the Cubans still managed to pick up 33 fouls in the game.

Winkles kids about Angels' comeback win

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Bobby Winkles had just one question.

"Who got the winning hit, Llenas or Short?"

The California manager could afford to be flippant after the Angels rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to pull out a 6-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Thursday night.

The win moved the Angels into a tie with Minnesota for third place in the American League West.

California loaded the bases in the seventh after pulling within a run. Milwaukee reliever Chris Short then struck pinch-hitter Winston Llenas on the foot to force in the tying run. A walk to Sandy Alomar gave the Angels the go-ahead run.

Winkles also took the opportunity to apologize to umpire Larry McCoy for a dispute in the second inning in which McCoy ruled a ground-rule double for Bob Oliver.

Oliver's blast appeared to have landed just beyond the left field fence but McCoy said it bounced back onto the playing field and never fell into home run territory.

Both Winkles and Oliver argued profusely following the play.

After his bullpen vindicated McCoy's call, however, Winkles said he had no further argument.

"It just hit a rope that holds up the padding," Winkles said. "If I'm wrong, I'll admit it."

The ball came so close to going out, however, that reliever Dave Sells said: "If we'd have been smart and just kicked the bullpen fence, it would have fell over for a home run."

California starter Clyde Wright, who picked up the decision after his eighth try at win No. 8, is still just two losses shy of tying the club record of 19 defeats in a season.

Despite not having won in 36 days, Wright was philosophical about the rest of the season.

"I'm just going to give it all I have for the rest of the year," he said, "and hope for the best."

Dick Lange, 1-0, goes for the Angels tonight when they open a three-game series against the Boston Red Sox, who will start Bill Lee, 13-8.

Suspension of Rentzel upheld

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A Superior Court judge Thursday upheld NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle's suspension of wide receiver Lance Rentzel of the Los Angeles Rams.

"It is clear that the defendants have sought for years to establish a standard of public conduct for professional football participants, including players," ruled Judge David A. Thomas, who added:

"This standard includes the portrayal of players as high type, admirable young men who are worthy of the respect and emulation of the young."

WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE —Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini flies through the air Thursday night after being hit by Dallas lineman. Oilers came away with a 27-24 upset, however.

Oilers rejoice, 27-24

Cowboys stunned

HOUSTON (UPI) — Coming into the game the Houston Oilers had lost their last 14 preseason and regular season games. They were victors in just one game of their last 19 and that victory was an upset.

But Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini believes with the Oilers' dramatic upset over Dallas, the worst team in the NFL last year has shed its image of the perennial loser.

Pastorini passed for two touchdowns within the last six minutes of the fourth quarter Thursday night to bring the Oilers from 11 points behind to a 27-24 triumph and their first victory since the Oct. 1, 1972, upset of the New York Jets.

"We showed them we can come through in the clutch," Pastorini said. "We showed ourselves we aren't losers and we showed the fans that we aren't losers.

"With the new players we have now and the good attitude we have we will be winners," the 23-year-old, third-year quarterback said. "I know it."

Pastorini took the Oilers 71 yards in 10 plays for the winning touchdown. Facing a fourth and three, running back Fred Willis circled out of the backfield, shot behind weakside Dallas linebacker D.D. Lewis and took Pastorini's 24-yard strike for the winning TD with 1:12 to play.

Pastorini also threw a 26-yard touchdown pass to former Cowboy Billy Parks with 5:48 to play to pull the Oilers within striking distance. In the second quarter he threw a 15-yard scoring strike to Dave Parks.

Skip Butler kicked second quarter field goals of 25 and 42 yards for Houston.

The Oilers ran the ball well against the Cowboys but that was just frills as Pastorini hit on 17-of-31 passes for 245 yards.

For Dallas, Craig Morton fared a little better than Roger Staubach in their battle for No. 1 quarterback. Morton hit on 8-of-11 for 125 yards and Staubach was 8-of-14 for 108 with one interception.

Morton took the Cowboys 80 yards in nine plays to open the second half. He threw only twice in the drive and both were complete. On a third and six at the Oiler eight, Morton hit Otto Stowe with a touchdown pass.

Robert Newhouse, who attended the University of Houston, scored the final Cowboy TD, taking a pitch from Morton at the Oiler 25 and barrelling to the end zone.

"I'm satisfied with the way I played," Morton said. "I'm excited about this pre-season. I'm really fighting for this job —I want it."

Cowboys Coach Tom Landry wasn't that enthusiastic. "It was obvious we didn't come to play," he said. "We just played in spurts and in pro football you can't do that against anyone."

Meet records tumble in AAU swim, diving championships

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— Meet records continued to fall Thursday at the National AAU swimming and Diving Championships here, but competition was marred with a disqualification in the last of the night's six events.

After winning the men's 400-meter medley relay by three seconds, John Hencken of the winning Santa Clara, Calif., "A" team jumped into the pool to congratulate his teammate, Joe Bottom—while the final relay teams were still finishing the event.

The instant disqualification, and loss of team points, put the Gatorade "A" team of Indiana University in first place, posting a 3:56:577 time.

The time was short of a meet record by about seven-tenths of a second.

Santa Clara had finished with a time that would have broken the meet record, making four in the night's six events.

Three meet records fell—the men's and women's 200-meter freestyle and the women's 400-meter medley relay.

Shirley Babashoff held off American record-holder Keena Rothhammer in the last 50 yards to win the women's 200-meter freestyle in 2:04:635, off the world mark by about a second.

In the men's 200-meter freestyle, Jim Montgomery of the Badger Dolphins, Madison, Wis., set a meet record with a 1:53:698, a full second off Mark Spitz' 1970 AAU record.

Four swimmers representing one of the two Santa Clara Swim Club were timed 4:30:131 in the women's 400-meter medley relay, breaking the 1970 mark by 1.1 second.

Results of the other events Thursday at the Plantation Country Club included Santa Clara's Jennifer Bartz capturing the title for the women's 400-meter individual medley in 5:08:735, and Rich Colella of the Kirkland, Wash., Totem Lake Swim Club winning the men's event for that distance in the medley in 4:32:386.

Cubs end the drought with five wins in last six games

CHICAGO (UPI) —Maybe with the arrival of rain, the drought has ended for the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs, onetime leaders of the National League's Eastern Division, ended an 11-game losing streak on the just-ended home stand by beating the Western Division leading Los Angeles Dodgers. Then they would up the home stand with five wins in six games against the Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds, running second in the West.

The final win came in the rain Thursday and Cub Manager Whitey Lockman said the "weather conditions made it a little sloppy." But he made no apologies for the two unearned runs in the 10th inning which produced a 4-3 win.

"It affected both sides in scoring runs," he said. "We won our share like this coming back early in the season and then it was just the opposite during that other thing. But in weather conditions like this, I made up my mind to play for one run as often as possible."

Throwing errors with the wet ball helped each side and Don Kessinger, who had the winning hit for the Cubs, said, "they got two runs on our mistakes but the weather made it tough for everybody. With the wet ball, a lot of things are going to happen on a day like this."

There was an intermittent heavy drizzle for the last five innings and Billy Williams' throwing error with two out in the 10th allowed Darrel Chaney to score from second on Pete Rose's grounder to put the Reds ahead 3-2. But pitcher Clay Carroll threw wild on Ron Santo's grounder to open the 10th for the Cubs, allowing Santo to reach second, and pinch-runner Matt Alexander advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Paul Popovich's single.

Randy Hundley and Jim Hickman followed with singles and Popovich, trying to score the winning run, was out at the plate on Hickman's hit. But then Kessinger came through with the winning hit.

"I thought any kind of hit would win it," he said. "I just tried to find the hole."

"I felt all along if we play our game we can beat anybody," Lockman said.

The Cubs' game, obviously, also includes winning in the mud.

Gabe returns to West Coast

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — Roman Gabriel, unimpressive in Philadelphia's first three pre-season games, returns to the West Coast Saturday night for the Eagles' game with the San Diego Chargers.

The former Los Angeles Rams star was given the starting nod Thursday by head coach Mike McCormack, who said he'd go with the veteran signal-caller for most of the game.

In splitting the quarterbacking duties with John Reaves during the first three games, Gabriel has been unable to lead the Eagles' offensive unit to a touchdown.

The Eagles have dropped two of three games, winning their opener 13-6 in Buffalo and dropping the last two games, 45-21 to Cincinnati and 17-3 to Pittsburgh.

The club scored its four touchdowns in those three games under the direction of second-year man Reaves.

Two Eagles' starters, guard Vern Winfield and linebacker John Sodaski, will return to action against the Chargers. Both players suffered minor injuries in the Cincinnati game and were forced to sit out the Steeler contest. McCormack said Winfield would return to the starting lineup and Sodaski would see plenty of action Saturday night.

The Eagles, however, will be without the services of veteran running back Lee Bougess. The former Louisville star suffered a depressed fracture of the cheek bone in last week's game and will be lost for at least two more weeks.

Bouggess' spot on the roster was taken by rookie running back Greg Oliver, the Eagles' 17th-round draft choice from Trinity (Tex.) College.

Rookie defensive back Ken Schlezes of Notre Dame probably will miss Saturday night's game due to a pulled hamstring.

Infield camper parking for Cal 500

ONTARIO — Infield camper parking will be allowed for the first time at the Ontario Motor Speedway prior to the running of the California 500.

The camper gate will open at 4 p.m. Sept. 1, and remain open until 5 a.m. the following morning to allow campers access to the massive infield.

A special camper lane will form at the intersection of Haven Avenue and G Street to channel the campers to the gate and under the race track.

Admission is $10 for each vehicle and $5 for each occupant of the camper. Children eight and under will be admitted free.

Camper parking stickers are available in advance at the Speedway ticket office, or at the special gate the day before the race.

Stakes race at Del Mar to be split

DEL MAR — As has been the pattern for eight of its previous 10 renewals, Del Mar's Osunitas Stakes lured enough fillies and mares in search of their first stakes victories to cause a split in the event, and will go as the seventh and eighth races Saturday's program.

The talent-laden first division of the mile and one-sixteenth turf affair is sparked by the presence of three recent winners—Cutty, Photo-Player and Fire Spirit. With 10 entrants that half will be worth $17,780 in total purses, while the second division, featuring nine distaffers, is valued at $17,525.

Cutty, half of the Buster Millerick-trained entry with Turf-Loving Bosun's Gem, has never competed on the grass duringher brief career. Daughter of Smart Ended the 11-race win streak of Batucada her last time out with a 1.41-4-5ths mile and one-sixteenth on the dirt, notching her fifth victory in nine starts.

Apprentice Steve Valdez, Del Mar's leading rider, has the mount on Cutty, in at 115. Photoplayer, a recent wire-to-wire winner on the Grass and Bazaar Talk share top weight at 118 in the first division.

Lady Debbie (112) and Daddy's Datsun (107) enter the second half of the Osunitas fresh from victories over the Del Mar grass, using completely opposite methods.

The former, a five-year-old daughter of Lucky Debonair, uncorked a stretch charge that found her three lengths in front at the end of seven and one-half furlongs, while Daddy's Datsun owned all of the fractions in her two-length score at the same route.

Valdez, who won both halves of the split Rancho Bernardo Handicap last weekend, goes for another sweep with Daddy's Datsun, and Jerry Lambert has the call on Lady Debbie.

While Daddy's Datsun is the only three-year-old to challenge her elds in the second division, Fire Spirit and Merry Madeleine carry that distinction in the second half. Fire Spirit emerges from an impressive triumph over her peers at a mile on the main track.

Palm Lake Jr. tourney

POMONA — Twenty-four Pomona Valley youngsters competed recently in the monthly junior tournament at Palm Lake Golf Course in South Pomona.

Frank Greham fired a 68 over 18 holes to take honors in the 15-17-year old age bracket. Shooting 69 were Brent Jetton and Bill Moore, who tied for runnerup spots in that age bracket.

In the 13-14-year-old group, Gary Calvor shot 71 to win while Steve McGuire (74) and Steve Jetton (76) finished out the top three.

Ken Robinson's 71 was good for first place in the 11-12-year-old division. Runnerup was Mike Stella with a 93. John Bufch's 94 was good for third.

Robinson learned to relax

By United Press International

Bill Robinson, who almost worried himself out of baseball only two years ago, has finally become a cause of worry to the opposition.

Robinson, billed as a future superstar when he came to the New York Yankees in a trade with Atlanta in 1966, let a case of nerves almost ruin his career and seriously contemplated quitting in 1971 when he failed in an effort to make the Chicago White Sox.

He decided to give himself one more chance, however, and adopted a new approach to the game which succeeded in helping him develop his natural talents to a professional level.

Robinsons' new philospophy was simple—relax. He decided not to worry about his play in the field, and it began to pay off last year when he hit .304 with 20 homers at Eugene in the Pacific Coast League.

That resulted in his being called up to the Philadelphia Phillies for the second half of last season, and though he batted only .239 in 82 games, he delivered some timely hits.

This year he has been a terror at the plate since the opening of the season. His play reached a high point Thursday night when he belted a pair of homers to lead the Phillies to a 6-3 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Robinson, who has belted 21 homers this year—only three less than he had hit in four previous big league seasons—has played in 90 of the Phillie's 126 games so far and is batting .298 with 55 runs batted in.

"It's no secret," said Robinson, referring to his amazing turnaround. "It's just a case of relaxing and making contact. I think that is the basis of any good hitter, just to make contact, just try to meet the ball. I think I have a chipped bone in my left elbow and I can't really swing as hard as usual. Maybe that's what has helped.

"Two years ago I contemplated quitting baseball and then I decided just to go out and have some fun. If I had a bad game I didn't worry about it. I sit back and wish I had had this attitude before."

Robinson's two homers and a solo shot by Greg Luzinksi, his 23rd, enabled Jim Lonborg to notch his 11th victory in 21 decisions. It also spoiled a fine performance by second-year man Dave Roberts of the Padres, who had a double, tripie and homer in a losing effort.

In the only other National League contests, Los Angeles downed New York 5-4 and Chicago edged Cincinnati in 10 innings, 4-3. California defeated Milwaukee 6-3 in the only American League game.

Joe Ferguson's third double of the game scored Willie Davis with the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning to give the Dodgers a victory over the Mets. Claude Osteen went the distance for the Dodgers to gain his 15th victory. The triumph enabled the first place Dodgers to move three games ahead of Cincinnati in the NL West.

Don Kessinger's single with two out in the 1t0h scored Randy Hundley and gave the Cubs their third straight triumph over the Reds. The Reds had gone ahead 3-2 in the top of the 10th but an error by reliever Clay Carroll on Ron Santo's grounder enabled the Cubs to get the tying run on base in the bottom of the inning.

A sacrifice bunt and a single by Paul Popovich tied the score and successive singles by Hundley, pinchh-itter Jim Hickman and Kessingr brought home the winning run.

Relief pitcher Chris Short walked two batters in succession to force home the tying and go-ahead runs during a five-run seventh inning and give the Angels a victory over the Brewers. Short, the third Milwaukee pitcher of the inning, walked pinch-hitter Winston Llenas to force home the tying run and walked Sandy Alomar to chase home the goahead run.

George Scott had a two-run shot for the Brewers.

Texan wins at Olympic

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UPI)—Terry Krueger, 200 ½, of San Antonio, Texas, scored a fourth round knockout over Pedro Lovell, 203 ½, of Argentina in a scheduled 10-round heavyweight fight at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday.

For the first three rounds, Lovell punched Krueger around the ring and was in complete command. But in the fourth round, Krueger stunned the Argentine on the chin with a right and then followed with combinations. Lovell went down for the full 10 count.

Man charged with murder held insane

FRESNO (UPI) —A young Los Angeles man accused of beating a sailor to death on a Greyhound bus as it passed through Fresno June 29 was ruled insane Wednesday and ordered committed to a state hospital.

Johnny Lee Smith, 19, was charged with murder in the death of Calvin Wilson, 22, who was sitting across the aisle from Smith when he was attacked and beaten to death.

Superior Court Judge Denver Peckinpah said he concluded from psychiatric reports Smith was not able to understand the nature and quality of the charges against him.

Smith also was charged with kidnaping and violating the personal liberty of four other passengers on the bus by means of violence and menace.

The judge said that should Smith regain his sanity he will be returned from Atascadero State Hospital to stand trial in Fresno.

HAS LAST LAUGH

Gov. Ronald Reagan smiles as he signs a onetime $721 million tax rebate plan Thursday which he called the largest ever given by any state in the nation's history.

Nixon's top aides deny leaking news on Agnew

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) —President Nixon's top aides, in what appears to be shaping up as a battle within the executive family, emphatically deny the White House is smearing Vice President Spiro T. Agnew by means of news leaks on the Maryland bribery scandal.

Reports that the White House is secretly funneling anti-Agnew information to newsmen are "blatantly and absolutely false," the aides say.

Justice Department sources indicated Thursday that the White House, which has access to details of the inquiry, may be responsible for leaking the Agnew reports.

But Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler "categorically" denied that presidential aides were the source of the information.

Nixon, Gen. Alexander M. Haig, White House chief of staff, and Special Counsel J. Fred Buzhardt are being kept abreast of details of the investigation of allegations that Agnew accepted kickbacks from Maryland contractors.

Nixon told a news conference Wednesday that he had ordered Attorney General Elliott Richardson to find the source of the leaks and to summarily fire anyone involved. Afterward, the President called Agnew to relay his concern personally.

The President knew long in advance, before he discussed it with Agnew, that federal prosecutors were conducting the investigation, White House officials said. He has said that it "would be improper for me to comment on the charges" but condemned the "outrageous leak of information from either the grand jury, or the prosecutors or the Justice Department—or all three."

However, Richardson has noted in a letter to Agnew that the "outlines" of the investigation are known to a number of witnesses, individuals, lawyers, the White House staff, investigative personnel of the Internal Revenue Service as well as the Justice Department.

In another repercussion of Nixon's news conference, a White House spokesman refused to give evidence supporting Nixon's claim that widespread burglary was authorized for national security purposes by both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations and well known.

"The President said it because it is correct," said Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren. "It's a fact, and I'm not going beyond that."

Nixon said burglaries occurred from 1960 to 1966 during the administrations of his two predecessors.

Presidential aides, meanwhile, said that Nixon is in an upbeat mood, feeling that he scored a success with his news conference.

They also reported he was stunned at the number of questions on Watergate, and hopes now that he can turn attention to other domestic problems.

Aides also were fanning out to reassure the public and the press that Nixon is fully capable of governing, despite inroads into his popularity because of Watergate.

Presidential Counselor Anne Armstrong said in Sacramento Thursday that Nixon is a man "in command of himself."

Governor signs tax rebate bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Californians will pay lower taxes on everything from beer to bikinis and enjoy a generous income tax break under what Gov. Ronald Reagan calls "the largest state tax rebate in the nation's history."

Reagan Thursday signed a bill providing $721 million in onetime tax cuts and denounced "would-be big spenders" in the legislature who delayed the measure's enactment.

"The people have come out the victors in this long struggle," Reagan proclaimed during a bill-signing ceremony in his office.

Beginning Oct. 1, the new law will lower the state's six cents sales tax (6 ½ cents in San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District counties) by one penny for a six month period.

The tax unnecessarily went up from five cents July 1 while the state had an $826 million budget surplus—because of a deadlock between Reagan and Democratic lawmakers.

The bill also provides a reduction of 20 to 35 per cent for income taxpayers on this year's tax bill.

The total amount of the tax benefits average out to about $34 for every man, woman and child in the state.

Reagan aides said a typical family of four earning $15,000 a year would receive a $60 income tax cut. The same family earning $25,000 would save $137. Couples earning below $8,000 would pay no income tax.

The bill (SB90) by Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, overwhelmingly passed the legislature last week following months of squabbling over how to return the huge surplus to the people.

"This legislation provides the people of California with the largest state tax rebate in the nation's history," Reagan told newsmen.

It was the second tax rebate bill Reagan has signed since he became governor. The first came during the 1970 election year and granted a 10 per cent cut in income taxes costing $87 million.

Failure to reach an agreement on a bill in June resulted in what all agreed was the unnecessary one-cent sales tax increase.

Reagan used the bill-signing occasion to tout his tax ceiling initiative which will be on the Nov. 6 ballot.

Chino sisters flee kidnaper

CHINO — Police are seeking a man who kidnapped two little girls from this city Thursday night, and later left one of them in Ontario after the other fled his car.

Both girls were unharmed in the incident, police said, which began at 6 p.m. when they were picked up in the vicinity of 13100 Sixth St. by a man in an emerald green, 1967 Ford Fairlane station wagon bearing a large dent in the left rear fender.

Officers said one girl, 6, got out of the car at the intersection of Central and Riverside avenues when the driver pulled up at a stop sign. Her sister, 4, remained in the car.

She was found by two teen-agers around 8 p.m. at Grove and Walnut streets in south Ontario. They took her to the Chino police department.

A witness to the kidnap described the driver and car, noting the man may have a moustache and goatee. Authorities are asking anyone with information about the car or persons resembling the suspect to call Chino police.

Police declined to identify the girls.

Gunman threatens to kill himself and four hostages

STOCKHOLM (UPI) —A gunman, barricaded in a downtown Stockholm bank with four hostages and accompanied by a criminal involved in the murder of a policeman, threatened today to blow up himself and the hostages "as a last resort," police reported.

The gunman, identified as bankrobber Kay Robert Hansson, 22, and believed to have been deported from the United States, was still holding out more than 28 hours after the drama began. He was keeping police at bay with a submachine gun.

Hansson has demanded safe conduct with the hostages but police have refused to let the hostages go with him.

Clark Olofsson, 26, an inmate friend of Hansson, was brought to the bank Thursday from a prison in central Sweden where he was serving a 10-year sentence as an accomplice in a police killing in 1966. Hansson demanded Olofsson's release and explained he needed Olofsson as a driver of a getaway car.

Olofsson said in a telephone interview from the bank that Hansson would blow up the bank should the police try to overpower him.

"He has dynamite sticks adapted for a blast and lots of ammunition which he will use as a last resort," Olofsson said.

Olofsson quoted Hansson as saying: "I don't give a damn what happens."

"I know him and I know he will never give up," Olofsson said.

Olofsson said police told Hansson he was free to leave if he released his hostages, but that Hansson refused.

"Hansson was then offered to leave with two of the hostages and myself, but again refused," Olofsson said.

"My job is to negotiate with the robber and to prevent a massacre," he said.

"I don't want anyone to get hurt. The police have not got a chance. The man will never give up. The best thing to do would have been to let him leave and then deal with him somewhere in the country," Olofsson said.

Thursday night, government sources said Premier Olof Palme, Justice Minister Lennart Geijer and Communications Minister Sven Norling were negotiating with Hansson, who earlier in the day demanded and received $750,000 in ransom paid by the Bank of Sweden.

Police sources said Hansson lived in the United States several years before being expelled for unexplained reasons earlier this year. Geijer said Hansson was "becoming more and more desperate and unbalanced."

Police almost sure about ID of slain man

POMONA — Police today said they are "99 per cent sure" that an El Monte man often involved in fights is the apparent murder victim whose charred body was found in a burned pickup truck here early last Monday morning.

But they aren't releasing his name until identification has been positive. That will be accomplished when the coroner's office is able to compare dental charts of the man they believe the victim with the victim's dental work.

Investigators said they believe the man was unmarried, about 52. He served with the Army during World War II and it is his dental charts they are suggesting that the coroner obtain from the military for comparison.

Police were led to El Monte by information given them by the owner of the truck in which the victim was found. The name of the suspected victim came as the result of those interviews, plus the fact that several items found at the scene of the fire, including a belt buckle, belonged to the El Monte man.

Police reported being told that the man was "a knockabout who couldn't pass up a fight." What he was doing in Pomona, they have been unable to learn so far.

Investigators said they are working on several theories about the slaying, but were not ready to discuss them yet.

The victim was killed by a blow on the head, a coroner's autopsy revealed Tuesday. He was already dead when the pickup truck was doused with gasoline and set afire in a field near Hackett Field.

Unpaid electric bill leads to death of 2 tots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) — Two children died Thursday in a fire caused by a candle used to light their home. The local electric company had turned off power to the house because of an unpaid $33.40 bill.

Shannon Young, 3, and his sister, Heidi, 2, children of Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Young, died in suburban Hilliard after a babysitter had lighted several candles in a first-floor living room.

The Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. said it turned off electric service to the home Wednesday because of a three-month delinquent electric bill.

Robert Sisinger, manager of public affairs for the firm, said several notices had been sent to the couple and a collection agent went to the home Wednesday before the power cutoff.

"She (the collection agent) also went down to see the husband who works at a Pure Oil station and he said he didn't have the money," Sisinger said. The electricity then was ordered cut.

The babysitter, Debra Froidezeaus, 13, jumped from a second story bedroom window, near where the childrens' bodies were found. Officials said the teen-ager apparently thought the children would also jump.

Ervin says Nixon's reply 'inadequate'

SHELBY, N.C. (UPI) — Senate Watergate committee chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said Thursday President Nixon has failed to provide the nation with an adequate answer to questions raised by Watergate.

"The President's statements so far have consisted of rhetoric and denials," Ervin told a news conference. "They have not been helpful to the investigation."

Rejecting Nixon's call for an end to the hearings, the senior North Carolina senator said he could think of "no more important business" than searching for the truth behind the break-in and bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

Death penalty return seen in panel's vote

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The return of capital punishment in California seemed certain today after a successful legislative power play by death penalty advocates.

A death penalty "vehicle" was approved by the liberal-dominated Assembly Criminal Justice Committee Thursday after members had blocked such legislation for three months.

Both sides in the politically touchy issue said the action probably would unlock San Quentin's gas chamber, closed since the California Supreme Court ruled capital punishment unconstitutional in March, 1972.

In a dramatic showdown, the committee on a 6-1 vote approved an amended bill it agreed would be drastically changed on the Assembly floor.

The amendments, drafted by Democrats after long private meetings with Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, provided life imprisonment without possibility of parole for capital crimes.

But the author of the bill (SB450) Sen. George Deukmajian, R-Long Beach, said he would attempt to amend the bill on the Assembly floor to reinstate capital punishment. And death penalty opponents agreed he undoubtedly would succeed.

"The critical vote was in this committee," Deukmejian told newsmen, "Now that the bill has been sent to the floor, I anticipate getting the votes for the death penalty."

Deukmejian,who hopes to run for attorney general next year, added "This was a healthy bill when it came to the committee. A few vital organs were taken off in the operating room. But I believe we can get it repaired when we get to the Assembly floor.

The victory for death penalty advocates was in coaxing the committee to release any bill at all—amended or not. The committee could have sat on all capital crimes-related measures and kept them from reaching the floor.

"If we didn't give them a 'vehicle,' they were going to get a 'vehicle,'" commented liberal committee member Ken Meade, D-Oakland. "There was no way to win."

HELSINGBORG, Sweden (UPI)—King Gustaf VI Adolf of Sweden clung to life with the aid of a respirator today, hardly able to recognize relatives visiting him at the Helsingborg Hospital.

China silent; Britons happy with Kissinger

The nomination of Henry A. Kissinger as secretary of state today drew applause in Britain, Arab anger and no comment from Peking.

And many commentators, while acknowledging Kissinger's role as chief architect in America's triumphs abroad, expressed reservations about the international effects of Watergate.

In China, where Kissinger engineered a thaw in relations and set up the historic Peking summit meeting last year between President Nixon and Chinese leaders, the Kissinger announcement was reported without comment in a terse dispatch on the government-run New China News Agency.

There was no word either from the Kremlin, despite two meetings between Nixon and Soviet leaders in the last two years and the recent warming of relations.

Favor Kissinger

British press reaction was overwhelmingly in favor of Kissinger, with comments such as "a fine appointment" and "not a moment too soon."

The editor of the Beirut newspaper An Nahar said in a front page editorial that "Kissinger's appointment is an Israeli victory over the Arabs not in America only but also in the (Middle East) region as well."

He noted that Kissinger was a Jew and said, "Kissinger's rise to the throne of diplomacy and defense is attributed to the Zionist movement which has persuaded Nixon to appoint him as adviser and then forced the American president to appoint him secretary of state."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Ebban wired Kissinger, "I am confident that you will make contributions to the promotion of peace and that the relations between our two countries will continue to develop in the traditional spirit of mutual friendship and respect."

"Crown career"

The French newspaper Le Monde said the nomination "crowns a prodigious career," but noted:

"This promotion does not necessarily signify that Mr. Kissinger will have many occasions to add to his glory. Although he has not been tainted by the recent scandals, the Nixon team which has received such blows in the course of the last months will have a hard time trying to re-establish its international credit.

The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter commented, ". . . . everything could be pretty well in the world of Henry Kissinger if he had not entered on the new job while the boss is stuck in Watergate. That case even baffles the cleverness and inventiveness of Kissinger."

In Tokyo, the newspaper Mainichi said Kissinger's nomination "will have a far reaching effect on the future of Japanese-American relations."

It said the appointment "signifies President Nixon's determination of promoting a new diplomatic offensive to minimize the Watergate scandal's adverse effect on U.S. prestige and the President himself, and re-establish the United States as a world leader."

Richardson orders 'systematic inquiry' into news leaks on Agnew

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson has ordered a "systematic inquiry" into news leaks about the Maryland corruption probe involving Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. Justice Department sources said the leaks may be coming from the White House.

Richardson made public a letter he sent Thursday to Agnew, which told the vice president Richardson had ordered one of his assistants, Glen E. Pommerening, to make a thorough investigation of the leaks. The attorney general also said he had asked the FBI to furnish personnel "as needed" for the probe.

Use all sources

The attorney general said he had directed Pommerening to "undertake a systematic inquiry using any and all departmental sources as he sees fit."

Sources in the Justice Department said perhaps the leaks were coming from the White House or perhaps from law enforcement officials. The sources said only about a half dozen people in the Justice Department knew about the status of the Agnew investigation and that a poll of these persons failed to uncover a source.

President Nixon's aides at San Clemente, Calif., denied the leaks were coming from the White House. "Reports that the White House might be involved are totally false," a spokesman said.

Agnew has expressed anger over the leaks. He called a news conference early in the week after Time Magazine reported, quoting Justice Department sources, that Agnew appeared certain to be indicted as a result of the investigation into an alleged Maryland kickback scheme. Nixon also deplored the leaks at his Wednesday news conference in San Clemente.

Richardson promised Agnew that should any of the leaks be traced to Justice Department personnel "departmental regulations providing administrative sanction including dismissal will apply." He added, however, that there may be "no fully effective means of stopping the cynical rumors" because "a considerable number of people in and out of government are aware of some details of the investigation."

The attorney general also told Agnew that he would be given an opportunity to meet with the investigators, who are headed by U.S. Attorney George Beall in Baltimore.

Meat's off the hoof, back on shelves of food chains

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Major food chains in Southern California came to a reluctant and costly decision Thursday that put meat back on the shelves as early as today in some stores.

The decision to engage in custom slaughter has reopened five slaughterhouses in the Vernon area and put between 650 and 700 out-of-work butchers back on the job.

Butchers Union Local 563 executive J.J. Rodriguez said he expected many more of the 1,300 members still jobless to be rehired next week as plants open to fill demands of the food chains.

While the slaughterers and the consumers will benefit from the decision, the retail grocers are singing the blues.

"The chain stores have made this decision on their own," Raymond Rosenthal, vice president of the King Meat Packing Co. said.

"They are paying exorbitant prices for livestock and losing thousands just to keep their customers. It's against every economic principle you ever heard of."

'Big cheeses' don't like her spread, but she sues for job

WOODLAND, Calif. (UPI) — A widow fired from her cafeteria job for allegedly spreading mayonnaise wrongly and sauerkraut too slowly has filed suit to force the University of California to rehire her.

Mrs. Doris Judd, 59, a UC Davis food services employe for nearly eight years, charged in her Superior Court suit that she was "the victim of contrived charges."

Her attorney, Loren McMaster of the California State Employes' Association, filed the suit Thursday after losing an appeal of her dismissal to UC President Charles J. Hitch.

Judge Richard Patton ordered university officials to appear Sept. 27 to show cause why the court should not order the woman reinstated.

Mrs. Judd, a widow and the mother of five married children, was fired Feb. 9 for failing to spread mayonnaise all the way to the edge of the bread in making sandwiches, taking an average of 1.3 minutes each to put sauerkraut on 50 hot dogs and wrap them, and mixing too much egg salad during one day.

In her suit, Mrs. Judd contended the university failed to grant her a hearing to her dismissal, thus violating her right to due process.

University officials have refused to comment on the case.

McMaster has said Mrs. Judd's problems began when she apparently offended "some big cheeses" when their breakfast was not provided fast enough.

Mrs. Judd has labeled the charges against her "ridiculous. They were so minor it really made me mad."

2 workers hurt by letter bomb

LONDON (UPI) —A letter bomb exploded at the London Stock Exchange today slightly injuring two workers in the sixth straight day of terrorist blasts.

Authorities said a 25-year-old secretary and her supervisor were taken to a London hospital, but were expected to be treated and released.

An exchange spokesman said the secretary "was going through the mail in one of the offices and one of the letters exploded in her face."

It was the ninth letter bomb received in London since Sunday. Police have also discovered 15 incendiary devices in city department stores and a two-pound bomb in a major subway station.

4 talk to airman in barricade

EDWARD AFB, Calif. (UPI) —Four persons have talked to Airman Earl Williams by telephone in an effort to persuade him to give up a five-day vigil in a barricaded barracks room.

Williams, 19, of St. Louis, locked himself inside the barracks with a gun Monday, fired several shots that day and the next and has refused to leave.

Europe leaders 'cold shoulder' Nixon visit talk

LONDON (UPI) —European leaders want President Nixon to put off his planned Europe visit until next year, diplomatic officials said today.

The Europeans are in disarray and are not ready for Nixon and crucial talks that are intended to shape the future of the transatlantic relationship, they said.

A premature start of vital negotiations on a new Atlantic Charter type agreement could do more harm than good, the diplomatic sources said. Another argument is that a few months delay might help to smooth over some of the damage done to the presidential image in Europe by the Watergate affair.

The enhanced role of presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, who has been nominated to be secretary of state, is expected by European diplomats to help put the new transatlantic relationship on a constructive basis.

Reports from Washington earlier this week suggested that Nixon may visit Europe by the end of October. Kissinger was expected to come earlier for preparatory soundings. He announced Thursday that Nixon had called off a trip to Latin American, partly because of Watergate, but planned to make his European trip as planned.

Reports of a Nixon October visit met with a notably cool reception in European capitals. There was embarrassed official silence, but diplomatic officials left little doubt that the presidential visit would offer better prospects if it were put off at least until sometime next year.

FBI use of burglaries since 1930 reported

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —The FBI has been carrying out burglaries since the 1930's, as President Nixon contends, according to a report by a southland newspaper.

The newspaper said, however, quoting three former FBI officials, that the agents involved did not have authorization for the burglaries from high levels of previous administrations, as Nixon said.

Burglaries by government agents in the past were on the FBI's own initiative and were always limited operations against foreign intelligence targets and alleged domestic subversives, the former FBI men said.

"I have never heard of anything like burglarizing a doctor's office or of committing a burglary to get information about someone who had a criminal trial pending," the newspaper quoted one of its sources as saying. The source was identified as "a former FBI official of 25 years experience."

The newspaper identified one of its informants as William W. Turner of San Francisco, but it said the other two did not want their identities revealed.

The newspaper identified two men it said were FBI "black bag (burglary)" experts, according to others within the FBI.

Agent George Burley of Washington, D.C., is the FBI's "No. 1 burglar," according to Turner, and another is Chris Scaturo, "a veteran New York FBI agent nearing retirement ... a top technician who has received several meritor awards" from the FBI for his burglary prowess.

The newspaper said another of its informants said that "Turner ought to know what he's talking about—he's an old black bag man."

Turner confirmed, the newspaper said, that during his years in the FBI, between 1951 and 1961, "burglary was a common investigative technique. I went on a number of these kind of operations."

Scaturo refused to comment on the matter, and Burley could not be reached.

The term "black bag job" comes from the bag in which agents carry burglar's tools.

The bag jobs began in the 1930's and were discontinued in 1966 "following an investigation by a Senate committee, but the practice was resumed during the Nixon administration," the newspaper said.

Teen-agers face indictments in 3 more murders

HOUSTON (UPI) —A grand jury returned three more murder indictments Thursday against two teen-agers accused of taking part in the nation's worst mass murder of the 20th century. A county official said the jury has not completed its investigation into the deaths of 27 boys.

The indictments were returned against Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David Owen Brooks, 18, who are charged with assisting Dean Arnold Corll, 33, in the sex-torture slayings of 27 boys. Henley said he shot and killed Corll, ending the three-year string of murders.

The grand jury indicted Brooks for the deaths of James Eugene Glass, 14, Ruben W. Watson, 17, and Johnny Delome, 16, all of Houston. The grand jury also indicted Henley in connection with Delome's death.

The indictments said Glass was killed New Year's Day of 1961, Watson was slain Aug. 20, 1972, and Delome was murdered May 15, 1972.

Watson, Glass and Delome are among 13 bodies identified. Fourteen others recovered from three burial grounds in Texas have not been identified.

The grand jury earlier indicted Henley on three counts of murder and Brooks on one.

A spokesman for the county district attorney said the grand jury has not finished its investigation into the case and will probably consider more evidence next week.

Henley and Brooks said they procured boys for Corll who sexually abused, tortured and killed them.

Rudolph Valentino fans comforted

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —Those who still turn out to mourn Rudolph Valentino, the great lover of the silent screen, were comforted Thursday by an astrologer who assured them he would have been a big star until recent days if he had lived.

Several hundred persons turned out for the memorial service at Valentino's mausoleum Thursday, the 47th anniversary of his death. Many of the same persons, including now-elderly women, have been turning out each year for decades.

Astrologer Anthony Norvell said he had prepared an astrological chart which plotted the course of Valentino's life if he had lived. It showed that Valentino would have survived the coming of talking pictures, which doomed so many silent screen stars with poor voices, and would have been a major star well into the 1960s, he said.

Even Atlas is covered as women begin move

NEW YORK (UPI) —The National Organization for Women (NOW), in its battle against male chauvinism, drapes the statue of Atlas at Rockefeller Center today with a banner proclaiming "Atlas, you held us up too long."

The draping of the statue of Atlas supporting the globe was NOW's latest action in a week of planned protests before Aug. 26, the 53rd anniversary of the Women's Suffrage Amendment to the Constitution.

Thursday, the Women's Lib group raised a "women power" banner over the public gallery of the American Stock Exchange to protest the "male domination of Wall Street. It had no effect on trading.

The organization plans to climax its week of protest demonstrations Sunday with a "women's liberation" march on Fifth Avenue.

Vanguard Records won a special "Keep Her in Her Place" award from NOW today for recording the song: "Get Your Biscuits in the Oven and Your Buns in Bed."

NOW cited five other incidents of what it considered conspicuous male chauvinism, for a total of seven Keep Her in Her Place awards, but the women's lib group also gave "Positive Image of Women" awards.

The prizes—for positive and negative treatment of women by the media—were announced Thursday for presentation today by NOW in an effort to "raise the consciousness of the communications industry."

Other Keep Her In Her Place awards:

—To the ad agency which created the Winchester cigarette ad depicting a man smoking beneath he headline "No woman ever says no to Winchester."

—To NBC television's Dean Martin show which NOW says "presents a very males-eye view of women as trivial, decoration, and sex objects."

—To the film "Last Tango in Paris" for its "blunt sexual abuse and dehumanization of the female character."

—To WINS, an all-news radio station in New York for "constantly using male-oriented language such as 'the average man,' 'man in the street' 'newsman,' 'working man' and 'businessman'," and for "trivializing women by putting more emphasis on fun or novelty items relating to women."

—To the book "The Manipulated Man" by Esther Vilar for "portraying man as the oppressed and woman the oppressor."

The group gave "Horrible Mention" citations to Playboy Magazine and the movie "Up the Sandbox." NOW said the film "has the rebellious female character abandoning her dreams and settling for a role as a baby breeder."

Rogers to rejoin his law business

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers is preparing to rejoin the New York law firm he left in 1969 when he became a member of President Nixon's cabinet.

Nixon announced Rogers' resignation Wednesday and appointed Dr. Henry A. Kissinger to succeed him.

Rogers, aides said, would go to New York this weekend to confer with his former law partners. He will rejoin the firm of Royall, Koegel and Wells after his Sept. 3 departure from the State Department.

Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Rush will serve as acting secretary pending Senate confirmation of Kissinger.

Interior secretary 'gone fishing'

KING SALMON, Alaska (UPI) —Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton arrived in this Bristol Bay community north of the Aleutians Thursday night for a day of fishing and relaxation.

Aides said Morton would probably fly to Fairbanks, Alaska, Saturday and then on to San Clemente, Calif., where he will report to President Nixon on his week-long tour of Alaska.

The Cabinet official has spent his time talking with the leaders of Alaska's 75,000 Indians, Eskimos and Aleuts about the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act of 1972, the trans-Alaska oil pipeline and land use.

Bradley 80, was listed in satisfactory condition. He was hospitalized Aug. 13 for blood clots on the lung.

Over listening devices

Anxiety 'absurd,' sheriff declares

POMONA — Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess Thursday termed "absurd" the anxiety expressed by some county employes here over the installation of two-way emergency listening devices in the county clerk's office of the East District Superior Courts Building.

In a statement, Pitchess said, "The sheriff's department has a standing order that the system will not be activated except in response to an alarm or when conducting tests."

Several courtrooms throughout the state have listening devices in which a light flashes behind the judge's bench when officers listen in. The devices were installed after an escape attempt in San Rafael three years ago in in which a judge was one of several persons killed outside the Marin County Courthouse.

But the system in the county clerk's office here does not have a light and several employes have expressed concern they are being overheard without warning. Their employe union, Local 660, has filed a memorandum with the county clerk seeking modification or removal of the system.

Pitchess' statement said the system was extended to the clerk's office because the office handles large sums of money collected from fines. Later Thursday, County Administrative Officer Arthur G. Will said he thought the existing system would be reviewed. But both he and Pitchess felt the warning system was needed for security reasons.

The sytem in courtrooms allows a bailiff or court clerk to flick a switch in case of trouble, activating a buzzer in the sheriff's office in the building. Sheriff's deputies then can listen in and send assistance if needed.

Pitchess said that there is no light indicating the listening device in the clerk's office is being used simply because the actuation of a visible signal might jeopardize the safety of the clerical personnel or the public in the event there was an armed robbery in progress.

The sheriff concluded his statement bysaying "to label this two-way communication system a bugging device is ridiculous and individuals who are making an issue of this would appear to be doing so in keeping with the self-serving motives which they may hope to relate to the national concern for electronic monitoring devices."

Murder counts against 2 men are dropped

FONTANA — Two men, charged in the murder of an Upland man last week, have been freed from custody after the district attorney's office refused to issue murder complaints against the pair.

Robert R. Mendenhall, 19, and William J. Slater, 22, both of Fontana, were released from county jail when the Deputy Dist. Atty. Kenneth Pike concluded there was insufficient evidence to support the complaints.

Fontana detectives arrested the men Sunday after an investigation of the death of Jerome R. Lewis, 29, of 1285 W. 25th St., Upland. Lewis died from a small-caliber bullet wound in the back near the upper right shoulder.

He was first thought to be a traffic accident victim, since he was found in the parking lot of a bar here last Friday morning after his car had collided with a parked auto. Preliminary examination of his body missed the bullet wound, but it was found in later, more detailed examination.

Two unidentified city employes apparently put out a car fire when a broken gas line started a blaze Thursday morning. The 1970 model car is owned by Evelyn Follman, 740 Altura Court.

Truck hits and kills horse; rider is hurt

SAN DIMAS — A 10-year-old girl whose horse was killed when they were hit by a truck here was reported in fair condition today at Glendora Community Hospital.

The victim, Connie T. Martin, 1831 Grasscreek Drive, suffered facial and chest injuries in the accident at Base Line Road west of Wehner Avenue Wednesday.

The accident occurred when the horse Connie was riding bolted into the path of a truck when the animal was hit with a stick by another girl, sheriff's deputies said. They said the girls had been taking turns riding the horse.

The impact of the collision killed the animal outright, deputies said.

The truck driver, Ricky R. Sudduth, 21, of 307 W. Base Line Road San Dimas, said he was eastbound on Base Line at about 35 miles an hour when the horse ran into his path.

Old oak tree, Baldy cabin catch fire

MT. BALDY — Fire seriously damaged a 300-to-400-year-old oak tree and burnt through a cabin roof here early today.

The blaze, which was quickly contained by local firemen, spread from an incinerator behind the Buckhorn Restaurant where maintenance men from the restaurant had been burning trash earlier in the evening.

Firmen were notified of the fire about 2:35 a.m., and they said it had been burning for "quite a while" before they arrived.

The blaze caused an estimated $400 damage to the cabin roof, but did no other damage to the structure.

Although the tree was not destroyed in the blaze, firemen said it would probably have to be removed.

Units from the Forest Service and the Los Angeles County Fire Department assited in extinguishing the fire.

Glassful of medicine a 48-hour gonorrhea cure

WASHINGTON (UPI) A glassful of pleasant-tasting medicine is being marketed as a 48-hour cure for gonorrhea, America's most common infectious disease except for the cold.

The new liquid drug, a combination of ampicillin and probenecid, was found 90 per cent effective last year by the Public Health Service (PHS), but so far only one company, Bristol Laboratories of Syracuse, N.Y., has received Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approval to sell the prescription drink.

Harold Snyder, president of the competing Biocraft Laboratories of Elmwood Park, N.J., has complained that the FDA is dawdling in letting his company sell the drug, which is faster, less painful and quicker acting than the previous cure of swallowing huge doses of penicillin pills or taking a long series of penicillin shots.

Snyder has asked Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., to investigate the FDA's delay in approving his company's product. An FDA spokesman said Biocraft submitted its request six months after Bristol and that there has not been enough time to consider the application yet.

Robinson said persons allergic to penicillin should not use the drug, although he said allergic patients can avoid the penicillin side effects by drinking a lot of water and juices.

The PHS has estimated at least 3 million Americans have gonorrhea, making it the most common infectious disease except for the common cold, and the federal government is expected to be the largest buyer.

FDA official William T. Robinson described the cure: "Just fill up the bottle with water and the powder at the bottom will dissolve. Drink it and you'll be well within 48 hours."

Bristol is marketing the drug under the name "Polycillin TRB" sold for $4.25 a bottle

Should hold more

Graham: Nixon at best during press confabs

LONDON (UPI) —Evangelist Billy Graham said that President Nixon should hold more news conferences. He said he doubts Nixon or anyone knows or ever will know the whole truth about the Watergate affair.

"But I believe it will have a great cleansing effect on the United States," he said.

Graham made the comments at a news conference called to announce "Spree 73" —a Bible training event he will lead here soon.

Graham at first said he would not answer questions about Watergate or other political matters. But when one British reporter asked, "Do you think Nixon has come unstuck?" Graham retorted, "No. I don't think he has come unstuck. One certainly did not get that impression from his press conference."

Graham said he saw part of it on British television after his arrival in London Wednesday evening.

"He should hold more press conferences," Graham said. "He is at his best in that kind of give and take. He comes alive then. He has been a debater all his life and he shows at his best on such occasions."

Graham added, "I don't know whether anyone knows the total truth about Watergate, including the President or (Sen.) Sam Ervin or anyone, and I don't know whether they ever will know it. Watergate has come to cover all that is wrong in America. I don't know that anyone will ever know the total picture. But I do believe it will have a cleansing effect on the United States."

Admiral flays hostile attitude to military

HONOLULU (UPI) — The commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific has called for the "hostile" attitude toward the military to be changed to support.

Adm. Noel Gaylor told the 55th National Convention of the American Legion that the Indochina war had led many to forget why the U.S. entered the conflict, "took on the burden of free world defense and the many who gave their lives to that ideal."

The most important factor in the quality of military life, he said, "is how it is regarded by the country."

"That attitude that we see too much of, of hostility toward the military, and toward military men and women, has got to be changed to support," he said. "The attitude of indifference has got to be changed to concern. The cheap shot that some people take against the military has got to be made costly."

The public has to realize, Gayler said, that "without dedicated people there is no quality, without quality there is no capability, and without capability there is no security."

Actress Jane Fonda, a critic of American prisoners of war returned from Indochina prison camps, came under fire at the convention.

An amendment which singled out the actress as one "giving aid, comfort and support to the enemies of the United States" was voted down after debate.

A delegate pleaded "not to dignify her with undue publicity" and a resolution condemning "persons" who made verbal attacks on POWs was passed instead.

Site well qualified for a state capital

CHICAGO (UPI) — When South Dakotans chose Pierre for their capital city in 1889, they couldn't have selected a more experienced site.

Pierre, according to Encyclopedia Britannica, had for 400 years prior to 1800 been the capital of the Arikara Indian nation.

Couple rides train free Under 100-year-old law

LAUREL, Mont. (UPI) — Charles Vyskocil and his wife, who are riding the rails from Nebraska to Washington State, arrived in Montana in time for dinner at the Owl Cafe Wednesday.

Vyskocil ordered liver and onions and enjoyed every bite of it. His wife dined on baked chicken. Since they started their journey Tuesday they have been eating mostly K-rations.

The Vyskocils are traveling from Lincoln, Neb., to Auburn, Wash. — 1,838 miles — in a railroad boxcar under a 100-yearold law permitting a man to ride free as long as he is transporting livestock. The Vyskocils have eight horses.

"So far it's been a ball," Vyskocil told a reporter at the restaurant.

After their meal, they jumped back on the Burlington Northern Railroad car as the train pulled out for points west.

Mrs. Vyskocil paid an extra $10 for the privilege of riding with her husband on the threeday trip. Their three children, Loree, 14, Barry, 13, and 6-year-old Gina Marie, are following the freight in a passenger car.

Vyskocil, a disabled World War II veteran recovering from open heart surgery, said he was relocating his family partly for his children.

"We believe if the children have a taste of what their forefathers went through, they will look at things with a little more reverence and respect," his wife said.

Her husband said his parents made the same trip in 1912 when they moved from Nebraska to Montana to homestead.

"We've spent most of our journey thinking about their experiences, then wondering what they went through and how we compare with them," he said at the restaurant.

At Auburn, Vyskocil will be near a heart research program in which he has been cooperating.

The old law under which the family is traveling dealt with emigrant traffic policy and was aimed originally at attracting settlers to the West.

In all, the Vyskocils will pay $914 to transport their horses and belongings to Washington State. The railroad cooperated with the couple by installing extra springs under their boxcar.

The doctor comments

Reader has spells that affect memory

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am one of your readers, but I didn't think I would be writing to you for help. For the past four years I have been having spells off and on with my thinking and talking. I can be sitting around by myself and I'll have spells that are weird, and then they will go away. I can't tell anyone how I feel because they happen so quickly I can't remember myself. I'm having trouble with my memory.

I can be talking to someone and I will have one of these spells come over me, and I can't remember what I'm talking about. I know they think something is wrong with me, but I just can't say the words a lot of times that I want to say. I can't say the words a lot of times that I want to say. I can't get them out of my mouth. I know that I must act strange. I'm not on any drugs and I am no drinker. Could you help me? Do you think there is anything wrong with me?

I wish you could give me some advice on what kind of a doctor I should go to. Could cigarettes and coffee hurt me in any way? I do smoke a pack of cigarettes a day and drink a great deal of coffee—about two pots a day.

Dear Reader— You didn't tell me how old you are or a number of other facts that are important. I would guess from your letter that you may indeed have some changes that are causing trouble with your memory. Then, there is always the possibility that you have some abnormal function of the nerve pathways in the brain that's related to speech. There are several ways this can happen.

I'm sure you know that an individual who has a stroke that hits one area of the brain can find it impossible to speak at all. The speech area is a relatively small spot on the surface of the brain. It is connected to many other inputs, however, that influence speech. Finally, the nervous system has to work properly even to enable the tongue, lips and speech organs to function adequately.

You've asked me what kind of a doctor to see, and about the best advice I can give you is to see if you can be referred to a neurology specialist. These are individuals who are trained specifically in localizing which areas of the brain are not functioning properly, if that should be the case. By testing how you speak, how you move your tongue, what your various reflex responses are, and sometimes more complicated tests, they can have a pretty good idea of whether your nervous system is functioning properly or not.

Much of the nervous system functions just like electrical circuits and part of their job is literally in finding the short in the circuit or the break in the circuit. Then, of course, one has to find out the cause of any change in the circuit, should there be one.

I am inclined to think that cigarettes and coffee are not particularly beneficial to anyone's health, but they are probably not the primary cause of your difficulty. I am pretty sure you could get some help, and would like to encourage you to see a neurologist if at all possible.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's new booklet on hemorrhoids, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Hemorrhoids" booklet.

Substantial tax breaks told for rich campaign donors

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The list of persons who contributed money to the Republican and Democratic presidential campaigns last year includes wealthy businessmen, past and present government officials and dozens of show business celebrities.

Vice Present Spiro T. Agnew even chipped in $1,000 to his own cause.

The General Accounting Office report on campaign contributions between April 7 and Dec. 31 of last year listed in alphabetical order thousands of donors and how much they gave to President Nixon's re-election campaign as well as the Democratic ticket headed by Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota and more than a dozen other hopefuls who contested the major party nominees for president and vice president.

Spread around

The report, released Thursday showed that wealthy contributors took advantage of an Internal Revenue Service ruling permitting them to escape federal gift taxes by dividing their donations into amounts of $3,000 or less and spreading them among various fundraising committees

Involved were about 2,570 political committees that had registered with the GAO as raising money in a national candidate's behalf.

The largest McGovern backer, financially speaking, was Xerox Corp. executive Max Palevsky of Los Angeles. Palevsky and his wife gave $683,261 in contributions and loans, more than 3 per cent of McGovern's total donations after April 7.

Playboy Magazine publisher Hugh Hefner gave the McGovern campaign $45,000 and took advantage of the tax break by donating it in $2,500 sums to 18 separate committees.

Celebrity McGovern supporters included actor Paul Newman and his actress wife Joanne Woodward, $10,000; trumpeter Herb Alpert, $2,500; musician Henry Mancini and his wife, $500; actor Dana Andrews, $900; former ambassador W. Averill Harriman, $3,134; and Anna Roosevelt Halstead, daughter of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and her husband, $750.

Nixon donors

Among the biggest Nixon contributions after April 7 were Roy J. Carver of Muscatine, Iowa, who gave $267,633.57 in 124 contributions, and the F. L. Cappaerts of Vicksburg, Miss., $210,000 in 69 contributions.

Although Chicago insurance magnate W. Clement Stone has said he gave $2 million to the 1972 Nixon campaign, his post-April 7 contributions totalled only $73,052.

Agnew gave the Nixon campaign $1,000 as did actress Susan Hayward, dancer Fred Astaire and presidential assistant Bryce C. Harlow.

Larger contributors included Chicago Bears owner George Halas, $10,000; hotel magnate Conrad Hilton and his son, Barron, $15,008; Gene Autry, $20,000; comedian Jack Benny and his wife, $2,000; Mrs. Vincent Astor, $13,000; former Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin, $3,000; and former Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel, $5,000.

Attorney for Getty admits kidnap story may be hoax

ROME (UPI) —The attorney for the family of oil billionaire J. Paul Getty's grandson, missing since he was reported kidnaped six weeks ago, conceded for the first time Thursday the whole thing may be a hoax.

Lawyer Giovanni Iacovoni said the boy's mother, Mrs. Gail Getty, still believes her son has been abducted.

But Iacovoni said in a telephone interview, "we also are considering many other hypotheses. He may have kidnaped himself to get money from his grandfather or it may be a joke or it may be for the publicity."

Refused to pay

J. Paul Getty Sr., the eccentric billionaire believed to be the richest man in the world, has refused to pay any ransom for his grandson and namesake, J. Paul Getty III. He said it would subject his 14 other grandchildren to the danger of kidnaping.

The 16-year-old Getty, a ninth grade dropout, belonged to Rome's hippie set. He dabbled in painting and recently became involved in underground movies and modeling. Nude pctures taken of him taken by a photographer friend appeared in the magazine "Playmen" soon after his alleged kidnaping.

The red-haired, freckle-faced boy was last seen in the early morning of July 10 in Piazza Navona. Two days later his mother received the first of a series of communications by telephone and in writing by persons claiming to have kidnaped him. She also received a letter from her son begging her to meet the kidnapers' demands.

Silent 'kidnaper'

But the self-described kidnapers have been silent since Mrs. Getty informed them she could not pay $17 million ransom. They rejected a smaller offer she made and did not respond to the lawyer's announcement a week ago that he had "new urgent communications" for them.

Mrs. Getty, who has maintained her son had too much respect for his family to subject them to a kidnaping hoax, was in London Thursday, reportedly conferring with her divorced first husband, J. Paul Getty Jr.

"The only thing we know," Iacovoni said, "is that we received a letter from him (J. Paul Getty III) telling us he was kidnaped and we received a letter asking us to pay 10 billion lire ($17 million) ransom," Iacovoni said.

"We are obliged to think it is a serious thing but I would be glad if we were mistaken."

Slim opener, slam a cinch

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South's decision to open one diamond instead of one club does not meet with our full approval or full disapproval. There is a lot to be said in favor of bidding a strong five-card suit before a weak six-carder when they are next to one another in rank.

As for South's later action all we can say is that he bid his hand like there was no tomorrow.

He also was lucky enough to have bid it to a cinch slam. Playing in clubs he would have to lose a trump trick in addition to the heart trick taken by West at trick one.

Playing in diamonds he simply ruffed the second heart; led a club to dummy's king; a second club back to his ace and a third club to be ruffed by dummy's king of trumps.

Then he led dummy's six of trumps and had his first problem. Should he play East for four trumps to the 10 and finesse his nine or should be rise with a high trump.

The correct percentage play was to rise and he did. Not that it mattered. Either play was going to work for him and his rather silly slam was guaranteed success from the start.

Packaging takes lots of resources

CHICAGO (UPI) — The world's packaging industry itself has become a huge package. Calculations, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, indicate that 8 per cent of the world's steel and 10 per cent of its wood are used in packaging, in addition to more than 50 per cent of the total paper production of all nations.

Packaging also demands 50 per cent of the world's tin plate and more than 70 per cent of all glass production, excluding sheet glass. In plastics, about 25 per cent of all polyethylene produced now is used for packaging.

Kissinger a disciple of Metternich

By United Press International

If Austrian Crown Prince Klemens Metternich were alive today, he doubtless would be proud of Henry A. Kissinger, one his most faithful disciples.

Kissinger based his doctoral thesis at Harvard on Metternich, one of history's most famous diplomats because of his efforts to unite Europe peacefully after the Napoleonic Wars. He adopted some of the Austrian's methods at the Congress of Vienna in 1815 to negotiate a settlement of the Indochina War.

Moreover, when he succeeds William P. Rogers as secretary of state next month, if confirmed by the Senate, Kissinger is sure to remain true to Metternich's goal of peace through balance of power.

President Nixon, in announcing the new assignment for Kissinger, turned to the man who arranged presidential trips to China and the Soviet Union last year and who is credited with designing the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

Powerful man

As Nixon's top adviser for national security, Kissinger has been one of the most powerful men in the world. The former Harvard professor is a bachelor and his various dates with movie stars, television reporters and specialties have made almost as many headlines as his world trips. At 50, he is also a devoted father to two sons from a previous marriage.

One former associate has described him as "selfish, cunning, calculating, power-mad and publicity obsessed." Others say Kissinger is hard-working, loyal and intelligent.

His secret trips have become famous. A "stomach ailment" in Pakistan covered a visit to Peking which set the stage for Nixon's historic visit to China. He is said to have visited Hanoi in a top-secret mission for President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966.

Kissinger is known to believe his style of negotiating helped break the deadlock in Vietnam talks. There was, he said, too much concern with tactics and not "enough feeling for nuance and intangibles."

At the bargaining table, Kissinger reportedly tried to channel the talks to purely military questions such as the cease-fire and troop withdrawals, avoiding the emotional issue of the internal structure of South Vietnam. He left it to commissions to resolve internal Vietnamese problems.

Follows footsteps

He seemed to be following Metternich's footsteps at the 1815 Congress of Vienna, where questions like religion were left to committees and the diplomats discussed practical and military issues.

Born May 27, 1923, in Furth, near Nuremburg, Germany, Kissinger was the son of a Jewish professor who was harassed by the Nazis. The family fled to New York in 1938 when he was 15. He still has a slight German accent and occasionally mixes his nouns and verbs—ihen smiles about it.

The accent is said to be one reason he shies away from making statements in public. "The problem with interviewing me is that the essential sweetness doesn't come through," he said recently.

He has freely given briefings and was popular with reporters, despite revelations by columnist Jack Anderson that some of his off-the-record discussions were "trial baloons" during conflict between India and Pakistan.

Some of his friends and staff members found that he had submitted their names as the subject of wiretaps, although he has been otherwise free of taint in the Watergate scandal.

He works 12 to 20 hours a day in his White House office near the President's. His National Security Council staff of 110 is twice as large as his predecessor's and some opponents have accused him of trying to usurp the powers held by Rogers.

Diplomats say he even tried to take Rogers' place in negotiations with some protocol-conscious countries — and was backed by the President.

Severely ill teen-age girl having fling?

KOKOMO, Ind. (UPI) —The doctor of a severely ill teen-age girl who ran off with her boyfriend to get married, says the girl will get progressively weaker because of a blood disease and probably will seek medical help.

What's more, if Cheryl Marie McDonald, 17, who fled with her boyfriend Kevin Dodd, 16, of Kokomo on Monday, is even bruised, a fatal hemorrhage could result.

Her father Raymond N. McDonald, said Wednesday she "was tired of all the talk about her illness," and apparently resolved to have a fling at life despite the danger. The girl suffers from idiopathic hypoplastic anemia, a disease of the blood.

McDonald said his daughter and her boyfriend left in a car he had given her to console her when she had to cancel plans to go to Europe with her high school French club.

"We even canceled our own vacation plans when the doctors said she shouldn't travel. Now she's traveling on her own," McDonald said.

Dr. James E. Schroeder of Indianapolis, a hematologist who was treating the girl, said her disease was a bone marrow failure. He said the counts of vital elements in her blood were down significantly below normal, but not falling rapidly. However, he said eventually she will need a transfusion to remain alive.

"The likelihood is that she'll get progressively weaker, and I would guess that would result in her seeking medical attention," Schroeder said.

He said she probably will be able to seek medical help, provided she doesn't suffer an accidental hemorrhage.

McDonald said before the pair fled they had sought permissilon from Dodd's parents to get married, but the parents "got quite upset" and refused to okay a wedding.

Cheryl was scholastically outstanding at Taylor High School and would be a senior next year, her father said.

He said, "She's been sick all her life"

Solons seek hospital closing OK

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation prohibiting the Reagan administration from closing state hospitals for the mentally ill or retarded without the lawmakers' approval has advanced in the Senate.

The three measures, one by Assemblyman John L. Burton, D-San Francisco, and two by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, cleared the Health and Welfare Committee Wednesday and were sent to the Finance Committee.

Burton said the administration's proposal to close the facilities during the next 10 years had a "terrifying effect on many citizens throughout the state."

The administration has since dropped its plan but opposed Burton's measure (AB855), which was approved 7-0, and Vasconcellos' bills (AB447-448), which were endorsed by the committee on 9-0 votes.

Andrew G. Robertson, deputy director of the Department of Health, said the 11 state hospitals would remain open at least through 1974-75.

He said the bills were "unnecessary" since his department was preparing a report on plans to gradually phase out the hospitals as local care becomes available. He said the report would be completed about Sept. 15.

Burton's legislation requires an administration .report on proposed closures to be made with the budget by April of each year in addition to legislative approval.

Vasconcellos' proposals would set up a different review procedure for proposed closures but also requires legislative approval to shut down facilities.

Schabarum likes train commuter if cost is right

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Supervisor Peter F. Schabarum has given conditional approval to a proposal that would tie the San Bernardino area to Los Angeles via daily commuter trains that would stop at Pomona.

The First District supervisor said his full approval depended on how much it would cost and who would pay for it.

Schabarum sidestepped a direct question on the commuter train proposal at a breakfast of the Pomona Chamber of Commerce Thursday saying that the proposal needed further study.

But he amplified his reply after the meeting when he explained that he could see good possibility in the proposal, first offered last month by San Bernardino County Supervisor Ruben Ayala, if the financial ends could be worked out.

Under that proposal a commuter train using existing tracks would be established between Colton and downtown Los Angeles, with stops at Pomona and Monterey Park. Minibuses would take commuters from the railway stations to other locations in the downtown area.

The commuter train proposal was one of four possible solutions Schabarum offered to solve the mounting traffic problem of the metropolitain Los Angeles area. He said he was making his own suggestions because he was "disappointed" in the $6½ billion plan now advocated by the Southern California Rapid Transit District.

"The cost is almost double the proposed cost in 1968," he declared. "But the way the rapid transit wants to move the people is very much the same."

He said the RTD is hoping to get two-thirds of the money from the federal government, and the rest from a new tax levy on sales within the district.

"This will give the RTD a blank check to do whatever it pleases," he told his audience. "And there is no assurance that the federal government will provide the $4½ billion which the RTD is depending on."

Schabarum said it was "not important today why a leg of the RTD proposal doesn't come to Pomona. (It would stop at El Monte). What is important is whether the proposal is viable—whether it will move the people."

The supervisor said he and his staff have been asking the RTD for details of the plan which is coming up as a ballot measure next June, but so far have been unsuccessful.

"Some say that all that is necessary to solve the congestion," he said, "is to require at least two people in every car."

Then he outlined remedies which he felt could be more easily controlled. These included a more uniform traffic program, a ramp metering system using computers that would regulate traffic entering freeways, the use of existing buses and minibuses as well as a "dial-a-bus" service, and the possible use of commuter trains.

"These suggestions are more realistic," he declared. "They are not as romantic and eye catching as rapid transit or the silver bullet moving on rails, but they would lure people out of their automobiles."

Schabarum touched lightly on the future plans by the county for health services, explaining that the county is now working out a master plan.

"We are trying to determine just what is the county's responsibility in providing health services; what is the clientele, where should the services be located, what do we now have, and how should we go about making up the difference between what we have and what we should have," he said.

According to Schabarum, there is some need for a county owned hospital in the Pomona Valley, "but it has not been proven advisable to get involved in the ownership of such facilities. In a more practical sense, we'd rather contract for the necessary services."

Schabarum did not discuss any developments on Bonelli Park or the Mountain Meadows Golf Course, because he ran out of time.

AMERICAN KNOW-HOW

Grace Heim, owner of the 7-11 Food Store at 622 S. Dudley St., Pomona, and Milo Lacy, professor of agricultural business management at Cal Poly, discuss an American-style food display with a group of Japanese retail managers, who toured the store as part of a retailing seminar sponsored by the department of agricultural business management at Cal Poly and the Japan Self-Service Association. Ninety Japanese businessmen took part in the week-long seminar.

Pomonan who killed wife now at CIM

CHINO — Richard Irving McCoy, 40-year-old Pomona man who pleaded guilty to killing his ex-wife during a row March 7, is being processed through the Reception and Guidance Center of the California Institution for Men here after being sentenced to prison for the slaying.

It will require about two weeks of processing through the maximum security unit here before McCoy is transferred to another state prison for confinement. He faces a term of from 1 to 15 years.

McCoy shot Mrs. Marva McCoy to death in her home at 955 N. Gordon St., Pomona, while she was throwing his possessions out, investigators said. The couple's two young children witnessed the shooting. They since have been placed in a foster home but reports were that a sister of the victim, who lives in Alaska, has been attempting to gain custody of them.

McCoy, originally charged with murdering his ex-wife, pleaded guilty to voluntary manslaughter. He was sentenced to prison Aug. 1 by Pomona Superior Court Judge Glenn M. Pfau.

The couple had been divorced but McCoy sometimes stayed at the Gordon Street address, police said.

Buffums signs new computer data contract

POMONA — Buffums has signed a 42-month contract with the McDonnell-Douglas Automation Co. which will handle all the company's data processing, except data entry.

Buffums operates nine department and specialty stores here and in other cities in Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties and has four additional stores either in the construction or planning stages in the same counties.

The contract, which is to begin Nov. 1, will have a value of about $725,000. McDonnell-Douglas will be responsible for all Buffums data-processing needs including accounts payable, receivables, sales analyses, payroll, inventory control and statistics.

Buffums' previous data-processing relationship was with Union America Computer Corp. A reorganization of that company made necessary its giving up of all nonbanking business.

McDonnell Douglas operates five major computer centers with 86 computers valued at $135 million nad last year had more than 1,300 clients throughout the county.

Pet snake goes on hunger strike and owners worry

Four months ago my brother and I bought a boa constrictor (South American, not Central). It is about 32 inches long and is very tame. But it has not eaten since we bought it four months ago.

The dealer does not know what to do and neither do we. I know that a three-foot boa can go up to six months without food. We have tried several methods including using warm dead mice as well as live.

We don't want to have to let the snake go if it gets worse because it is so tame. Should we just wait until the snake eats or should we do something else? The cage that it is living in is a 20-gallon aquarium with sterilized sand in it. It has a branch, a water container and is kept about 80 degrees Fahrenheit.

Perhaps you can get in touch with a snake specialist to help me solve my problem. — D.D., La Verne.

We found a snake specialist in your own home town, Dr. Robert Neher, professor of biology at La Verne College.

He says your boa may be sick or it may be temperamental. If it is the latter, the reason might be that it needs to shed.

If the snake is sick, it should have antibiotics prescribed by a veterinarian and finding one who specializes in snakes is difficult. You say that one you talked with didn't even want to touch your pet.

Neher thinks wild animals are better left in their natural habitat. Often those purchased as pets wind up with the Humane Society.

Conditions for caring for tropical animals are pretty rigid, he says, and if a person already has such a pet he should give it good treatment. He comments that it sounds as if you are doing a good job. He is willing to work with you to try to help your boa.

In March my husband received a phone call from an insurance company asking permission to send a representative to our home to explain a great policy.

We made an appointment with them. They sold us the GREAT policy for $20.25 per month. We were told we were covered as of that time, $15,000 on my husband, $14,576 on me, $2,000 on each child, accidental death double, on fare-paying vehicle triple indemnity, cash value at 65 years $7,500, etc.

On April 15 we received a "thank you for your application letter." The company promised our policy in a few weeks.

In May the company phoned requesting a physical (which we had been told wouldn't be required). On May 7, my husband took the physical.

In June I began to phone about the policy. First they told me our agent was no longer with them because of personal problems and the policy was going to be mailed that week. Then they couldn't find anything but would call San Francisco, the home office.

They then told me to phone Kaiser Health Foundation and get them to send our "pass medical." (My husband had an accident a couple of years ago and was in Kaiser Hospital for three days). At Kaiser, they said they had sent the report a week or more back.

When I phoned the firm again, I was told that if I didn't like it to cancel out. I phoned San Francisco, told someone how rude the man here was and was assured that action would be taken.

We received a letter on June 22 stating our policy would be issued in about 10 days. Then a man phoned and said we would get another kind of policy. He said he didn't have to tell us why but he would bring it out the next day. We've never heard from them again.

We don't want a refund or another policy. We want our original policy plan. — Mrs. R. S., Pomona.

We wrote to the San Francisco office. A woman phoned from that office to say the sales manager in charge of Southern California was investigating your complaint.

We immediately called you. The investigation must have been speedy because you said the policy had just been delivered.

I read in Action Line that someone wanted information on where quilting is available.

Another source besides the one you mentioned is the Seventh-day Adventist Dorcas Society. Members meet in the basement of the church at Third and Gordon streets each Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. The phone number is 622-1450.

They do not have a long waiting list and do beautiful work reasonably. — V.K., La Verne.

The group we wrote about is the Ladies' Aid of the La Verne Church of the Brethren. They have a two-year waiting list, so we are glad to know about the Dorcas Society.

Thief on bike uses cane crook to snatch purse

POMONA — A bicycle-mounted thief used the crook of a cane Thursday evening to snatch a purse away from a woman on the Pomona Mall.

Police said Ruth Mona Moen of Pomona told them she was sitting on a bench outside Buffums department store about 6 p.m., the purse buried on her lap beneath parcels and a notepad on which she was composing a letter. She heard a noise, looked up and saw the purse-snatcher pedaling away, her handbag dangling from the end of a stick.

RICHARD GILLESPIE

K of C names new leader

POMONA — Richard Gillespie will head Knights of Columbus Council 877 as grand knight for the coming year.

Gillespie of Pomona served as deputy grand knight last year. Before he transferred to Council 877 he served as grand knight of the La Puente Council.

Cliff Truse of Montclair has been elected deputy grand knight.

Other new officers are Dan Savala, chancellor; Angelo Romeo, treasurer; Richard Hoch, recorder; and Frank Madrid, warden.

Elected guards are John Cullen, Paul Jeffers and Frank Mead. Ralph Smith was elected a trustee and joins Otto Brost and Roman Pfiffner in that position.

Gillespie succeeds Robert J. Sullivan as grand knight.

Under Sullivan's leadership, the council donated more than $1,800 to various Pomona charities, including Little League, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, last year.

Labor Day to mark end of career for labor worker

POMONA — Thirty years' service to the working public will end appropriately on the Labor Day weekend for Clark Alvin Robison as he retires from his position as the employers service representative in the San Bernardino Job Bank office here for the state Human Resources Department.

On the Saturday before the holiday honoring all working Americans, Robison, a resident of Upland, concludes the career he began in 1934 as a social case worker for the California State Relief Administration. He transferred to the state Department of Employment in 1936, where he has remained except for periods of military service.

Robison was honored last week by his superiors and colleagues at a testimonial dinner in Upland. Officials from the Job Bank, Pomona and Covina HRD offices attended ceremonies in which he received a certificate of service from Dwight Geduldig, director of HRD, and a digital clock-radio from co-workers.

A veteran of World War II and the Korean War, he retired in 1967 as a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force reserves. Among the positions held with the state during his 30 years of service are:

—Unemployment insurance manger, Glendale.

—Veterans' employment representative in Los Angeles after WW II.

—Technical services supervisor, East Los Angeles field office.

—Placement officer and application inteviewer in various offices.

Pomona businessmen know Robison well for his work in their behalf with the Job Bank during the past two years.

Following his retirement, Robison plans to continue living at his residence at 1534 N. Euclid Ave., Upland. He says extensive travel is high on his list of plans, which he summarizes as "just fishing." Robison and his wife Thelma have seven children, 26 grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren scattered throughout the United States.

Ontario 500 soapbox derby competition is scheduled

POMONA — Between 25 and 30 contestants begin competing for the Ontario 500 Festival Association's soapbox-type derby crown at Cal Poly Saturday morning.

Only 10 of the drivers and their cars will be eliminated from the competition, which concludes Sept. 1 in Ontario with the final runoffs.

Activities for Saturday's eliminations are scheduled to get under way at 8 a.m. with the mandatory inspection of the motorless cars. Competition will begin immediately afterward.

The sleek cars will be launched on specially designed ramps for their short runs.

Among the entrants is the "Spirit of Poly," a blue, three-wheeled racer which has won the Grand Prix at Cal Poly the past three years.

The race is co-sponsored by Student Chapter 86, Society of Manufacturing Engineers, Cal Poly and the Ontario Recreation and Parks Division.

PSH research chief going to conference

POMONA — Dr. Ricard C. Eyman, chief of research at Pacific State Hospital, will participate in a panel on community rehabilitation of the mentally retarded at the 81st annual convention of the American Psychological Association Monday in Montreal.

Dr. Eyman will discuss the development of self-help skills for the retarded in the community versus institutional training.

Montoya bill to aid kidney victims gains panel support

Legislation by Joseph B. Montoya, D-50th Dist., that would require the state to pay treatment costs for all Californians receiving kidney machine therapy won approval in the Senate Health Committee this week.

"The purpose of this bill is to permit persons on dialysis to obtain state assistance without pauperizing them by exhausting their personal holdings and income," Montoya said.

In order to qualify for state-assisted treatment many of California's 2,000 dialysis patients were forced to give up their jobs, he said.

"Existing regulations discriminate against the individual who is capable of working. Not only is there little incentive to work, but there is also little incentive to shift from the extremely costly hospital dialysis center to less expensive home-based care," Montoya said.

Montoya's bill would provide free treatment to patients with a "net worth" of less than $5,000 annually. Patients exceeding that amount would pay 1 per cent of the cost for each $5,000 of their net worth. The bill now goes before the Senate Finance Committee.

Opinion

President's war power is unclear

Next to the head-on clash between Congress and President Nixon over the Watergate tapes, the question of "war powers" is the most crucial constitutional dilemma facing the nation at the present time.

The Constitution is clear about who may declare war. That is up to the Congress of the United States. But who may "make war"? The president, as commander in chief? Or is that, too, the prerogative of the legislative branch?

According to Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the staunchest advocate on his side of the controversy, the answer is the president. Historical precedent tends to back him up.

By his compilation, U.S. military forces have been engaged in hostilities abroad — without a declaration of war — at least 199 times. Almost half of these military actions lasted more than a month and some 103 of them took place outside this hemisphere.

Moreover, recalls Goldwater, the Constitutional Convention of 1787 rejected a clause giving Congress the power "to make war" and substituted for it only the power "to declare war." From brief records of the debate, he says, it is quite clear that the framers at least had a purpose of "leaving to the Executive the power to repel sudden attacks."

There is agreement on the latter point from the other side. But says Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman D-N.Y., "after careful study of the Constitution, I have concluded that the President lacks the power to begin or carry on a war without congressional approval for even one day, except in an emergency to repel an attack on this country. Nor should he have that power."

Rep. Holtzman, who led an unsuccessful attempt to have the Supreme Court halt U.S. bombing in Cambodia before the congressionally ordered cut-off date of Aug. 15, voted against the House version of a war powers bill. This bill would terminate hostilities in 120 days unless the president received specific congressional approval.

A Senate bill, sponsored by Sen. Jacob Javits, D-N.Y., passed in 1972 and again in 1973, would set a deadline of 30 days.

Numerous critics of both bills argue that rather than curbing presidential power in this area and hopefully preventing repetitions of the Vietnam and Cambodian experiences, simply attempting to "codify" the situations in which a president could plunge the country into a war would actually encourage more presidential military adventures.

To one observer, behind all the rhetoric seems to be an attempt to rewrite history by absolving Congress of any blame for Vietnam. But it is difficult to find any point in the long and sorry history of Vietnam where either bill would have made any difference. The Senate did, in effect, sanction this country's involvement with the Tonkin Gulf Resolution in 1964 by a vote of 88-2.

The entire question may be academic in view of President Nixon's threatened veto of whatever compromise bill Congress finally passes. Yet in the wake of the Watergate-inspired reaction against the growth of presidential power, there is an outside chance that a veto could be overridden.

This may be another case where constitutional vagueness is the least of all conceivable evils.

Again, except in the event of an actual or impending attack against the United States (which no one argues about) no president should have the power to make war without answering to Congress and the nation—not in 120 days, not in 30 days, but instantly.

The little, costly errors

San Francisco's Mayor Joseph Alioto recently asked public and press to be patient with BART, the Bay Area's partially completed rapid transit system, saying that the delays that have plagued it are not unlike those that have resulted in the recall of automobiles and defects in many commercial products, including typographical errors in newspapers.

The San Francisco Examiner agreed.

Faulty workmanship, it pointed out, "adds billions to the cost of doing business in the United States. It is reflected in the prices we pay for goods and services. It is reflected the taxes we pay at the city, state and federal level."

Management usually gets the blame for defects, and it "does indeed make its share of highly visible mistakes. But we're talking about those day-to-day mistakes that mess up products and infuriate consumers." Like typos. And stalled rapid transit trains.

In most cases, however, the error is a fairly simple one by a careless or casual worker hidden "far down the chain of command . . . invisible in a sea of faces on the production line." It could be any of us, because our vast technological progress has not yet produced the infallible, the errorless human being.

As the Examiner makes clear, the vast majority of employes do their work in a conscientious and competent manner. And in an earlier, simpler time, the human error factor usually did little harm. But in our highly complex technological society one of those errors can cause a lot of havoc.

It would be splendid if science could perfect some automatic corrector for our mistakes — at work or in out social relationships—but fallibility seems to be a permanent part of the human makeup. Until the millenium, then, we'll all just have to try a little harder.

Narcs can't compete with smugglers

WASHINGTON — The government's war against drug smuggling, trumpeted as one of the major domestic successes of the Nixon Administration, is losing the battle to fleets of small private planes and fast boats.

Classified documents from the Customs Bureau made available to us demonstrate the extent of the government's failure. They flatly state that the narcotics agents cannot compete with the ingenuity of the smugglers.

The dope runners have organized the most important small boat operation since the evacuation of Dunkirk and the government's fragmented narcotics forces are unable to cope with them.

"We must undertake a program to provide Customs control of small boat traffic entering the United States," one of the documents asserts. "Smuggling of narcotic drugs by small boats is a serious problem. At present, we have no means of effecting interdiction of drugs entering the United States by this means."

Private planes

The high flying dope peddlers operate with equal freedom, hauling their cargo of white powder from Mexico and Canada with virtually no opposition.

"Smuggling by means of private aircraft has grown in a situation where control of this commerce, for technical reasons, was not possible," the documents said.

In short, the situation is so out of hand that Mafia and free-lance traffickers have virtual carte blanche to haul their wares across the United States borders.

Federal antinarcotics officials have made elaborate plans to increase their efficiency in the air and on the water, but budget conscious bureaucrats have cut out this capability. For this fiscal year alone, the Office of Management and Budget has sliced the Customs budget for these plans from $11.4 million to $3.3 million.

Can't buy equipment

This penny-wise policy is preventing narcotics agents from acquiring sophisticated tools, including aircraft with special tracking equipment, boats fast enough to catch smugglers' craft and sensors to seek out the dope runners.

The drug fighters are using some electronic sensors borrowed from the military, but find them virtually worthless.

"To date, sensors available for boat surveillance have been rudimentary in nature," one Customs report states. "This situation exists because of the lack of developmental funding and technical capability that has existed for years within the Customs Agency Service."

The heavily publicized seizures of millions of dollars worth of narcotics are largely the work of old-fashioned customs and narcotics agents at ports or elsewhere, based on leads from painstakingly nurtured informants. Arrests of smugglers through random checks of small planes or boats have been few and infrequent.

Badly fragmented

Presently, the air-sea fight against drugs is badly fragmented between Customs at the Treasury Department and the new Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) at the Justice Department. A memorandum describing a meeting last month between Customs' air intrusion coordinators and George Brosan, a top Customs enforcement official, makes clear that neither agency knows what the other is doing.

There are about 50 planes of various kinds available at any one time to the two agencies for air and boat surveillance. But without cooperation between them through use of informers who signal the departure of a shipment from some lonely harbor or airport, the planes are useless. They cannot "picket-line" the entire border.

DEA, which may wind up with the whole program eventually, is too busy reorganizing to take on any new duties, particularly ones as complicated as the "Air Intrusion" operation.

The overall mess is best summed up by Brosan:

"Both the Drug Enforcement Administration and the Immigration and Naturalization Service have token programs. Neither can compare with the present Customs effort, and possibly some thought ought to be given to combining the three programs."

CIA PIG-STICKER: The men who work for the Central Intelligence Agency are traditionally regarded as close-mouthed characters who spend their waking hours tracking spies and tapping telephones.

Angus MacLean Thuermer, the agency's "public information officer," defies tradition. He is one of the nation's foremost "pig stickers" and he doesn't mind talking about it.

He became addicted to the exotic sport of "pig sticking" — which, in his words, is "a nicely underplayed British term for hunting wild boar on horseback with a spear" — while serving with the Foreign Service in India.

Last year, Thuermer went back to India for another hog hunt. When he returned to the states, he broke CIA tradition and published his memoirs of the hunt in an obsure weekly newspaper called the "Piedmont Virginian."

THE LIGHTER SIDE

Boycotts can work both ways

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Consumer boycotts take two forms. In one, the consumer is the boycotter, as happened last spring when carnivorous supermarket customers rebelled against high meat prices.

In the other type, the consumer becomes the boycottee. As is happening now under Phase IV of the government's knockout blow against inflation.

Cattlemen, for example, are boycotting consumers by holding cows off the market to protest beef price controls.

And during the Labor Day weekend, according to the American Automobile Association, thousands of service station operators plan to boycott consumers by closing their doors in protest over gasoline price controls.

Furthermore, a survey by the National Federation of Independent Business shows that many gas stations are reducing their services even when they are open for business.

Such common amenities as washing windshields, checking radiators and airing up tires are rapidly being dispensed with. Fair enough.

We consumers have accepted these many civilities over the years with hardly so much as a "thank you." Now that gasoline dealers are in a profit squeeze because of price controls, it behooves us all to return the courtesy.

I'm not suggesting a motorist should get out of the car and wash the service station window every time he stops for gas.

But you can invite your gasoline dealer to stop and use your bathroom any time he's in your neighborhood. And there are numerous other ways you can show your appreciation for all that he has done for you.

Whenever I am having my tank filled, I make it a point to hand the attendant a few dozen Green Stamps.

If I purchase 10 gallons or more, I give him a free water glass imprinted with the likeness of Bobby Riggs clad in a loin cloth and dragging Billie Jean King across a tennis court by her hair.

When I use my credit card, I give him a certificate entitling him to buy a set of bone-handle steak knives at a big discount.

(The latter gift may seem an empty gesture in view of the aforementioned consumer boycott by cattlemen. But it's the spirit that counts.)

Finally, I give him a bonus card in an exciting game called "Lucky Bug." Each card contains the testimony of one of the Watergate witnesses. Anyone who can make two cards match wins a $5,000 papershredding machine.

As in the games that oil companies used to sponsor, the odds are 10,000 to 1.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

Avoid scandalous gossip

Mr. Sawislak of the U.P.I. reports in your August 15th issue:

"It has been said that if Watergate had . . . been on the Thames instead of the Potomac, the prime minister . . . would be out." Just who would make such a silly report is not stated.

Whether the citizenry there would be as badly bugged by bugging is highly questionable. We do know it is accepted as a matter of course on the continent. In fact our own taboos are very recent. In any event it has not yet been established that the president was involved.

However, the chief deterrent to our extreme actions would be British law. The media would not be permitted to so vigorously beat the kettledrums.

The May 26th issue of the London Economist has just reported their government's findings of a committee chaired by Lord Justice Salruon to further restrict tribunals of inquiry and to prevent "rumour mongering."

We would do well if we were to "enshrine in legislation" such findings and avoid what Lord Justice Salruon refers to as scandalous gossip.—Ray O. Swanson, Pomona.

Gossip for today

Some things never change!

First on the list come the crocodiles. They are the last existing members of the dinosaur group and have remained unchanged for 140 million years.

Then there are the politicians. For the last 3,000 years politicians have been rationalizing in the same old way: "The entire amount of these proposed salary increases for your dedicated government officials," they say, "will cost each taxpayer but a few cents each year."

Also, how about the overweight housewives whose excuse down through the centuries for being that way has been: My husband likes me this way?

And though I am leaving myself wide open to charges of racism, I still believe Kipling was right when he said: "East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet." — When a Japanese leader makes a blunder he commits harakari. In this country the smart leader lays the blame on the other fellow.

INSIDE REPORT

Nixon crowd tonic denied by security

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

NEW ORLEANS — Portraying not the self-confidence of a President convinced of his own rectitude, Richard M. Nixon launched a counterattack here on his legion of political enemies that even in the pro-Nixon bastion of the Veterans of Foreign Wars fell short of the mark with a sometimes painful thud.

"You noticed," a delegate to the VFW national convention lectured us later, "that no one here booed the President. That's why he comes to places like this, because he knows he will get a polite reception."

"Polite" was the right word: a thoroughly decent, unenthusiastic response to an uninspired speech that some of the President's own advisers felt did nothing to ease his agony with enemies or consolidate the loyalty of friends.

Yet, as an attempt to rally the waning Nixon constituency the speech here was an important one that placed Mr. Nixon squarely on the political offensive for the first time in months.

Applause is political tonic

The President's first strictly post-Watergate political foray to restore the activist presidency that gave him a near record landslide election nearly ten months ago was tarnished by an unfortunate incident even before it was launched. Thus, Mr. Nixon, for whom applause of huge crowds is singularly important as a political tonic, was denied those crowds here by a security scare. The Secret Service not only cancelled what looked like a promising motorcade through crowded sections of the city but also disbanded a mass of voters at the Rivergate Auditorium where he spoke.

Lacking that exhilarating crowd tonic, Mr. Nixon arrived on the stage at the Rivergate visibly nervous, unprofessional and trying too hard. He was escorted to his seat on the stage and took it quietly, with a shy wave to the packed throng of veterans. But suddenly, as though realizing an omission, he rushed to the podium, raising his arms three times in the familiar V for victory gesture. The move was that of a campaigner seeking applause and running for office, and the speech which followed it was likewise a speech of a candidate, not that of a secure possessor of the world's mightiest office.

To get on solid pre-Watergate grounds, charging that Democratic administrations had plunged the country into bloody war and he had gotten it out, Mr. Nixon attempted to recreate the political atmosphere of 1968 and 1969. The veterans here found the transition difficult to follow. As a result, Mr. Nixon was forced again and again to milk his crowd for applause.

He claimed that "thousands" of Americans were being killed every month in the war when he became President but that, because of his boldness in using American bombers and mine layers, he compelled the enemy to negotiate a fair settlement and now the war was over. It sounded like the 1972 campaign, and the applause seemed only an echo from last fall.

So Mr. Nixon milked harder. If he had to face a fresh decision now, he said, he would bomb the Cambodian border regions all over again just as he did in 1969. Again, the applause rolled over him, partly because his sympathetic audience knew he was asking for it. But there was no ovation.

Bombing is speech theme

Moreover, this attempt to create a political atmosphere in which Richard Nixon in fact acted strongly and wisely more than four years ago was spectacularly out of context with his present predicament. The Cambodian bombing has not become a truly major political issue, despite efforts of the antiwar bloc in Congress to make it one. Yet, it was the central theme of Mr. Nixon's speech.

The reason seems obvious. The Watergate-shrunk base of the new Nixon majority must be dramatically expanded if the President ever again is to wield real authority. To do that, he must start with natural allies like the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other special-interest groups with limited numbers.

Judging from his effort here, the mission the President launched to expand his base may prove impossible. As one VFW delegate summed it up, his speech "fits everything we stand for in the VFW, but I am still waiting to get the whole truth on Watergate."

Therein may lie the hidden trap of the President's developing counterattack.

Concerned about school safety, not stopping plan

Montoya defends airport bill against critics

WALNUT — Assemblyman Joseph Montoya says opposition is "highly exaggerated" to his bill requiring airport developers to pay for relocating schools from near future airport runways.

As the bill currently reads, it would require airport developers to pay all relocation costs for any school facilities within one-fourth mile of new airport runways.

Mrs. Christine Gilbert, chairwoman of Citizens Against the Airport, and Phil Anderson, Rowland school board president, want "runway" changed to "airport boundary" and the one-fourth mile distance converted to two miles.

"We are not concerned with stopping the airport, there are both advantages and disadvantages to it. What we're concerned about is the safety of children in the construction of the airport near a school," the 50th District assemblymen said in a telephone interview.

"We drafted a bill that we thought would take care of the situation and the safety of the children because we're not opposed to the building of the airport."

Both Mrs. Gilbert and Anderson said last week that the airport bill is too weak as it currently reads. Dr. Charles Ambellen, director of school planning on the state Board of Education, is reportedly also pushing for changes in the bill.

"We haven't heard any opposition from any groups or homeowners. We've only heard from Mrs. Gilbert. She is interested in stopping the airport completely and we don't have the power to do that. To say that we are unwilling to do something about it, about the school, is contradicted by the efforts we've made," Montoya said.

Mrs. Gilbert said Thursday that she represents a group that includes several hundred Walnut Valley residents. At its last meeting in May 200 persons attended, she said.

"The group asked me to pursue this bill in their best interest. These people have written letters and voiced their concern. Now they're just waiting for a public hearing because we can't do anything else right now," Mrs. Gilbert said.

The City of Industry airport site, which lies in a small flat valley surrounded by Walnut, West Covina and Diamond Bar residential areas, is about 1,000 feet from Walnut Elementary School. Long-range school district plans call for converting the facility into administrative offices, however.

Montoya's bill makes no provisions for proposed school sites or for long-range district plans for current school facilities. The Glenwick Elementary School site is also within one-fourth mile of the proposed general aviation facility.

The bill would require Industry to pay for new school buildings, a new site and all relocation costs, which Supt. David Brown estimted would cost $1.5 million.

Walnut has to hurry on refuse pact

WALNUT — Rubbish is on the City Council's collective mind these days-rubbish that councilmen would like to see picked up under an exclusive city franchise.

About a month ago the council adopted an ordinance which permits the granting of a franchise, but unless the council grants the contract in the near future, it could cost the city far too much.

Presently the state Legislature is reviewing a bill which would make sure competitors forced out of an area by a new franchise get reimbursed for their resulting loss of business. Since the bill has not yet been passed, Walnut can beat the costly provision by granting the refuse franchise soon. Then, there would be no competitors harmed when and if the proposed law is entered in the statute books.

At this week's council meeting, City Atty. Samuel Siegel explained there are several steps to be taken before the contract can be arranged. Top consideration is listing the terms of the contract—how often trash should be picked up, how the service will be paid for, business and commercial requirements, and so forth.

Then, the council must determine how scavenger companies can compete for the franchise, whether by invitation, through general advertisement, or some other means.

A subcommittee composed of Mayor Richard Laughter and councilman William Cotter is consulting with Siegel on the question. They expect to return with some proposals at the council's first meeting in September.

GROUNDBREAKING --JAPANESE STYLE

Walnut Mayor Richard Laughter makes an offer to the altar during elaborate Japanese ground purification ceremonies Tuesday for the La Solana Corp. subdivision on La Puente Road.

Asian ritual marks start of tract job

WALNUT — Ground was broken here this week for a 146-home subdivision during elaborate Japanese ground purification ceremonies conducted by the Rev. Taiichi Tsuyuki of the Konko Church.

The 1,500-year-old ceremony was conducted in four symbolic steps, including purification rites, prayers, an offering to the altar and the turning over of soil.

Local civic leaders and the La Solana Corp., developers, participated in the offering to the make-shift altar, set up in the open La Puente Road field. Tsuyuki invited them to present tree branches at the altar's base, symbolizing a "fresh mind, pure heart and brotherhood," he said.

La Solana President Masao Masai and others in the Newport Beach corporation are members of the Konko Church. The Japanese church has been active in the United States since 1936, he said.

The housing project will get under way within the next three weeks. It includes $30,000 to $46,000 homes on 8,500 to 1,050 square foot lots.

The project has been in the planning stages for over a year. It was originally intended as a residential planned development of condominums and large open areas but was blocked by citizen refereendum. La Solana then developed the current conventional housing plans.

Program in respiration therapy will be expanded

INDUSTRY — The Respiratory Therapy Department of Valley Vocational Center (VVC) will expand its program this fall.

Starting Sept. 11, classes will be offered Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and Monday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 10.

In addition, a three-month refresher course for those eligible to take the state certification examination will be held beginning Sept. 12.

VVC educators said their one-year respiratory therapy program is low-cost, high-quality training that leads to career opportunities as respiratory therapy technicians, a position in high demand in hospitals, clinics and medical centers.

Presently the Respiratory Therapy Department at VVC is in the process of applying for accreditation by the Joint Committee for Inhalation Therapy Education, made up of members of the American Medical Association and the American Association of Respiratory Therapy.

Additional information concerning the expansion of classes may be obtained by calling (213) 968-4638.

"The American labor movement has throughout its history attempted to improve working conditions and wage standards that are far superior to those anywhere in the world through the processes of collective bargaining with fair employers," Laughter's proclamation says.

"The City of Walnut calls upon all citizens to observe this special period in honor of organized labor by patronizing the products and services of union labor identified by these time-honored emblems," the proclamation states.

Decision delayed on Walnut impact expenditures

WALNUT — Councilmen here have delayed action on a proposal from engineering consultant Noel Christensen to create a reference environmental impact report for all city areas.

The proposed report, which the Lampman and Associates official said he would do free of charge, would reduce the cost of preparing environmental reports and simplify the information gathering process, Christensen said.

"Once the report is done and adopted by the council it will stand as the backbone for all future reports," Christensen said. It would include general reference information currently required in impact reports and would be expanded according to the characteristics of the development under study.

Councilmen postponed acceptance of the report until a similar Los Angeles County process can be reviewed. Councilman William Cotten said he wants "to try the county process on for size, to see how it works."

County Planning Consultant George Shindo and City Manager Andy Lazzaretto said, however, that the county environmental impact report service had been reviewed and was too expensive.

"What Lampman does for nothing the county will charge you for. An estimation of the EIR costs from the county aren't available because so many agencies are involved. The city would have to pick up the tab for any county department that participates in EIR preparation," Shindo said.

City officials met recently with Ray Ristic of the county engineering department to explore the possibility of utilizing his EIR service, Lazzaretto said. "If you implement the county service you have to use all of the county guidelines for adopting and working on impact reports," he said.

The law requires the city to prepare impact reports and then charge developers for their costs.

Christensen's proposal followed council criticism of high-cost impact reports currently required of most Walnut construction projects. Walnut pays Lampman a $600 a month retainer fee plus fees for individual projects it completes. Environmental impact reports for three recent city projects cost Walnut $3,600 above the $600 retainer.

"We're not in the business of selling impact reports to developers for the city," Christensen said. "The problem is that in protecting the city and ourselves in preparing the reports we have to follow all the state guidelines."

WILLIAM SCHALLERT

Schallert to clown in festival

HOLLYWOOD — Actor William Schallert, best known to television audiences as the father in the long-running Patty Duke series, will play the part of Touchstone, the clown, in the Los Angeles Free Shakespeare Festival production of "As You Like It."

The comedy will be open at the Pilgrimage Theater at 8:30 p.m. Sept.3.

Schallert, a native of Los Angeles, has been interested in live theater all his life. He made a study of repertory theater in Great Britain on a Fulbright Fellowship, and was one of the founders of the Circle Theater in Los Angeles.

Others in "as You Like It" are Penny Fuller, Joan Van Ark, Kristoffer Tabori and Roscoe Lee Brown. Alfred Ryder directs.

Marathon concert set at the Bowl

HOLLYWOOD — The Los Angeles Philharmonic will present "Mainly Mozart Marathon" at the Hollywood Bowl from 6 p.m. to midnight Wednesday. Tickets are $1.50 and no reservations are offered.

Lukas Foss will conduct the Philharmonic in such works as Haydn's Symphony No. 102 in B flat, Moxart's German Dances, K. 605, Gluck's "Dance of the Furies" and "Dance of the Blessed Spirits," and C.P.E. Bach's Sinfonia in F, W. 183, No 3. He will also play the piano with guest star violinist Pinchas Zukerman, for a performance of a Mozart Violin and Piano Sonata. Zukerman also will play the solo part in Mozart's Concerto in D. K. 218.

Excerpts from Mozart's "Idomeneo," are to be sung by sopranos Susan Belling and Jeannine Wagner, and tenor Roger Patterson. Miss Belling will also sing the concet aria "Ch'io mi scordi di te," K. 505.

Also programmed are concertos by such composers as Haydn, Winter and Albrechtsberger, and chamber works by Mozart, Haydn and Stamitz featuring members of the Philharmonic.

Jazz society plans picnic

POMONA — The Society for the Preservation of Dixieland Jazz will hold its annual picnic-concert on the picnic grounds of the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds starting at 2 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited.

The afternoon-long jam session will include performances by Dixieland musicians from all over Southern California. Refreshments will be on sale.

SPDJ, which has been meeting at Griswold's Pavilion in Claremont, will move back to the West Covina Elks Lodge, 841 W. Merced Ave., for its regular meetings starting Sept. 23. The move was made necessary because Griswold's is being remodeled. The club met at the West Covina Elks Lodge for 10 years before moving to Claremont.

SPDJ's busy summer has included a boat trip concert to Catalina Island, a ball game concert at Anaheim Stadium, and a birthday party for jazz trumpeter Teddy Buckner.

The society will give concerts at the fairgrounds Sept. 16 and 30, the first and last Sundays of the fair.

Soprano to solo with band

LOS ANGELES — Soprano Josephine Lombardo will sing operatic arias and selections from Broadway musicals in a concert of the Philharmonic Band in MacArthur Park at 2 p.m. Sept. 2. Admission is free

This is one of the many free concerts presented to the public by the Bureau of Music of the Muncipal Arts Department, in cooperation with Musicians Union, Local 47, and the Music Performance Trust Funds of the Recording Industries.

The band is conducted by Louis Palange. He played in radio program orchestras before joining the U.S. Navy, where he was put in charge of music for documentary films. He later was transferred to Washington. D.C., where he was in charge of music in all documentary ilms for 4½ years.

After the war, conducting for big radio and television shows was combined with leading a symphony orchestra in Los Angeles. The orchestral and band conducting increased until now he has seven musical units under his direction, for which he programs everything from symphonies to pop tunes.

Rattles & straws

The return of vaudeville

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Watching a baseball game on television presupposes a television set that works, a chair that does not have a dog lying in it, and a telephone and wife that do not sound off when the bases are loaded. It's not all that easy.

There's something very mysterious about the average husband-sports fan and his attempts to communicate with the world of professional athletics. I'm not saying it's a conspiracy . . . I'm not SAYING it.

During the pre-game show, or "warmup," only slightly more interesting than watching test patterns, the house is empty and still. Not a door creaks, not a step is heard. You might be in Grant's Tomb. While the TV camera wanders idly across the fans in the ballpark stumbling their way through our National Anthem, your home holds the sacred silence of Westminister Cathedral.

The first pitch, however, is like the curtain going up on a Broadway musical. In quick succession the phone rings, the dog barks to go out and the back door bangs open and someone's wife demands angrily "if it's too much to ask you to leave your—ballgame for a minute to help me in with the groceries!" Somebody thumps on the front door, a bearded teenager posing as your son throws a football at you, and the dog wets on the carpet. Murcer files deep to left.

If it's a crucial game, the living room of the suburban sports lover is a nine-inning circus. He might as well put on pancake makeup and a clown suit—he's not going to see any of the game.

All the evidence of this national conspiracy is, I grant, circumstantial. But why did little Lucy come to stand between you and the TV to show you her costume for the school play just as Robinson hit into that brilliant double play? You knock the kid sideways to see it on instant replay, and she is replaced by a large shaggy dog slavering joyfully in your lap with a slimy softball in his mouth.

Was it really accidental that the kids selling Girl Scout cookies came thumping on the door just as Pinson went to the centerfield fence for that spectacular back-handed grab? Was it just a coincidence that "the man about the water heater" showed up at the exact moment that Nettles lofted a two-run homer into the seats?

Those two-and-a-half hours of game time seemed to have been foreordained for a drop-in by Charlie and Betty Struthers, who have not dropped in since the World Series; for a visit by the Avon lady; for a telephone call from the office.

The minister and his wife stopped in ("We were just passing by"—and you wonder whey they didn't) as Torborg belted one to left—"White's going back—back—back—"

Curiouser and curiouser. Bases loaded, score tied in the bottom of the 11th inning—and Alomar blazes down the path in an attempt to steal home. And the television set suddenly goes dead as Junior flunks another science project in the cellar.

Watching a baseball game on television is what makes sports fans read about the game in the newspaper the next day.

ALL CHOKED UP — Hilda Allen as Mrs. Gillis gets rough treatment from Thom Roman as Howard in a scene from the Pacific Group Theater production of "The Man." The Mel Dinelli suspense drama will have its final performances at Valley Community Theater, 132 E. Third St., Pomona, at 8:30 tonight and Saturday. Richard Dow directs.

This will fix your clock

Does mention of a schoolhouse clock bring back a touch of nostalgia? It should, because if you were a clock-watcher in those days like most of us, you always looked forward to the hands hitting the Roman numerals that marked the recess hours, lunch and quitting time.

Nostalgia for the past is all the rage now and you can relive those "dear old golden rule days" by building the timepiece. It's pictured here with Agneta Eckemyr of Disney Studio's "The Island At The Top Of The World."

This easily-built clock is an exact replica of the original old schoolhouse model. There are no complicated miters. The octagon is cut from a single piece of pine. The moldings used on the pendulum box are readily available from your lumber dealer. Construction time is only about 6 hours, when you use our easy-to-follow, full-size pattern with step-by-step pictures and instructions.

The clock operates with a cordless pendulum movement, powered by standard batteries (available everywhere). You can stain and varnish the clock to match the finish typical of yesteryear. You may prefer to antique it. The whole thing's a fun project.

To obtain the full-size Schoolhouse Clock Pattern number 530, send $1.50 (add 25c per pattern for airmail delivery) by cash, check or money order to:

Autumn's best time to plant lawn grasses

By far the best time of year to seed cool-season lawn grasses — the Kentucky blue grasses, fine fescues, bent grasses, and pernnial rye grasses—is autumn. Good weather, a promising season ahead, and a more relaxed job schedule, then, combine to make autumn ideal for both new lawn seedings or for bolstering thin turfs. All of these grasses thrive on the bright, crisp weather that usually prevails during autumn. The soil should be dry enough to cultivate nicely, making a good seedbed.

Cultivating the soil before seeding helps the new lawn to a good start. Mix fertilizer amply into the soilbed, at the rate recommended on the bag (typically 10 to 20 pounds-1,-000 square feet). Acid soils may need liming. A mechanical spreader distributes seed neatly. It will be useful later for maintenance fertilization and speading of pesticides. A surface mulch to prevent drying rounds out the new seeding. Only time (and enough watering to keep the soilbed moist) then stands between you and a cheerful carpet of green.

If soil cultivation is not feasible, perhaps your tired turf can be renovated merely by scuffing its surface ahead of overseeding. Powered turf thinners or scarifiers make rather light of this task. They can be rented in many urban areas. In some states knock-down chemicals are procurable. Best are types that leave no toxic residues in the soil. Killing unwanted vegetation before seeding ups the odds on survival of new sprouts. Just as with a new lawn, renovation requires regular watering

The Mind After Death

When a person dies all the forces of the body and mind rush through the brain, and by a series of pictures the whole life just ended is imprinted indelibly on the inner man (the reincarnating EGO) not only in a general outline, but down to the smallest detail of even the most minute and fleeting impression. When this solemn work is over, the astral body detaches itself from the physical body and the mind is in a subjective state. The "OCEAN OF THEOSOPHY" pages 99 - 116 (available at Public Library) will give a detailed explanation. A free discussion is held every Sat., 8 p.m. at 507 TEXAS ST., POMONA. Home & Garden

Gardener's checklist

Set out annuals now for late summer and fall bloom. Marigolds, zinnias, asters, periwinkle and dwarf dahlias are a free-flowering fivesome to use to provide garden color.

Vegetables that are harvested early, before they mature and get tough on the plant, make the tastiest meals.

Chrysanthemums, by now, should have been cut back for the final time. Provide plenty of moisture and feed every three or four weeks until the flower buds show color.

Invited to a friend's home for a barbecue? Surprise your hostess by presenting her with living greenery. A piggyback plant to serve as a hanging basket, a bird's nest fern in a small wicker basket-like container, will show your appreciation and will delight her.

A midsummer feeding for the lawn is in order. If crabgrass is taking over, or a traditional weed problem exists in your lawn, have your nurseryman recommend control procedures

PRETTY TIMELY — Agneta Eckemyr is pretty all the time, but this build-it-yourself school clock arrives just in time for the nostalgia craze. So, clock-watchers, fuel your memories!

Proper cultivation is most important step in new lawn

Best for starting a new lawn, whether by seeding or sodding, is a cultivated soil bed. Plowed or rotary tilled soil should be free from competing vegetation (rake for the compost pile any old sod chunks that surface). Cultivation should extend at least two or three inches deep,with fertilizer mixed in during the operation (use rates recommended on the bag, usually about 10 pounds to each thousand square feet).

Level the surface, and if there is doubt about loose soil pockets water the lawn to settle the ground. Rake level, crumbling the surface again for good acceptance of seed. Soil left slightly lumpy rather than pulverized provides cracks into which seed can settle; and it better resists slaking, encouraging insoak rather than runoff.

Sow seed of good quality. A few cents saved on seed is no bargain if it means headaches later; even a minor percentage of weeds or other unwanted components can cause problems. Very few seed mixtures today are weedy, but some contain small amounts of agricultural seed, and inexpensive blends may be deliberately compounded with short-lived or coarser grasses. The label indicates if a mixture is composed 100 per cent of superior grasses such as bluegrass, fine fescue, bentgrass and perennial rye grass.

Of course there are always some dormant weed seeds in the soil, which become activated by cultivation. Autumn lawn seeding has the advantage of soon dooming the most prevalent weeds, those needing warm weather. Any cool-weather weeds can be cleaned up later with a weed killer if they are not squeezed out by the grass.

Soil bed preparation should be just as careful for sodding as for seeding. Sod laid to hard, uncultivated soil has little chance of striking root and lasting any length of time. And just as you wouldn't plant weedy seed, specify cultivated rather than old field sod, available in blends of Merion and many other of the attractive new varieties.

Sod would not hold together well if it were not for Kentucky bluegrass. Bluegrass spreads by underground stems called rhizomes which weave into a network of living strands. Many pounds of pull are required to tear a square of sod in half.

Tests at the University of Michigan have shown that as little as 10 per cent of a good sod-forming variety such as Merion Kentucky bluegrass, will serve to hold sod together (the remainder may be fescue, perennial ryegrass or something else). Ordinarily, however, at least 70 per cent of the seeding mixture is bluegrass.

Nuptial vows said by couple in Chino

A candlelight ceremony at the First Christian Reformed Church in Chino united in marriage Miss Corrine Marie VanderSchaaf and Kenneth Koolhaas.

The Rev. Louis Dykstra officiated at the evening rite.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John VanderSchaaf of Ontario chose a chantilly lace gown trimmed in beads with a cathedral train for her wedding. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Bill Dotinga of San Bernardino served as matron of honor for her sister. Mrs. Jim Heida of Corona, another sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Candlelighters were Janice Koolhaas, sister of the groom, and Bev VanderSchaaf, sister of the bride. Joni VanderSchaaf, sister of the bride, held the guest book.

Billy Dotinga, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Fred Ritsema of Grand Rapids, Mich., served as best man for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Koolhaas of Chino. Ushers were Dennis Koolhaas, brother of the groom, and John VanderScaff, brother of the bride.

A reception dinner at Griswold's Inn was attended by 350 guests.

After a week-long honeymoon in the Hawaiian Islands, the newly-wed couple is making its home in Corona.

Mrs. Koolhaas graduated from Cal Poly and is now teaching at Valley Christian High School in Bellflower. Her husband graduated from Calvin College, Grand Rapids, Mich., and works at his father's dairy.

'Kicking the habit'

Smokers make excuses

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some people can quit smoking "cold turkey," some turn to various clinics to kick the habit, and some even try hypnosis.

Then there are the smokers who make lovely excuses for going right on using the weed.

A Mayo Clinic specialist has compiled a list of excuses from his patients on why they go on puffing. Dr. Leon Shirlaw's list is in the current newsletter from the Health Insurance Institute.

There is the reasoning given by one patient, "It is the only way I can clear my chest in the morning." Another says, "It steadies my nerves."

The physician lists these others:

"My father was a nonsmoker. Look what it did to him!"

"If I stopped I'd put on weight."

"You only live once." Or, "You only die once."

"It makes it possible for my wife to live with me."

"My son collects cigarette cards."

"It makes life with my wife bearable."

Dr. Shirlaw smokes too, but insists for a "genuine reason." He explains, "I smoke because it makes me cough. And coughing is the only genuine exercise I get these days."

The statistics are nothing to sneeze about.

The season is upon us when one out of every 15 Americans suffers allergic symptoms and hay fever instead of the weather often is the opening for a conversation.

There are a lot of misconceptions about familar allergies and to correct some of them, the Long Island Jewish-Hillside Medical Center at New Hyde Park, N.Y., has put together a quiz.

The center, which originated the pollen count, uses the Durham Counting Chamber, a device that traps airborne pollen grains on a miscroscopic slide.

Its reports are fed daily to news media in the greater New York area. Other medical centers in other parts of the country now are doing the same for their areas.

Now for the quiz.

If a person has "rose fever" he or she is allergic to roses, goldenrod, or grasses? Answer: grasses.

If a person has "hay fever" he or she is allergic to goldenrod, ragweed or hay? Answer: ragweed.

Most pollen is dispersed from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m., or from midnight to 6 a.m? Answer: from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The best place for a hay fever suffered on a day with high pollen count is in his own neighborhood, at the beach or in the mountains? Answer: at the beach.

A friend of mine is in with an idea for families with little ones around. It's an identification bracelet...protection in case the child wanders off.

In her case, her son going on 2 and not able yet to communicate name, address and telephone number has two identification bracelets. One is for summer, giving the necessary information for their beach residence. The other is for winter, with the information for their town address.

SHADED DRIVER

Jerry Grant gets some shade provided by pit crew between runs at OMS. Grant was one of a number of drivers to top 190 mph Thursday. He hit 190.645 mph in his Olsonite Eagle.

Bobby may have fastest car again

By CURT WEBSTER
P-B Staff Writer

ONTARIO — Bobby Unser appears, once again, to have brought the fastest machine in the field with him to Ontario Motor Speedway.

Unser, who set the official track record of 201.965 m.p.h. in qualifying for last year's California 500, turned in the fastest lap of the week's practice for the '73 500 Thursday afternoon.

Unser piloted his Dan Gurney-designed Olsonite Eagle around the oval to post a speed of 196.014 in a late afternoon practice run.

Unser's ride was almost three miles an hour faster than the second best speed of the day, 193.681 set by Peter Revson's Gulf McLaren.

Should Unser put the car on the track today, he stands a good chance of shattering the 200 mile barrier even before Saturday's qualifying runs get under way, a feat unprecedented in Ontario history.

Lee Kunzman, meanwhile, continued to give warning that he may do something spectacular Saturday as he posted the third fastest lap of the day, a 193.208.

Kunzman, 29, is competing in only his second full season on the United States Auto Club (USAC) Championship season.

Lloyd Ruby didn't better his 195.865 showing of Wednesday, which stands as the second best speed of the week so far.

While Unser was capturing the limelight, a trio of his solidest competiton made its first appearance of the track.

Al Unser, Joe Leonard, and Mario Andretti of the Vel's-Parnelli "Super Team" took their reworked Parnellis out in the morning session.

Mechanics in the team's Torrance garage have been rebuilding the distinctively shaped machine's body design over the past week.

The Grant King-built Kingfish suspension was installed on each car. To accomodate the change, four inches had to be shaved off the distance from the back of the driver to the engine, and then had to be added to the nose of the machines.

Leonard posted the best speed of the three, a 188.261. Unser ran a 186.366, and Andretti a 183.839.

All in all, 12 drivers broke 190 m.p.h. Thursday, including Mark Donohue and Indianapolis 500 winner Gordon Johncock. Donohue's Sunoco Eagle achieved a top speed of 191.330, while Johncock's STP Eagle ran a 191.192.

Only one crash marred the fourth day of practice. Lee Brayton's Coyote hit the wall coming out of Turn One a total of three times and wound up in the infield, just below the head of the backstretch.

Brayton, miraculously, wasn't injured, but his car received extensive damage. The right front wheel was torn from the body of the car compeltely.

Graham McRae drove his STP Eagle out of the pits Thursday afternoon while battling a case of chicken pox. The illness had been diagnosed at Loma Linda Hospital and kept McRae off the track Wednesday.

McRae's Eagle stalled, however, on the backstretch and he required a tow to get back into the pits.

L.A. holds three-game advantage

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The Los Angeles Dodgers have a three-game lead over second-place Cincinnati in the National League West today as they open a three-game series against Philadelphia.

The Dodgers beat the New York Mets in another squeeker —5-4-Thursday night after the Reds lost their third straight to the Chicago Cubs.

Claude Osteen had his troubles but settled down after the fifth inning and turned back 13 batters in a row as he got his 15th win against six losses. This was the fourth win this season over the Mets for Osteen.

"It was a night I'll probably remember for a long time," said Osteen. "It was an unusual night because I've had such good rhythym lately. But I went out there in the first inning and I knew things were going wrong. I didn't have it in the early innings."

Willie Crawford caught a line drive off the bat of Jerry Grote in the sixth inning to start a double play and Osteen became effective after that.

"I got my balance back," he said. "From then on, I was throwing okay. I wasn't as fine as I am normally, though. I was all over the plate for the first five innings. I got good support behind me."

Osteen had 18 scoreless innings against the Mets going into the game.

The game was tied at 4-4 after five innings. In the sixth, Joe Ferguson rapped his third double to bring in Willie Davis with the tie-breaker. Davis singled off reliever Buzz Capra, 2-6, to set up the score. Ferguson's other doubles were in the fourth and fifth innings and he scored both times.

Crawford drove him home in the fourth inning with a double that tied the score. The Mets got one run in the first inning and their second in the fourth. Willie Mays drove in the first run with a single and pitcher Jon Matlack singled in the second.

The Mets got the 4-4 tie in the fifth with two runs on a walk, singles by Mays and John Milner and a sacrifice fly by Cleon Jones. The Dodgers had taken a 4-2 lead in the top of fifth on Davis' two-run homer, Ferguson's second double and Bill Russell's single.

Tommy John, 11-7, faces the Phils' towering Wayne Twitchell, 12-5, tonight.

Rams look for first win in Miami

By United Press International

It's taken nearly a month but Coach Don Shula of the world champion Miami Dolphins finally will get his Super Bowl backfield together.

Mercury Morris will join quarterback Bob Griese, out last week with an elbow infection, in the Miami backfield tonight when the Dolphins play host to the Los Angeles Rams. Csonka has been out with a calf injury and Morris has a bad hip

The Dolphins' offense, best in the National Football League last season when they churned out an unprecedented 17 consecutive victories, has been struggling during pre-season play. Miami has been unable to put more than two touchdowns on the board in any of its four games and was held to only three field goals last week in a 9-9 tie with Chicago.

The Rams, under new coach Chuck Knox, also have been having their problems. They have yet to win in three preseason games, losing two and tying one. Los Angeles, with veteran John Hadl at the controls tonight, has scored only 31 points in its three games.

"We're not feeling any pressure," says Shula. "We realize that every team coming in wants to beat us. Our goal is individual and team improvement. We haven't met the Rams since 1971 and they've undergone a lot of changes since them, the addition of Hadl being one of the most recent and most important.

"We thought Hadl did a good job against us last year when he was with San Diego and I'm sure he'll be a good leader for the Rams. I've known Chuck Knox for a long time and I'm sure he has the makings of a successful coach."

Cincinnati is at Detroit in the only other game scheduled tonight while in Saturday action, Atlanta plays Cleveland at Knoxville, Tenn., Oakland meets Minnesota at Berkeley, Calif., Baltimore is at Washington, New England at New Orleans, Philadelphia at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis.

On Sunday, Pittsburgh plays the Giants in New York, Green Bay is at Kansas City, Chicago at Buffalo and Denver at San Francisco.

Paul Brown has won only three times at Detroit in his long coaching career and two of those have been preseason games. Ken Anderson is expected to return as Bengal quarterback after missing last week's game and No. 1 draft pick Isaac Curtis, a speedy wide receiver from San Diego State, is expected to make his debut for Cincinnati.

Detroit quarterback Greg Landry comes off a strong performance last week in the Lions' first pre-season loss.

In Thursday night's "Battle of Texas", Dan Pastorini threw three touchdown passes, including a 24-yarder to Fred Willis with just 72 seconds left, to lead the Houston Oilers to a 27-24 upset of the Dallas Cowboys.

The victory was Houston's first after three straight preseason losses and a 1-13 record last year.

"We showed them we can come through in the clutch," said Pastorini, who also threw 26 yards to Billy Parks and 15 to Dave Parks for TDs. "We showed ourselves we aren't losers and we showed the fans that we aren't losers. With the new players we have now and the good attitude we have, we will be winners—I know it."

In news from the camps Thursday, running back John Riggins, who reported five weeks late and sporting a Mohican haircut, said he will sit down with Weeb Ewbank, the New York Jets' coach and general manager, to discuss contract terms this weekend. Riggins was the Jets' MVP last season.

Defensive lineman Jack Gregory of the Giants will probably miss Sunday's game against the Steelers. Gregory was called back to his home in Mississippi Thursday because of illness to his new-born son.

The Steelers will be without two offensive starters, tackle Jon Kolb and guard Bruce Van Dyke, and several others players, including star running back Franco Harris, are doubtful.

Atlanta traded running back Willie Belton to Buffalo for defensive end Louis Ross and New Orleans Coach J.D. Roberts said he'll start Bobby Scott at quarterback against New England in place of the injured Archie Manning.

Winkles kids about Angels' comeback win

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Bobby Winkles had just one question.

"Who got the winning hit, Llenas or Short?"

The California manager could afford to be flippant after the Angels rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to pull out a 6-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers Thursday night.

The win moved the Angels into a tie with Minnesota for third place in the American League West.

California loaded the bases in the seventh after pulling within a run. Milwaukee reliever Chris Short then struck pinch-hitter Winston Llenas on the foot to force in the tying run. A walk to Sandy Alomar gave the Angels the go-ahead run.

Winkles also took the opportunity to apologize to umpire Larry McCoy for a dispute in the second inning in which McCoy ruled a ground-rule double for Bob Oliver.

Oliver's blast appeared to have landed just beyond the left field fence but McCoy said it bounced back onto the playing field and never fell into home run territory.

Both Winkles and Oliver argued profusely following the play.

After his bullpen vindicated McCoy's call, however, Winkles said he had no further argument.

"It just hit a rope that holds up the padding," Winkles said. "If I'm wrong, I'll admit it."

The ball came so close to going out, however, that reliever Dave Sells said: "If we'd have been smart and just kicked the bullpen fence, it would have fell over for a home run."

California starter Clyde Wright, who picked up the decision after his eighth try at win No. 8, is still just two losses shy of tying the club record of 19 defeats in a season.

Despite not having won in 36 days, Wright was philosophical about the rest of the season.

"I'm just going to give it all I have for the rest of the year," he said, "and hope for the best."

Dick Lange, 1-0, goes for the Angels tonight when they open a three-game series against the Boston Red Sox, who will start Bill Lee, 13-8.

Yanks battle Russ cagers

U.S. seeks a measure of satisfaction over hosts

MOSCOW (UPI)—The United States, its spirits brightened by a five gold medal sweep in swimming, can gain a measure of satisfaction in its futile chase of the Soviet Union at the World University Games today when the two powerful nations meet head-to-head in the honor-bound finals of the basketball competition.

The U.S., whose battle-fatigued cagers had to struggle to a narrow 66-60 victory over Brazil after Wednesday's chair-throwing brawl with Cuba, can atone for the Americans' overall disappointing showing in the Games with one quick KO of the Russians. The Soviets earned the right to the final by beating Canada, 89-74.

Regardless of the basketball outcome—or even of the David Johnson-led five gold medals the Americans took in swimming Thursday—the host Russians' insurmountable gold medal total has now reached 56 while the U.S. is a distant but solid second with 13.

Obviously shaken from the bloody knockdown melee with the Cubans only 24 hours earlier, the American cagers experienced frequent ragged streaks against the Brazilians before finally putting the game away with some "freeze" tactics in the last few minutes.

"We're gonna have to do a lot better if we're gonna win this thing," said Quinn Buckner, an Indiana guard who scored his lowest point total (10) of the U.S. all-winning seven games here.

"But I know a lot of guys didn't get too much sleep last night," Buckner said.

For a while, it looked as though the Americans were going to blow the Brazilians off the floor when they rolled up an early 19-3 lead. Brazil kept coming back, however, and surprisingly matched the taller Americans in rebounds in the second half.

"We just got sloppy after that big lead," said David Thompson of North Carolina State, who again led the U.S. with 17 points.

If the U.S. basketball victory was in doubt, the performance of the resurgent American swimmers was not. Headed by Johnson, a teammate of Cathy Carr's under New Mexico Coach John Mechem, the U.S. swimmers grabbed every gold medal in sight.

Johnson, of San Diego, Calif., who won the 200-meter backstroke on Wednesday, came back 24 hours later to cop the 100-meter event in 59.9 after trailing at the turn. Johnson thus joined teammate Allen Poucher of Jacksonville, Fla., as the only U.S. athletes to hold two individual gold medals.

Jack Tingley of Lousville, Ky., then added the men's 400-meter freestyle to the American gold, winning in a new games record of 4:02.9.

That brought on the U.S. women, and they did not disappoint. Ann Simmon of Long Beach, Calif., and Jill Strong of Tucson, Ariz., led a 1-2 American sweep of the 400-meter freestyle and Irene Arden of Vancouver, Wash., followed that with 1:06.1 come-from-behind win in the 100-meter butterfly. Miss Simmons' winning 400-meter time was a university games record of 4:28.8.

The final American swim gold medal went to the men's 400-meter relay team of Mark Elliott of Oklahoma City, Okla., Paul Tietz of Bartlesville, Okla., Dean Anderson of North Highlands, Calif., and Ken Knox of Glen Ridge, N.Y. They outswam the Soviet Union with a time of 3:28.6, second fastest ever in the world.

The two Russian gold medals came in freestyle wrestling and water polo.

The Cuban basketball team, which offered what U.S. coach Ed Badger called "a very apologetic" response to the technical committee for Wednesday's courtside fireworks, was much more subdued in defeating Czechoslovakia 64-58. However, the Cubans still managed to pick up 33 fouls in the game.

Suspension of Rentzel upheld

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A Superior Court judge Thursday upheld NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle's suspension of wide receiver Lance Rentzel of the Los Angeles Rams.

"It is clear that the defendants have sought for years to establish a standard of public conduct for professional football participants, including players," ruled Judge David A. Thomas, who added:

"This standard includes the portrayal of players as high type, admirable young men who are worthy of the respect and emulation of the young."

WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE —Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini flies through the air Thursday night after being hit by Dallas lineman. Oilers came away with a 27-24 upset, however.

Oilers rejoice, 27-24

Cowboys stunned

HOUSTON (UPI) — Coming into the game the Houston Oilers had lost their last 14 preseason and regular season games. They were victors in just one game of their last 19 and that victory was an upset.

But Houston quarterback Dan Pastorini believes with the Oilers' dramatic upset over Dallas, the worst team in the NFL last year has shed its image of the perennial loser.

Pastorini passed for two touchdowns within the last six minutes of the fourth quarter Thursday night to bring the Oilers from 11 points behind to a 27-24 triumph and their first victory since the Oct. 1, 1972, upset of the New York Jets.

"We showed them we can come through in the clutch," Pastorini said. "We showed ourselves we aren't losers and we showed the fans that we aren't losers.

"With the new players we have now and the good attitude we have we will be winners," the 23-year-old, third-year quarterback said. "I know it."

Pastorini took the Oilers 71 yards in 10 plays for the winning touchdown. Facing a fourth and three, running back Fred Willis circled out of the backfield, shot behind weakside Dallas linebacker D.D. Lewis and took Pastorini's 24-yard strike for the winning TD with 1:12 to play.

Pastorini also threw a 26-yard touchdown pass to former Cowboy Billy Parks with 5:48 to play to pull the Oilers within striking distance. In the second quarter he threw a 15-yard scoring strike to Dave Parks.

Skip Butler kicked second quarter field goals of 25 and 42 yards for Houston.

The Oilers ran the ball well against the Cowboys but that was just frills as Pastorini hit on 17-of-31 passes for 245 yards.

For Dallas, Craig Morton fared a little better than Roger Staubach in their battle for No. 1 quarterback. Morton hit on 8-of-11 for 125 yards and Staubach was 8-of-14 for 108 with one interception.

Morton took the Cowboys 80 yards in nine plays to open the second half. He threw only twice in the drive and both were complete. On a third and six at the Oiler eight, Morton hit Otto Stowe with a touchdown pass.

Robert Newhouse, who attended the University of Houston, scored the final Cowboy TD, taking a pitch from Morton at the Oiler 25 and barrelling to the end zone.

"I'm satisfied with the way I played," Morton said. "I'm excited about this pre-season. I'm really fighting for this job —I want it."

Cowboys Coach Tom Landry wasn't that enthusiastic. "It was obvious we didn't come to play," he said. "We just played in spurts and in pro football you can't do that against anyone."

Meet records tumble in AAU swim, diving championships

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— Meet records continued to fall Thursday at the National AAU swimming and Diving Championships here, but competition was marred with a disqualification in the last of the night's six events.

After winning the men's 400-meter medley relay by three seconds, John Hencken of the winning Santa Clara, Calif., "A" team jumped into the pool to congratulate his teammate, Joe Bottom—while the final relay teams were still finishing the event.

The instant disqualification, and loss of team points, put the Gatorade "A" team of Indiana University in first place, posting a 3:56:577 time.

The time was short of a meet record by about seven-tenths of a second.

Santa Clara had finished with a time that would have broken the meet record, making four in the night's six events.

Three meet records fell—the men's and women's 200-meter freestyle and the women's 400-meter medley relay.

Shirley Babashoff held off American record-holder Keena Rothhammer in the last 50 yards to win the women's 200-meter freestyle in 2:04:635, off the world mark by about a second.

In the men's 200-meter freestyle, Jim Montgomery of the Badger Dolphins, Madison, Wis., set a meet record with a 1:53:698, a full second off Mark Spitz' 1970 AAU record.

Four swimmers representing one of the two Santa Clara Swim Club were timed 4:30:131 in the women's 400-meter medley relay, breaking the 1970 mark by 1.1 second.

Results of the other events Thursday at the Plantation Country Club included Santa Clara's Jennifer Bartz capturing the title for the women's 400-meter individual medley in 5:08:735, and Rich Colella of the Kirkland, Wash., Totem Lake Swim Club winning the men's event for that distance in the medley in 4:32:386.

Cubs end the drought with five wins in last six games

CHICAGO (UPI) —Maybe with the arrival of rain, the drought has ended for the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs, onetime leaders of the National League's Eastern Division, ended an 11-game losing streak on the just-ended home stand by beating the Western Division leading Los Angeles Dodgers. Then they would up the home stand with five wins in six games against the Dodgers and the Cincinnati Reds, running second in the West.

The final win came in the rain Thursday and Cub Manager Whitey Lockman said the "weather conditions made it a little sloppy." But he made no apologies for the two unearned runs in the 10th inning which produced a 4-3 win.

"It affected both sides in scoring runs," he said. "We won our share like this coming back early in the season and then it was just the opposite during that other thing. But in weather conditions like this, I made up my mind to play for one run as often as possible."

Throwing errors with the wet ball helped each side and Don Kessinger, who had the winning hit for the Cubs, said, "they got two runs on our mistakes but the weather made it tough for everybody. With the wet ball, a lot of things are going to happen on a day like this."

There was an intermittent heavy drizzle for the last five innings and Billy Williams' throwing error with two out in the 10th allowed Darrel Chaney to score from second on Pete Rose's grounder to put the Reds ahead 3-2. But pitcher Clay Carroll threw wild on Ron Santo's grounder to open the 10th for the Cubs, allowing Santo to reach second, and pinch-runner Matt Alexander advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Paul Popovich's single.

Randy Hundley and Jim Hickman followed with singles and Popovich, trying to score the winning run, was out at the plate on Hickman's hit. But then Kessinger came through with the winning hit.

"I thought any kind of hit would win it," he said. "I just tried to find the hole."

"I felt all along if we play our game we can beat anybody," Lockman said.

The Cubs' game, obviously, also includes winning in the mud.

Montclair qualifies 7 in Jr. Olympic Finals

LAKEWOOD — The Montclair swim team qualified seven swimmers at the AAU SPA Junior Olympic Championships this year at Lakewood Recreation.

Receiving Consolation Ribbons were David Neault, 9-10 age group, 50 meter butterfly; in the 15-17 age group Dale Cokerell, 50 and 100 meter freestyle; and Barbara Schuld, 100 meter back stroke; Mike Harbottle, 100 meter breast stroke; and Jim Woods, 200 meter freestyle.

Gabe returns to West Coast

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — Roman Gabriel, unimpressive in Philadelphia's first three pre-season games, returns to the West Coast Saturday night for the Eagles' game with the San Diego Chargers.

The former Los Angeles Rams star was given the starting nod Thursday by head coach Mike McCormack, who said he'd go with the veteran signal-caller for most of the game.

In splitting the quarterbacking duties with John Reaves during the first three games, Gabriel has been unable to lead the Eagles' offensive unit to a touchdown.

The Eagles have dropped two of three games, winning their opener 13-6 in Butfalo and dropping the last two games, 45-21 to Cincinnati and 17-3 to Pittsburgh.

The club scored its four touchdowns in those three games under the direction of second-year man Reaves.

Two Eagles' starters, guard Vern Winfield and linebacker John Sodaski, will return to action against the Chargers. Both players suffered minor injuries in the Cincinnati game and were forced to sit out the Steeler contest. McCormack said Winfield would return to the starting lineup and Sodaski would see plenty of action Saturday night.

The Eagles, however, will be without the services of veteran running back Lee Bougess. The former Louisville star suffered a depressed fracture of the cheek bone in last week's game and will be lost for at least two more weeks.

Bouggess' spot on the roster was taken by rookie running back Greg Oliver, the Eagles' 17th-round draft choice from Trinity (Tex.) College.

Rookie defensive back Ken Schlezes of Notre Dame probably will miss Saturday night's game due to a pulled hamstring.

The camper gate will open at 4 p.m. Sept. 1, and remain open until 5 a.m. the following morning to allow campers access to the massive infield.

A special camper lane will form at the intersection of Haven Avenue and G Street to channel the campers to the gate and under the race track.

Camper parking stickers are available in advance at the Speedway ticket office, or at the special gate the day before the race.

Stakes race at Del Mar to be split

DEL MAR — As has been the pattern for eight of its previous 10 renewals, Del Mar's Osunitas Stakes lured enough fillies and mares in search of their first stakes victories to cause a split in the event, and will go as the seventh and eighth races Saturday's program.

The talent-laden first division of the mile and one-sixteenth turf affair is sparked by the presence of three recent winners—Cutty, Photo-Player and Fire Spirit. With 10 entrants that half will be worth $17,780 in total purses, while the second division, featuring nine distaffers, is valued at $17,525.

Cutty, half of the Buster Millerick-trained entry with Turf-Loving Bosun's Gem, has never competed on the grass duringher brief career. Daughter of Smart Ended the 11-race win streak of Batucada her last time out with a 1.41-4-5ths mile and one-sixteenth on the dirt, notching her fifth victory in nine starts.

Apprentice Steve Valdez, Del Mar's leading rider, has the mount on Cutty, in at 115. Photoplayer, a recent wire-to-wire winner on the Grass and Bazaar Talk share top weight at 118 in the first division.

Lady Debbie (112) and Daddy's Datsun (107) enter the second half of the Osunitas fresh from victories over the Del Mar grass, using completely opposite methods.

The former, a five-year-old daughter of Lucky Debonair, uncorked a stretch charge that found her three lengths in front at the end of seven and one-half furlongs, while Daddy's Datsun owned all of the fractions in her two-length score at the same route.

Valdez, who won both halves of the split Rancho Bernardo Handicap last weekend, goes for another sweep with Daddy's Datsun, and Jerry Lambert has the call on Lady Debbie.

While Daddy's Datsun is the only three-year-old to challenge her elds in the second division, Fire Spirit and Merry Madeleine carry that distinction in the second half. Fire Spirit emerges from an impressive triumph over her peers at a mile on the main track.

Palm Lake Jr. tourney

POMONA — Twenty-four Pomona Valley youngsters competed recently in the monthly junior tournament at Palm Lake Golf Course in South Pomona.

Frank Greham fired a 68 over 18 holes to take honors in the 15-17-year old age bracket. Shooting 69 were Brent Jetton and Bill Moore, who tied for runnerup spots in that age bracket.

In the 13-14-year-old group, Gary Calvor shot 71 to win while Steve McGuire (74) and Steve Jetton (76) finished out the top three.

Ken Robinson's 71 was good for first place in the 11-12-year-old division. Runnerup was Mike Stella with a 93. John Bufch's 94 was good for third.

Robinson learned to relax

By United Press International

Bill Robinson, who almost worried himself out of baseball only two years ago, has finally become a cause of worry to the opposition.

Robinson, billed as a future superstar when he came to the New York Yankees in a trade with Atlanta in 1966, let a case of nerves almost ruin his career and seriously contemplated quitting in 1971 when he failed in an effort to make the Chicago White Sox.

He decided to give himself one more chance, however, and adopted a new approach to the game which succeeded in helping him develop his natural talents to a professional level.

Robinsons' new philospophy was simple—relax. He decided not to worry about his play in the field, and it began to pay off last year when he hit .304 with 20 homers at Eugene in the Pacific Coast League.

That resulted in his being called up to the Philadelphia Phillies for the second half of last season, and though he batted only .239 in 82 games, he delivered some timely hits.

This year he has been a terror at the plate since the opening of the season. His play reached a high point Thursday night when he belted a pair of homers to lead the Phillies to a 6-3 victory over the San Diego Padres.

Robinson, who has belted 21 homers this year—only three less than he had hit in four previous big league seasons—has played in 90 of the Phillie's 126 games so far and is batting .298 with 55 runs batted in.

"It's no secret," said Robinson, referring to his amazing turnaround. "It's just a case of relaxing and making contact. I think that is the basis of any good hitter, just to make contact, just try to meet the ball. I think I have a chipped bone in my left elbow and I can't really swing as hard as usual. Maybe that's what has helped.

"Two years ago I contemplated quitting baseball and then I decided just to go out and have some fun. If I had a bad game I didn't worry about it. I sit back and wish I had had this attitude before."

Robinson's two homers and a solo shot by Greg Luzinksi, his 23rd, enabled Jim Lonborg to notch his 11th victory in 21 decisions. It also spoiled a fine performance by second-year man Dave Roberts of the Padres, who had a double, triple and homer in a losing effort.

In the only other National League contests, Los Angeles downed New York 5-4 and Chicago edged Cincinnati in 10 innings, 4-3. California defeated Milwaukee 6-3 in the only American League game.

Joe Ferguson's third double of the game scored Willie Davis with the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning to give the Dodgers a victory over the Mets. Claude Osteen went the distance for the Dodgers to gain his 15th victory. The triumph enabled the first place Dodgers to move three games ahead of Cincinnati in the NL West.

Don Kessinger's single with two out in the 10th scored Randy Hundley and gave the Cubs their third straight triumph over the Reds. The Reds had gone ahead 3-2 in the top of the 10th but an error by reliever Clay Carroll on Ron Santo's grounder enabled the Cubs to get the tying run on base in the bottom of the inning.

A sacrifice bunt and a single by Paul Popovich tied the score and successive singles by Hundley, pinchh-itter Jim Hickman and Kessingr brought home the winning run.

Relief pitcher Chris Short walked two batters in succession to force home the tying and go-ahead runs during a five-run seventh inning and give the Angels a victory over the Brewers. Short, the third Milwaukee pitcher of the inning, walked pinch-hitter Winston Llenas to force home the tying run and walked Sandy Alomar to chase home the goahead run.

George Scott had a two-run shot for the Brewers.

Texan wins at Olympic

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UPI)—Terry Krueger, 200 ½, of San Antonio, Texas, scored a fourth round knockout over Pedro Lovell, 203 ½, of Argentina in a scheduled 10-round heavyweight fight at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday.

For the first three rounds, Lovell punched Kreuger around the ring and was in complete command. But in the fourth round, Krueger stunned the Argentine on the chin with a right and then followed with combinations. Lovell went down for the full 10 count.

Man charged with murder held insane

FRESNO (UPI) —A young Los Angeles man accused of beating a sailor to death on a Greyhound bus as it passed through Fresno June 29 was ruled insane Wednesday and ordered committed to a state hospital.

Johnny Lee Smith, 19, was charged with murder in the death of Calvin Wilson, 22, who was sitting across the aisle from Smith when he was attacked and beaten to death.

Superior Court Judge Denver Peckinpah said he concluded from psychiatric reports Smith was not able to understand the nature and quality of the charges against him.

Smith also was charged with kidnaping and violating the personal liberty of four other passengers on the bus by means of violence and menace.

The judge said that should Smith regain his sanity he will be returned from Atascadero State Hospital to stand trial in Fresno.
